GERMAN MORALE IMPAIRED

More Than 200 of the Prisoners Are Officers—Contradictory Orders Issued.

PARIS, Oct. 25.—The French forces on the Aisne today continued their successful advance, capturing the villages of Pinon and Pargny-Filain, as well as 3,000 additional prisoners. Since the beginning of the present operations, says the announcement made tonight by the War Office, more than 12,000 Germans have been captured, as well as 120 big guns and many guns of smaller calibre.

The Associated Press correspondent with the French forces telegraphs:

"The French victory of Tuesday northeast of Soissons is still being extended. Monkey Mountain, [Mont des Singes,] east of Vauxaillon Village, and the greater part of the Forest of Pinon have been occupied. The French now have Laon in sight, eight miles away, and face the Aisne Canal.

"Contradictory orders taken from prisoners show certain demoralization in the German command, and the question is asked whether another retreat is intended."

Germans Abandon More Cannon.

Our troops carried out this morning a general advance beyond the positions reached last evening, extending to the Oise-Aisne Canal. The village and forest of Pinon are in our hands, as well as the village of Pargny-Filain. South of Filain, where our patrols penetrated, we occupied the farms of St. Martin and La Chapelle Ste. Berthe.

The enemy under our pressure was compelled to abandon important material, including a score of cannon, of which several were howitzers of 150 centimeters calibre. The total number of cannon captured by us since Oct. 23 is about 120, to which may be added several hundred minenwerfer [trench mortars] and machine guns.

In the course of the day we took more than 2,000 prisoners. The number of prisoners taken since the opening of the operation exceeds 12,000, of whom more than 200 are officers.

On the right bank of the Meuse the Germans followed up their bombardment, indicated this morning, of our positions in the Chaume Wood with an attack which our fire arrested.

The text of the afternoon announcement follows:

North of the Aisne the situation in the sector between Braye-en-Laonnois and Chavignon was not changed during the night. On the front between Mont des Singes and Chavignon our troops made further progress and reached Rohay Farm. The number of prisoners taken up to last night in this region exceeds 500.

There were vigorous artillery engagements in the region of Cerny-en-Laonnois, especially in the sector of Vauxmairons. We dispersed German patrols which attempted to approach our lines east of Cerny. An attack on the Sapigneul bridgehead, which the enemy made after a violent bombardment, was repulsed.

On the left bank of the Meuse there was heavy artillery fighting in the sector of Chaume Wood. In the region of Eparges we carried out a detailed operation which enabled us to bring back prisoners.

German aviators threw down two bombs on Nancy. There were no victims.

In the course of the night of Oct. 24 twenty-five German airplanes were brought down by our pilots or fell disabled in the enemy lines.

Berlin Admits New Retirement.

BERLIN, Oct. 25, (via London.)—Referring to the fighting on the Western front, the statement from general headquarters issued this evening says:

In Flanders there were strong artillery duels, particularly East of Ypres. At Pinon and Chavignon, during the night, and in the Aliette region during the morning we withdrew our advanced troops behind the Oise-Aisne canal, giving way to French pressure.

The day report on the German operations on the Aisne front said:

At the Oise-Aisne Canal the day passed with slight enemy artillery activity. Shortly before dark the artillery duel suddenly swelled again. At several points French reconnoitring troops pressed forward, but were everywhere repulsed. The night firing was lively.

New Withdrawal of the German Lines in France Is Suggested in Reports That Reach Copenhagen

COPENHAGEN, Oct. 25.—The Germans, under pressure of the French victory on the Aisne, may endeavor to effect a general retirement to a new Hindenburg line well in the rear of their present positions. Various hints from German sources of late have indicated that the German experts, recognizing the menace, particularly to the exposed salient south-southwest of Laon, were preparing a new fortified line somewhere between Laon and their former front, to which they expected to effect an orderly retirement, akin to their Spring withdrawal, as soon as the menace became pressing.

The French attack seems to have anticipated this strategy, and the German withdrawal, if made now under the hammering of a victorious opponent, is likely to be quite a different operation from that planned.

GERMANS RETREAT 15 MILES ON RIGA

Within 12 Miles of Their Main Position and Still Falling Back Fast.

CIVILIANS QUIT KRONSTADT

PETROGRAD, Oct. 25.—The Russian war office statement today says that the Germans who have left their advanced positions on the northern front have retired about fifteen miles in the Riga region, near the Pskoff highroad and in the sector of the Little Jaegel River.

It is thought in well informed military circles that the object of the German withdrawal toward the Dvina is so to consolidate the defense of Riga as to make its recapture impossible. The enemy is shortening his Baltic front by about thirty miles, rendering useless positions of the Russian Army on which much work had been expended and necessitating the establishment of other positions closer to the enemy's new line.

Announcement is also made that the evacuation of Kronstadt by the civil population has begun. This great fortress, the most important Russian naval base, is presumably being prepared for the defense of Petrograd. The civilian population is moving from Petrograd, from which the government will soon be transferred to Moscow.

German Attempt to Land Fails.

German attempts to make another landing on the Werder Peninsula, in the region of Tomba, were frustrated yesterday by Russian artillery fire, the War Office announced today.

A dispatch from Helsingfors says there has been no naval action in the Baltic or in the Gulf of Finland during the last two days. The Russian fleet is guarding vigilantly the entrance to the Gulf of Finland.

It is not believed that Helsingfors is menaced by the German successes in the Gulf of Riga. No measures of evacuation have been taken there except that the families of officials have been advised to leave owing to the scarcity of provisions.

The War Office statement reads:

Northern front.—The enemy left his advanced positions and retired about fifteen miles in the Riga region, near the Pskoff high road and in the sector of the Little Jaegel River. On Tuesday the enemy was reported on the line of Rodenpois-Turkaln, on the Little Jaegel River.

Our vanguards have lost touch with the retiring Germans. Our scouting detachments advanced to the Meirini farm on the Little Jaegel without encountering the enemy. In their retreat the Germans destroyed all buildings and roads and blew up the bridges. New German attempts to fraternize have been observed in some sectors in the Dvinsk region.

Baltic Sea.—Enemy attempts to land a small detachment in the region of Tomba, eight miles south of Werder, were repelled by the fire of our coastguard detachments.

Beaten General a Suicide.

How the Germans were aided in the capture of Oesel and Moon Islands by sympathizers is told by M. Vishnevsky, a Commissioner sent to observe conditions there, who escaped in an open boat after the occupation. He describes the heroic efforts made by the officers to rally their men, and asserts that several of them, including General Martinoff, commander of the garrison, committed suicide when the troops surrendered.

That the Germans had knowledge of conditions on the islands is indicated by the fact that when Aviator Safonov brought down a German hydroaeroplane the dead occupant was found to have complete plans not only of existing but of proposed fortifications. On the plans places were marked for bombing.

General Martinoff's scouts frequently observed lanterns flashing from the shore, and upon investigation found a deserted cabin with a ladder leading to the roof. Squares of canvas found lying on the ground were removed, but later were replaced by a mysterious hand.

Tried Ruse to Stem Surrender.

In an effort to stem the surrender of large bodies of troops, Vishnevsky and others pretended to be sending signals to Russian ships bringing help. Instructions were issued by soldiers' committees, he says, that those wishing to surrender should gather under white flags. Commander Shisko of the Reval Battalion of Death, it is related, handed his sword to a soldier saying:

"I never will return home. Those who can may save themselves or die as I."

He then shot himself.

The Germans allowed two hours in which to surrender. The majority of the garrisons gave up their arms within that time.

Retirement to the Rodenpois-Turkaln line indicates an extensive retreat by the Germans, who are now back nearly to the Dvina River. Rodenpois is on the Great Jaegel River, about twelve miles north of the Dvina. Turkaln is on the Little Jaegel, seven miles from the Dvina.

TEUTONS EXTEND GAINS ON ISONZO

ITALIAN STAFFS TAKEN

Rome Admits Withdrawal Near Tolmino, but Claims Repulse of Other Attacks.

BERLIN, Oct. 25, (via London.)—More than 10,000 prisoners and great quantities of war material have been captured by the Austro-German forces attacking the Italians on the Isonzo front, according to an announcement from Army Headquarters. Among the prisoners are whole divisional and brigade staffs.

In the first rush of the attacking forces, strong Italian positions barring the way to the valleys of the Flitsch basin and Tolmino were overrun. Steep mountain slopes were scaled, and an Italian point of support which crowned the heights was stormed.

The Italians defended their positions desperately, and hard fighting was necessary to break their resistance at many points.

The battle is still in progress, the Austro-Germans having extended their gains of yesterday.

The official communication read:

In military comradeship the German and Austro-Hungarian troops yesterday attacked side by side in battle against their former allies. Advancing to the assault on a front of over thirty kilometers, [about nineteen miles,] after short but intense artillery preparation, our tried divisions broke through the Italian Isonzo front in the Flitsch basin and at Tolmino.

Strong enemy positions barring the valleys were overrun in the first thrust, notwithstanding stubborn defense. Our troops scaled steep mountain slopes and stormed an enemy point of support which crowned the heights. Rain rendered difficult an advance in the rugged mountain land, but its effects everywhere were overcome.

Desperate resistance by the Italians had to be broken down many times in fierce hand-to-hand engagements. The fighting is proceeding.

Up to this evening more than 10,000 prisoners, including divisional and brigade staffs, and rich booty in guns and war material had been announced.

Tonight's supplementary report from headquarters says:

On the Austro-Italian front an extension of our breach through the enemy's lines near Flitsch and Tolmino brought us further successes. The number of prisoners and the amount of booty are increasing.

Rome Admits Losses On the Isonzo.

ROME, Oct. 25.—The Austro-Germans yesterday morning broke through the advanced lines of the Italians on the Isonzo front, says today's official statement, forcing General Cadorna's troops across the Isonzo River in the neighborhood of the Santa Maria and Santa Lucia bridgeheads. A thick mist rendered the Italian barrage ineffective in opposing the advance.

Following is the official statement:

Yesterday morning, after an interval of a few hours, the enemy resumed the violent bombardment all along the front, with a specially destructive fire on that portion between the southern slopes of Monte Rombon and the northern edge of the Bainsizza Plateau, where afterward a strong infantry attack was launched.

The Narrows of Saga resisted the hostile blow; but further south, favored by a thick mist which rendered useless our barrage fire, the enemy succeeded in breaking through our advanced lines on the left bank of the Isonzo.

At the same time, powerful attacks were made to the west of Volnik, on the Bainsizza Plateau, and on the western slopes of Monte San Gabriele, but they were kept in check by our troops, which in the course of successful counterattacks captured a few hundred prisoners.

On the Carso, a violent enemy bombardment was effectively countered by our batteries.

The Austro-German offensive is apparently being developed west of the Isonzo River in the Tolmino area. Santa Lucia is on the west bank, three miles below Tolmino, which is east of the river.

Brazil Is on Verge of Declaring War; Germany Has Forced It, Says President

RIO JANEIRO, Oct. 25.—Parliament will vote tomorrow on the question of authorizing the Government to declare that a state of war exists between Germany and Brazil and also on all necessary legislation for the carrying on of war.

Dr. Wenceslao Braz, President of the republic, today sent a message to Congress stating that it was impossible to avoid noting already the state of war Germany had imposed on Brazil.

The President's message announced the torpedoing of the ship Macau in the Bay of Biscay. It said that this was the fourth Brazilian ship sunk, and that the circumstances were aggravated by the arrest of the commander of the vessel.

"It is impossible to have any doubts regarding the situation, or to escape from the state of war which Germany forces upon us," the message continued. "If the Congress agrees to such action the Government will seize the German warship in the port of Bahia and arrest the crews of German merchantmen, which we will then utilize.

"The time seems to be at hand to give legal status to the defensive position forced upon us by events, to strengthen the national defense and to shape our external policy in accord with the aggressions threatening Brazil."

The majority leader of the Chamber discussed the relations between Brazil and Germany, and counseled the Chamber to approve the Presidential message.

Brazil revoked her decree of neutrality in the war between the Entente and Germany in June. Trouble between Brazil and Germany reached a climax in April, when the Brazilian steamer Parana was torpedoed. The German Minister received his passports and anti-German riots broke out in several cities. A large number of German ships in Brazilian ports were seized.

PRESIDENT PUTS SUFFRAGE TO FORE

Time for States to Act on What Is Now a Fundamental Question.

PRAISES WOMEN'S SERVICE

And Wishes Godspeed to New York Delegation of Women Asking Support.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—President Wilson today made a notable speech in favor of woman suffrage, giving it full indorsement as an issue in every State. He redefined his position on this subject in a stronger manner than on other occasions, replying to the request of representatives of the New York State Woman Suffrage Party for support in the campaign there for an amendment of the Constitution to give the ballot to women. He asserted that this war was forcing fundamental questions to the front for solution and classed woman suffrage as one of the fundamentals.

More than fifty officers and workers for suffrage in New York State journeyed to Washington in special cars and were received by the President in the White House at 2 o'clock. Mrs. Norman de R. Whitehouse, Chairman of the New York State Woman Suffrage Party, briefly presented the purpose of their visit. In reply, the President said, speaking with great solemnity, which deeply impressed those who heard him:

"Mrs. Whitehouse and ladies:

"It is with great pleasure that I receive you. I esteem it a privilege to do so. I know the difficulties which you have been laboring under in New York State, so clearly set forth by Mrs. Whitehouse, but in my judgment those difficulties cannot be used as an excuse by the leaders of any party or by the voters of any party for neglecting the question which you are pressing upon them. Because, after all, the whole world now is witnessing a struggle between two ideals of government. It is a struggle which goes deeper and touches more of the foundations of the organized life of men than any struggle that has ever taken place before, and no settlement of the questions that lie on the surface can satisfy a situation which requires that the questions which lie underneath and at the foundation should also be settled and settled right. I am free to say that I think the question of woman suffrage is one of those questions which lie at the foundation.

"The world has witnessed a slow political reconstruction, and men have generally been obliged to be satisfied with the slowness of the process. In a sense it is wholesome that it should be slow, because then it is solid and sure. But I believe that this war is going so to quicken the convictions and the consciousness of mankind with regard to political questions that the speed of reconstruction will be greatly increased. And I believe that just because we are quickened by the questions of this war we ought to be quickened to give this question of woman suffrage our immediate consideration.

Time for States to Act.

"As one of the spokesmen of a great party, I would be doing nothing less than obeying the mandates of that party if I gave my hearty support to the question of woman suffrage which you represent, but I do not want to speak merely as one of the spokesmen of a party. I want to speak for myself, and say that it seems to me that this is the time for the States of this Union to take this action. I perhaps may be touched a little too much by the traditions of our politics, traditions which lay such questions almost entirely upon the States, but I want to see communities declare themselves quickened at this time and show the consequence of the quickening.

"I think the whole country has appreciated the way in which the women have risen to this great occasion. They not only have done what they have been asked to do, and done it with ardor and efficiency, but they have shown a power to organize for doing things of their own initiative, which is quite a different thing, and a much more difficult thing, and I think the whole country has admired the spirit and the capacity and the vision of the women of the United States.

"It is almost absurd to say that the country depends upon the women for a large part of the inspiration of its life. That is too obvious to say; but it is now depending upon the women also for suggestions of service, which have been rendered in abundance and with the distinction of originality. I, therefore, am very glad to add my voice to those which are urging the people of the great State of New York to set a great example by voting for woman suffrage. It would be a pleasure if I might utter that advice in their presence. Inasmuch as I am bound too close to my duties here to make that possible, I am glad to have the privilege to ask you to convey that message to them.

"It seems to me that this is a time of privilege. All our principles, all our hearts, all our purposes, are being searched; searched not only by our own consciences but searched by the world, and it is time for the people of the States of this country to show the world in what practical sense they have learned the lessons of democracy—that they are fighting for democracy because they believe it, and that there is

DEFIES HYLAN TO LESSEN BUDGET

READY TO BEARD TAMMANY

Mitchel Expresses His Willingness to Answer Questions 'Upon That Hostile Platform.'

Mayor Mitchel sent a letter yesterday to Judge John F. Hylan, the Tammany candidate for Mayor, inviting him to appear at the next public hearing of the Board of Estimate Budget Committee and tell just how he would reduce the budget items for next year. The Mayor said that, as Chairman of the board, which has charge of the budget, it was his desire to have it reduced as much as possible without doing injury to the public welfare, and that as Mr. Hylan has criticised the budget and promised to make vast savings, it was his duty as a public citizen to appear at the hearings and make his suggestions.

In a statement the Mayor also offered to meet Judge Hylan tonight at Tammany Hall at the Tammany ratification meeting and "answer upon that hostile platform any question that he or any other man may care to address to me." The Mayor said that he had offered to meet his opponent at any place he named and before any audience he preferred, to discuss in public anything in his record to which Judge Hylan objects, but that the latter up to the present time had preferred to "continue his campaign of generalities rather than to bring out the truth upon a public platform."

In his letter to Judge Hylan the Mayor said, after inviting Judge Hylan to make specific suggestions of budget decreases at the public hearings:

"In view of your published criticism, I wish particularly to have you appear and state whether or not you would make reductions in certain appropriations chiefly responsible for the increase in the budget.

Questions for Hylan.

"Would you reduce the $1,553,250 included for child welfare to keep fatherless children at home with their mothers?

"Would you reduce the $6,510,510 included to make payments to charitable institutions to care for orphan children and other helpless wards of the city?

"Would you reduce the appropriations of more than $6,000,000 included to increase the compensation of the underpaid laborers, street cleaners, clerks, policemen, firemen, and other city employes, so that they may be able to support themselves and their families under the present extraordinary conditions brought on by the war?

"Would you reduce the appropriation of more than $11,700,000 included for the Departments of Health, Charities, Corrections, and Bellevue and allied hospitals to provide food, nursing and medical care for the sick, and humane treatment for the inmates of city institutions?

"Would you reduce or eliminate the entirely new appropriation of $2,674,000 to provide funds for the retirement of teachers in our public schools who have devoted their lives to the education of the children of the city?

"Would you reduce the appropriation of more than $43,500,000 for the Department of Education?

"Can you suggest some way in which we can reduce the mandatory State tax item of $8,463,756?

"Can you tell the board how it can reduce the debt service item of more than $75,000,000 without repudiating its just obligations to the holders of city bonds?

"In your speech on Tuesday night you directed particular attention to the statement that $3,000,000 was added to the proposed budget at 'the eleventh hour.'

"This added appropriation contained $1,500,000 for increases to laborers, $673,000 for increases to policemen, and firemen not included in appropriations already in the budget, and other amounts for other necessary purposes.

"May I ask you to state whether or not you would reduce or eliminate the $1,500,000 additional for increases to laborers, or the additional appropriations for firemen and policemen?

"I assure you the board will be glad to receive any specific suggestions you may wish to make."

In his statement the Mayor defended the city's share in the purchase of Dreamland and Rockaway Parks. He said:

"Judge Hylan and that small part of the press which is endeavoring to turn this city government over to Hearst and Murphy have adopted the plan of making general and unproved charges against me as their best means of defense against the facts which I have proved against Judge Hylan.

"In order to clear the air of these generalities, I offered to meet Judge Hylan at any place he named and before any audience he preferred, to discuss in public anything in my record to which Judge Hylan or his backers take exception. That offer has been open for Judge Hylan's acceptance every moment of the last ten days, but Judge Hylan has preferred to continue his campaign of generalities rather than to bring out the truth upon a public platform.

"My offer is still open, and if Judge Hylan is willing to bring out the facts, will meet him tomorrow night at his own meeting in Tammany Hall and answer upon that hostile platform any question that he or any other man may care to address to me."

LIBERTY LOAN PASSES 3½ BILLION MARK; VICTORY IS IN SIGHT, M'ADOO ASSERTS; TOTAL IN THIS DISTRICT $1,075,000,000

Progress of the Liberty Loan Campaign As Shown by Federal Reserve Districts

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—Official returns from the Federal Reserve Banks tonight, bringing all reports down to the close of business last night, show a total of $2,025,543,300. The unofficial total is $3,180,000,000. The official and unofficial figures by districts are as follows:

CALL ON CLARK TO NAME 'BANKING RING'

Financiers Want Inquiry Into Speaker's Charge of Loan Conspiracy.

MAY PROTEST TO PRESIDENT

Those New York bankers and business men who have contributed their time and money to the first and second Liberty Loans without stint want Champ Clark, Speaker of the House of Representatives, to give to the public or to the Federal authorities all of the information he has about the "ring of financiers" who, according to the Speaker's reported statement in Oklahoma City yesterday, are attempting to make the Second Liberty Loan a partial failure so that the rate of interest on the next loan will be raised above 4 per cent.

The position taken was that it was Mr. Clark's patriotic duty to give the authorities and bankers here an opportunity to expose the alleged "ring" or to prove that it did not exist. It was universally asserted that the Speaker of the House of Representatives should not make such a general statement as that attributed to him and then attempt to let the matter rest with the result of persuading many uninformed and careless minds throughout the country that there was a "ring" of traitorous financiers in New York who were permitted to conspire against the Government with impunity.

Benjamin Strong, Governor of the Federal Reserve Bank and Chairman of the Liberty Loan Committee of the Second Federal Reserve District, which includes New York, took the first step in an effort to get to the bottom of the Speaker's charge by asking him in a telegram whether he was correctly quoted "either literally or in substance." If the Speaker reaffirms the statement reported from Oklahoma City, action looking to a thorough investigation will follow immediately. Whether the local Federal authorities will take any action as a result of the Speaker's charge could not be learned yesterday.

Protest to the President.

In any event, unless it is established that the Speaker did not make the statements for which he was quoted, New York bankers will send to President Wilson a protest against Mr. Clark's sweeping, but not specific, accusations. The protest, however, will not be intended as a defense. Local bankers, in general, took the position that the Speaker's accusation was so obviously absurd as to require no defense from them. The record of the Second Federal Reserve District in subscribing about $1,200,000,000 to the first Liberty Loan with 3½ per cent interest and already more than $1,000,000,000 to the second loan with 4 per cent. interest, was pointed to as sufficient refutation of what the Speaker was reported to have said. The fact that at least 75 per cent. of each of these subscriptions came from the City of New York was pointed out. The evidence that bankers and financiers of New York had responded enthusiastically to both the first and second calls for service and money was considered convincing against any such general and anonymous charge as that repeated, according to report, by Speaker Clark.

The Liberty Loan Committee of the Second Federal Reserve District yesterday issued the following statement:

"The Liberty Loan Committee of New York is unwilling to credit the report in the morning papers in which the Speaker of the House, Champ Clark, a responsible officer of the Government, was quoted as stating in Oklahoma City that the New York financiers are traitors. Telegrams have accordingly been sent him, addressed to Washington, Oklahoma City, and his home, Bowling Green, Mo., as follows:

Hon. Champ Clark, Oklahoma City, Okla.

THE NEW YORK TIMES this morning reports that in the interview at Oklahoma City yesterday you stated that a ring of New York financiers is hampering the Government in its Liberty Loan campaign, endeavoring to make it a partial failure so that the next loan will bear a higher rate of interest. You are further quoted as stating, 'These men are the spiritual descendants of the ring that operated in just such an emergency during the civil war, and by their methods forced the price of war bonds to 40 and 50, and one day to 39. It is the duty of every citizen to make this loan a success in spite of these

$140,000,000 ADDED TO LOAN SALE HERE

EXPECT MAXIMUM QUOTA

City Bank Takes $33,000,000 Additional, Making Total Subscription $85,000,000.

The campaign for Liberty Loan subscriptions which has been slowly but surely gaining in momentum this week broke all previous records yesterday, when applications amounting to $140,000,000 were reported. This brought the total for the New York Federal Reserve District up to $1,075,000,000, or only $425,000,000 short of the billion and a half aimed for, and which it is now practically assured will be obtained before the banks close tomorrow night. Yesterday's picturesque parade and pageant greatly stimulated enthusiasm for America's $3,000,000,000 war loan, and it is expected that today and tomorrow the banks will be overwhelmed by the rush of subscriptions from persons whose interest in the country's financial needs has just been aroused, and from those who habitually defer doing what they want to do until the very last minute.

For the convenience of the public all banks in this district have been requested to keep open tonight and tomorrow night. Reports from local and out-of-town banks received yesterday indicated that many institutions had decided not to fix any hour for closing, but to remain open as late as necessary—until everybody in line has been attended to. According to a ruling made by the Secretary of the Treasury, all subscriptions to the loan must be filed with banks and trust companies by tomorrow night, but these institutions have until next Thursday to transmit the applications to the Federal Reserve Bank of New York, accompanied by initial payments of at least 2 per cent. Bankers were confident last night that this district would be successful in reaching the $1,500,000,000 mark which they have set for themselves. Today's returns will probably be between $200,000,000 and $300,000,000, and tomorrow's approximately as large.

Yesterday's Big Subscriptions.

Among the big subscriptions reported yesterday were: $33,000,000 by the National City Bank, for itself and clients; $10,000,000 by the First National Bank, $4,268,300 by the Lehigh and Wilkes-Barre Coal Company, $2,000,000 by the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fé Railway Company, and $1,000,000 each by George F. Baker and Daniel G. Reid. Charles H. Sabin filed an application for $150,000, Mrs. Charles H. Sabin for $100,000, Judge Julius M. Mayer and John B. Stanchfield for $50,000 each, and James A. Farrell for $25,000.

The first dealings in the new 4 per cent. Liberty Loan bonds occurred on the Curb yesterday, when sales of $100,000 were reported at par. The market was the outgrowth of the appearance in the Street of small denomination bonds bought over the counter for cash, and in order to limit transactions to sales for cash of bonds actually in the possession of the seller the Curb Association quickly made a special ruling for trading in the new Government 4s. The ruling provided that there should be dealings only in bonds which could be delivered in the usual way on the day following the transaction. This prevented short sales of the sort which sent the Liberty 3½ per cent. bonds below par on June 15—the day they were admitted to trading on the Stock Exchange.

List of New Applications.

5 BILLION NATION'S GOAL

'NATION ROUSED'—McADOO

TELLS OF ARMY'S FERVOR

Reports from South, West, and Middle West Bring Cheer to the Campaigners.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—Liberty Loan totals flashed past the $3,000,000,000 mark today and headed for the $5,000,000,000 maximum, with every indication that by continuation of the relentless campaign the latter figure would be realized when the books close Saturday.

Although unofficial estimates from the twelve Federal Reserve districts do not total the figure, officials tonight expressed the conviction that subscriptions were past the $3,500,000,000 mark.

"Victory for the second Liberty Loan is in sight," Secretary McAdoo announced tonight upon his return home from a transcontinental tour in behalf of the loan; "but it has not yet been achieved."

Compiled from estimates submitted by local committees and Federal Reserve Bank headquarters, the total unofficial estimate of subscriptions, as announced tonight by the Treasury, was $3,180,000,000. This sum is regarded by many officials as ultra-conservative.

Official reports of subscriptions turned into the Federal Reserve Banks increased approximately $400,000,000 over night and totalled, with San Francisco's work of yesterday unrecorded, $2,025,543,300.

"The returns which make this total of estimated subscriptions are unofficial and may be increased," says the Treasury Department's statement, "but the most diligent labor between now and Saturday night, the close of the drive, is necessary and is being urged upon all Liberty Loan committees throughout the country that a great over-subscription may be reported."

$5,000,000,000 the Goal Now.

Districts estimated to have passed their minimum totals are Boston, New York, Philadelphia, Cleveland, Richmond, Chicago, St. Louis, and Kansas City. Atlanta, Minneapolis, San Francisco, and Dallas all are believed to be near their minimum.

In every district efforts are being made to reach the high mark. Every committee understands that the loan already is a success by the $3,000,000,000 mark having been passed, but they desire to make it the biggest kind of a success by going still higher.

The erroneous impression prevails in many sections that no oversubscription will be accepted. Subscriptions for 50 per cent. of the amount subscribed above $3,000,000,000 will be accepted, Secretary McAdoo has announced. Hence, if $5,000,000,000 were subscribed, $4,000,000,000 worth of bonds would be issued and the work of soliciting an additional $1,000,000,000 during the next loan campaign would be saved.

The New York committee was made happy today when that district's total cleared the $1,000,000,000 mark by $75,000,000. There is every reason to believe, reports from there said tonight, that the district will achieve its maximum mark of 1,500,000,000.

The results in the Atlanta and Dallas districts today gave great encouragement. The spurt started in both of them yesterday. Liberty Day continues. Both declared tonight that they surely would reach their minimum quotas. Were it not for drought in Texas, Dallas insisted, it would reach the maximum figure.

Reports from San Francisco districts were very encouraging. The same enthusiasm that prevailed there when Secretary McAdoo made his speech tour down the coast continued. California is contributing heavily in every section, particularly San Francisco, and Washington, Oregon, Arizona, Nevada, Idaho, and Utah are finishing strong. San Francisco, filled with vim, is keeping its banks open evenings to take subscriptions. Washington says it "certainly will augment totals daily." San Diego has over-subscribed its allotment. Oregon, $2,000,000 short of its minimum allotment, says it will easily make the low mark. Arizona has its minimum allotment and still is campaigning.

Nevada has more than $2,000,000 subscribed. Idaho is 50 per cent. ahead of its minimum quota.

Big Sales in East.

Cleveland, Philadelphia, Boston and Richmond districts are having consistent sales. All are shooting at the maximum mark. In Boston today eighty out of eighty-five Chinese asked to subscribe did so. The other three showed first Liberty Loan bonds and declared they would buy more if they were able.

Chicago, far in excess of its total for the first loan campaign, is determinedly striving for the maximum mark. Banks there will remain open Saturday night, and savings banks are putting on extra help to handle loan business.

"Quiet optimism prevails, but everybody realizes tremendous efforts must be made if we are to attain maximum goal" a message from there said.

In Minneapolis the committee still is striving to arrive at the Liberty Day total. The result was large, but thus far only estimates are being made on it. The City of Minneapolis alone has subscribed more than $25,000,000.

"We are going straight toward our maximum goal of $200,000,000," St. Louis declared after passing its minimum mark. Women and Boy Scouts are doing wonderful work there, as they are in many other cities.

Kansas City had little to report. Enormous sales were made in all the States in this district Liberty Day, however, and, like others, they have not been compiled.

"Every Willing Dollar In."

On his return to the capital tonight, Secretary McAdoo said. "Every willing dollar has come forward; now we want the reluctant dollars. They must come forward and surrender before Oct. 27."

Secretary McAdoo said that everywhere he went in the forty-two States that he visited he was received with attentive and, for the most part, enthusiastic gatherings of the people. He spoke in several army camps and said he enjoyed the reception the boys gave him more, perhaps, than any other. The men were always abounding in enthusiasm and showed a lively interest in the loan, subscribing generously from their limited pay and saying they wanted to get at the real business of fighting.

"So far as America is concerned the second great battle in our war with the Kaiser is represented by the second Liberty Loan," said Mr. McAdoo. "This battle will end within two days. Will it be a victory for freedom and democracy, or will it be a victory for the Kaiser and autocracy? It is for the American people to answer.

"For twenty-five days the patriotic army of Liberty Loan workers and loyal citizens of this great Republic have been vigorously bombarding the strongholds of the American dollar. Every willing dollar has come forward and joined the ranks of the patriots. Let every reluctant dollar come forward and surrender before Oct. 27.

"Now is the time to go over the top. If there are any trenches in America manned by the forces of indifference, greed, or treason, they are backed by the Kaiser and his hosts of autocracy and militarism. We must smash those trenches in this Liberty Loan campaign and destroy all that is within them so that there may be no obstacle in the way of greater victories for succeeding Liberty Loans.

"America has it within her power to win a swift and enduring victory, a victory which will open the way for the resistless sweep of America's armies and navies and restore the rule of justice and liberty throughout the world. America awake and militant can win this war; apathetic America will be defeated by the Kaiser.

Nation's Soul in the War.

"I have visited forty-two of the forty-eight States of the Union in the First and Second Liberty Loan campaigns. I have addressed many thousands of America's citizens in every section of the country, and among them approximately 200,000 of our valiant soldiers now training for active service.

"There is no question that the heart and soul of America are in this war. Patriotism is regnant everywhere. I was told that the people were indifferent and lukewarm in some places, but I found that it was only necessary to explain to them the causes of the war and the necessity for the measures taken to obtain their wholehearted support.

"The spirit of our soldiers is wonderful. They are eager to get upon the battle fronts, eager for the opportunity to vindicate the rights and ideals of America. They are willing not only to give their lives, if need be, but they are lending their money to the limit of their ability on the bonds of their Government. They have subscribed out of their meagre pay more per capita to the second Liberty Loan than the civil population. They now wait expectantly to see whether the civilian population is going to back them up with the needed equipment, arms and ammunition, which, combined with their valor, will make victory against Kaiserism and militarism certain. The results of the next two days of the Liberty Loan campaign will give them their answer.

"Victory for the second Liberty Loan is in sight, but it has not yet been achieved. Subscriptions can no longer be put off until tomorrow. During the two remaining days every Liberty Loan Committee, every patriotic man, woman, and child, in fact, every citizen of America must join in a smashing drive to achieve the goal.

Picture of Days to Come.

"I saw a full-page Liberty Loan advertisement in a Nashville paper the other day. It was striking and significant. It depicted a scene a few years after the close of this war. A man was sitting with bowed head. His little child, upon his knee, was asking him:

"'Father, didn't you even buy a Liberty bond to help our brave soldiers during our great war with the Kaiser?'

"The man could not answer the question. He could not look his child in the face. That least service of patriotism he had not performed. He had not enough red blood in him to lend even a few of his dollars, gotten out of the prosperity and security created by the valor of our soldiers, to enable his Government to support its gallant sons upon the battlefield.

"In the days to come after this horrible war is over and you are asked by your children if you bought a Liberty bond will you be unable to answer, or, if you answer, will you have to confess that you did not do even that much for the gallant American soldiers and sailors who fought and died that your life, liberty, and prosperity might be saved? I hope that when the children of America put that question to their fathers in the future no man will be unable to look them in the face and say that he lent some of his money to help save America and make the world safe for democracy."

It developed tonight that the full total of the country's subscriptions might not become known definitely before Nov. 1, the date designated by the Treasury as the final limit for banks to have all subscriptions in the hands of the Federal Reserve Banks.

Five hundred National Army men from Camp Lee, Petersburg, Va., passed through Washington tonight on a special train, bound for their homes in Pennsylvania, seeking subscriptions to the loan. Three hundred others left the camp at the same time to scatter to their homes in Virginia and West Virginia on the same mission.

The young soldiers are all volunteers in their task and are paying their own expenses for a drive among the home folks during the last two days of the campaign. Most of them are privates. They are burning with enthusiasm and expect to go back with hundreds of thousands in subscriptions.

BOSTON PASSES MAXIMUM.

Indications Are That Whole of New England District Will Reach It.

BOSTON, Oct. 25.—Reports received today too late for the daily official tabulation made it certain that the Boston Federal Reserve District had gone beyond its minimum allotment of $300,000,000 in the Liberty Loan campaign, and gave officials grounds for renewed hope of reaching the half-billion dollar maximum by Saturday.

Official figures, which included only subscriptions up to Wednesday night, placed the total at $290,690,000. Members of the committee expressed the opinion that tomorrow's report would show that the district already had passed the total amount subscribed in the first loan, when New Englanders bought $330,585,000 worth of bonds. The number of individual subscribers for the second issue also is expected to pass that of the first, in which 970,000 had a part. Returns indicate that not fewer than 800,000 persons thus far have taken bonds of the second issue. This city also made a record today by exceeding its maximum of $112,000,000. It lacked only $13,000,000 of the maximum when the official figures were given out and according to unofficial reports this amount, which is considerably less than the recent daily average, will be shown to have been more than taken up today.

20,000 MARCHERS IN LOAN PAGEANT

ACCLAIM THE BRITISH TANK

Italians from the Air Conduct Sentimental Bombardment—Banners Tell of Work Done.

The postponed Liberty Day parade, which flowed up Fifth Avenue all afternoon yesterday, succeeded in presenting to the people of New York not only a multitude of inspiring examples and exhortations for the purchase of Liberty bonds, but also a reasonably complete exhibit of the materials of modern war.

A British tank, Italian airplanes, American armored motor cars, ambulances, ice plants for field hospitals, transport wagons, and a score of floats illustrating industrial activities essential to the success of armies, reinforced the direct appeal of several thousand soldiers and sailors, every one an owner of a Liberty bond, who marched in the procession. And the parade ended in the sheep meadow in Central Park, where Secretary of the Navy Josephus Daniels took formal possession of a German submarine mine layer captured by the British Navy and turned over to America to boost the Liberty Loan campaign.

The 20,000 or more persons who marched in the parade ranged in age from 5 years to nearly 70, and all of the adults owned bonds. Banners carried in the parade presented mottoes stimulating the contributions of the onlookers.

The first of these, and one of the most vigorously cheered, was carried by sailors from the Brooklyn Navy Yard. "We are going across and coming across," it said. "Are you going or coming?" An ambulance, camouflaged with green and brown paint and a wreath of boughs, bore the sign, "If this ambulance could talk, it would sell a million bonds." The Women's Naval Service League had a banner, "Bonds or bondage." The Stationers' and Printers' float said, "Brunettes and blondes buy Liberty bonds." And in the building trades employers' division every trade had a motto suited to its own business and telling what Liberty bonds would do. Some of them were:

Marble men, "Build a monument to democracy; electrical contractors, "Put out the light in Germany"; hoisting division, "Put the boys over the top"; carpenters, "Drive a nail in the Kaiser's coffin"; parquet flooring, "Floor the enemy"; painters and decorators, "Put the finishing touches on Germany"; lighting fixtures, "Keep freedom's lights burning"; composition roofers, "Give the Kaiser a coat of tar"; master steamfitters, "Make it hot for Germany."

British Tank the Favorite.

All of this stirred plentiful enthusiasm in the crowds which thronged the sidewalks from Washington Arch to the Plaza, who collected in thousands around the reviewing stand in Madison Square and gathered in dense masses around the captured submarine in the park. And the biggest favorite of the whole parade was the British tank Britannia, which had caterpillared down from the foot of West Fifty-sixth Street to Madison Square in the morning and joined the parade at that point.

The big land battleship swung into line as the last of the sailors passed up the avenue and followed with the parade up to the Sheep Meadow in Central Park. With half a dozen machine guns protruding from its armored sides and a thread of gasoline smoke following it up the avenue, it was cheered all the way. Just behind it were the armored motor cars of the First Armored Motor Battery, N. G., N. Y., made for service in open country, but very menacing, nevertheless.

Italy, too, contributed her share to the spectacle. The big Caproni biplane and the little Pomilio scout, which flew up from Norfolk early in the week, soared over the city dropping paper bombs inscribed with the warning: "A Liberty bond in your home will keep German bombs out of your home." The Caproni twice flew the length of Fifth Avenue, not more than 600 feet above the ground, dropping cardboard leaflets on the very heads of the marchers. On its return trip it made a half circle around the top of the Metropolitan Tower. General Emilio Guglielmotti, Italian Military Attaché, and an American army photographer were among the passengers in this machine, piloted by Lieutenant Resnati. Major Butts, U. S. A., was a passenger with Lieutenant Baldioli in the scout. After amusing the parade crowds the machines circled over the financial district and then visited the skies above Bellevue Hospital before returning to Mineola.

Thirty-seven Bands in Line.

Thirty-seven bands furnished music in the parade, and nearly every one of them gave most of its attention to "Over There" and "Where Do We Go From Here?" The first of these, at the very head of the procession, was the hundred-piece organization from the Bethlehem Steel Works conducted by Andrew M. Weingartner. Others which received especially enthusiastic welcomes from the crowds were the musicians from the land battleship Recruit in Union Square, the Second Avenue Railway Band, in bright blue; a killed band of pipers, leading the Rotary Club, every one of them wearing the Liberty Bond button; the Letter Carriers' Band, the Subway Band, in white; the Metropolitan Life Band, in blue and gold, heading thousands of employes of that organization, and the Police Band, the only representatives of the department save for the mounted men at the head and tail and a dozen chosen bearers of a float who could be spared for a parade which called out 1,200 of their number, under Inspector Dillon, to guard the line of march.

Most of the business organization had flags dotted over with stars for their employes who had gone to war, but these drew less applause than the flags borne by women or elderly men that tallied the young men gone from the home. A woman in the Stage Woman's War Relief unit had three stars on her flag, and one in the League of Catholic Women had four.

The parade started on the stroke of 2 from Washington Square, around which the floats and marching bodies had assembled. At its head walked the Grand Marshal, Major Lorillard Spencer, followed by Joseph Hartigan, his assistant.

Next came the Liberty Loan Committee, walking in double rank, with Benjamin Strong, Governor of the Federal Reserve Bank, and J. P. Morgan among them. They were followed by the staff of the Liberty Loan Committee offices, including 250 girls in white aprons, with the name of the organization printed in red on banners which they carried.

Then came the Bethlehem Band, and after it Brig. Gen. Ell D. Hoyle, Commander of the Department of the East, and detachments of regular infantry, some wearing gloves and deep blue jackets knitted by women working for the comfort organizations.

Behind the soldiers was Rear Admiral Nathaniel R. Usher, Commandant of the Brooklyn Navy Yard, and Rear Admiral Albert Gleaves, followed by 1,500 sailors from the navy yard and battleships now near this port. The sailors from each ship carried a banner telling how much they had contributed to the Liberty Loan, and a battleship which has won many efficiency pennants had that fact prominently displayed.

Major Spencer, Mr. Strong, General Hoyle, and Admirals Gleaves and Usher fell out as they reached the reviewing stand around the Worth Monument at Madison Square and joined the official group, which included General Daniel Appleton, Rear Admiral Johns, and Dr. William T. Manning.

Mayor Detained at Flag Raising.

Mayor Mitchel was to have reviewed the procession, but he was detained at a flag raising at the Battery until almost 4 o'clock, at which time he was expected at the renaming of the submarine in Central Park. In the middle of the parade Judge Hylan, Charles L. Craig, and Alfred E. Smith, Democratic nominees, marched abreast, and Judge Hylan took off his hat as he passed the stand and looked toward it inquiringly.

The British tank was followed by the American armored cars. Then came a series of floats depicting the support given by industry to the armed forces. One float had imitation containers of high explosives with a papier-mache nitrator, used in making some of them. The Erie Railroad sent a wooden locomotive whose bell clanged merrily. The coal trade float showed half a dozen miners at work. The ice trade displayed an ice plant on wheels for a field hospital. The Marine Equipment Company had a lifeboat manned with sailors; on the General Vehicle Company's float an airplane propeller revolved slowly, the Brewers' Board of Trade had a big wooden howitzer, which an artillerist periodically loaded and unloaded, and the Aero Club displayed, behind a representation of the Treasury Building, a fleet of airplanes painted against a cloudy sky with the legend: "Keep the eyes of the army open. On to Berlin."

The New York Japanese Association contributed a float of brilliant colors, whose principal detail was a rising sun with red rays tipped with gold. The National Surgical Dressings Committee presented a float laden with nurses in white costumes, relieved only by a band of pale blue on their white woolen scarfs.

The German language newspapers sent a float in honor of Carl Schurz, Baron de Kalb, Herkimer, and other illustrious Americans of German birth, with the motto: "These men pledged their lives to liberty and democracy. We, too, pledge our all."

There was much applause for the trim khaki uniforms and smart military bearing of the National League for Women's Service. The Seventh Regiment band led a delegation of the Woman's Suffrage Party, and these were followed by the Three Arts Club, the Women's University Club, the Daughters of America in uniform of blue or of khaki with bright red scarfs, and other women's organizations.

Nearly every organization in the parade had a sign showing how much it had contributed to the purchase of bonds, but perhaps most applause was won by the banner declaring that "Men Learning English in Evening School 25 Bought $16,000."

Still Marching at Dark.

It was nearly 5:30 when the last of the procession passed Madison Square, and darkness had already fallen. But the head of the procession, long before that had reached the Sheep Meadows, where the captured German submarine U-C-5 stood ready to be turned over to the United States and renamed U-Buy-a-Bond. By the time Secretary of the Navy Daniels, Mayor Mitchel, and the rest of the party arrived at 4 o'clock thousands were packed about the submarine, and batteries of massed bands led the crowd in "The Star-Spangled Banner" as Mrs. Guy Emerson broke a bottle of American champagne over the bow of the boat and renamed her. Rita Jolivet, the actress, slowly lowered the German naval ensign which floated from the little mast of the submarine and raised the Stars and Stripes while Mrs. George H. Whigham hauled the Union Jack to a place beside it. The crowd cheered wildly at this, and again when a sailor sat down before the conning tower and painted out the German name.

This, however, was only a preliminary to the formal exercises, which opened with an invocation by the Rev. Dr. Ernest M. Stires, rector of St. Thomas's, who asked for complete victory for the sake of liberty and humanity, and for the coming of a righteous and lasting peace.

Benjamin Strong, Chairman of the Liberty Loan Committee, told the audience that they had Mayor Mitchel with them, but not his voice. The Mayor, however, was able to make the audience understand when he asked for a subscription of five billions "in order that Germany may know that the people of this country, despite the individual voice of sedition that may be raised here and there are unitedly behind the Government."

After the speeches the guests explored the interior of the submarine while her wireless communicated with naval stations about the city. Then she was thrown open to the public, and well into the evening thousands were still waiting to enter.

Liberty Bell in Philadelphia Parade.

FLIERS MAKE QUICK RETURN.

Special to The New York Times.

MINEOLA, L. I., Oct. 25.—The great passenger carrying Caproni biplane, piloted by Captain Antonio Resnati, accompanied by the Sia scout, which spent the afternoon circling over New York in aid of the Liberty Loan, arrived safely at the flying field here at 5:30 this evening.

The Pomilio machine, piloted by Lieutenant Baldioli, which had Major J. W. Butt, U. S. A., for a passenger, landed at Governors Island at 5:04, but took to the air later and covered the distance of twenty-three miles to the aviation field here in ten minutes. Major Butt took the time with a stop watch.

UPTON'S TOTAL $1,425,000.

Camp Expected to Pass a Million and a Half Today.

Special to The New York Times.

CAMP UPTON, YAPHANK, L. I., Oct. 25.—With $1,425,000 in subscriptions for the second Liberty Loan received today, the million and a half mark is expected to be passed tomorrow, as some regiments are holding out their subscriptions until the last few hours of the campaign. There has been particularly keen competition between infantry regiments whose enlisted strengths are nearly equal. Yesterday the Three Hundred and Eighth Infantry had subscribed $184,000, but today brought its figures up to $208,800. Subscriptions in other infantry regiments, reported today, are: Three Hundred and Fifth Infantry, $177,000; Three Hundred and Sixth Infantry, $184,000; Three Hundred and Seventh Infantry, $101,900. The leading artillery regiment today was the Three Hundred and Sixth Heavy Field Artillery, with $102,700 subscribed.

$2,000,000 SOLD IN MANILA.

American and Filipino Women Helped Bond Sales on Liberty Day.

MANILLA, Wednesday, Oct. 24.—A military parade was held in Manila today, and bond booths, in which American and Filipino women worked side by side, achieved great success. Total subscriptions are now $2,000,000 and will probably reach $2,500,000. Soldiers and officers in the Philippines and in China have subscribed $625,000.

Panama's President Buys Bonds.

Porto Rico Subscribes $1,000,000.

SAN JUAN, P. R., Oct. 25.—Liberty Loan subscriptions in Porto Rico today reached $1,000,000.

Electric Workers Take $1,400,000.

Mayor Thompson Subscribes $5,000

CHICAGO, Oct. 25.—Mayor William H. Thompson, it was announced today, has subscribed for $5,000 in Liberty bonds.

CALL ON CLARK TO NAME 'BANKING RING'

New York traitors. I positively refuse to divulge the source from which I obtained the information upon which I make this accusation." Please telegraph advising me whether you are correctly quoted as above, either literally or in substance.

BENJAMIN STRONG,
Chairman Liberty Loan Committee, Second Federal Reserve District, New York City.

Francis L. Hine, President of the First National Bank, which subscribed to a larger amount of the first Liberty Loan than any other institution in the country, said:

Calls for Statement from McAdoo.

"If the Speaker of the House was correctly reported in today's TIMES, a statement in relation thereto by the Secretary of the Treasury, who knows all the facts, would seem to be called for."

Mr. Hine's two sons are engaged in the war—one is in France and the other in military service in this country.

"If Mr. Clark made any such statement, which I find it difficult to believe," said J. Pierpont Morgan, "I think its valuelessness is shown by the fact that this district stands first, both in amount and percentage of its allotment in subscriptions."

"The statement attributed to the Speaker of the House of Representatives is so false and mischievous," said Alexander J. Hemphill, Chairman of the Board of Directors of the Guaranty Trust Company, "that I will not believe until compelled that he made it. But if he did make it, he should certainly be compelled to name the men he accuses."

"My only comment is, that the facts speak for themselves," said L. G. Kaufman, President of the Chatham and Phenix National Bank, after calling attention to the published figures of subscriptions of the big New York banking houses.

Lewis L. Clark, President of the American Exchange National, immediately after reading the published report of Speaker Clark's remarks, called a meeting of the bank's officers and drew up the following statement:

"We protest the statement credited to the Hon. Champ Clark, as published today. Bankers in New York and elsewhere are giving whole-hearted support to the Liberty Loan. Such statements as credited to him are not only unfair but militate against the maximum success of the Liberty Loan issue."

Mr. Clark plans to obtain the signatures of as many New York bank Presidents as possible to this statement and send it in the form of a telegram to President Wilson.

All Know What New York Has Done.

"The statement seems incomprehensible," said E. H. Outerbridge, President of the Chamber of Commerce, "if Mr. Clark was in his sober senses. Every one in New York knows that banks, bankers, and financiers generally have been giving themselves up completely to the endeavor to make the second Liberty Loan a great success, and in the face of tremendous obstacles have not counted any personal sacrifice too great to advance the campaign, to stimulate interest, and to make provisions by which even the poorest could subscribe."

Francis G. Caffey, the United States District Attorney in New York, declined to make any statement concerning Speaker Clark's charge. In reply to each of the following questions he said that he had nothing to say:

"Have you taken any action as a result of Speaker Clark's reported charge that a ring of financiers or bankers had conspired to make a partial failure of the Liberty Loan?"

"Does not the Speaker's statement, as reported, imply the existence here of a criminal conspiracy against the Government's prosecution of the war?"

"While your office must ignore many sensational accusations made by more or less irresponsible and unknown persons, does not the fact that the Speaker of the House of Representatives and one of the most prominent public men in the country has accused an unidentified 'ring of conspirators' of attempting to hamper the United States Government in its prosecution of the war justify you in seeking further information from Mr. Clark, at least the name of the unidentified informant to whom he referred?"

"Have you addressed any communication to Speaker Clark or do you intend to do so?"

"Have you made any effort to ascertain whether the Speaker was correctly quoted in the published account of his statement?"

"Will you refer the matter to the Federal Grand Jury?"

"Have you asked the Secret Service to investigate Speaker Clark's statement or have you learned whether it is making an investigation?"

"Should the statement attributed to Speaker Clark be officially ignored by your office?"

"If the statement is true should not the guilty persons be exposed and brought to justice, and if it is not true should not this fact be established so that the country may be reassured about the universal loyalty of New York's financiers and bankers?"

FACTS DON'T BACK CLARK.

Officials Say Loan Figures Here Refute Speaker's Statement.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—Officials connected with the Liberty Loan sale were surprised by the startling statement which Speaker Clark is reported to have made in Oklahoma City, to the effect that a "ring" of New York financiers is hampering the Government in the negotiating of the present Liberty Loan. The statement reported to him is not justified by the facts, they said, as New York financiers are doing their very best to make the loan a success.

One of the officials said that if Speaker Clark had any such evidence it should be presented to the Department of Justice and the "ring" should be proceeded against on treason charges. No one in Washington accepted the statement seriously, as Mr. Clark made a similar one on the floor some months ago during the debate on the bill authorizing this loan. He then said that Wall Street financiers would not do their best to make the loan a success and that it would not be raised. He explained then that these financiers wanted a higher rate of interest and would do their utmost to discourage buying of the present loan.

Attorney General Gregory was not here tonight. One of his assistants to whose attention Mr. Clark's conspiracy charges was called said:

"I do not believe that we will ask Mr. Clark to present to us his evidence. As an officer of the Government and a responsible member of Congress it is his duty to lay it before the Department of Justice. He can be assured that there would be brought action and prosecution."

WHAT CHAMP CLARK SAID.

"A Ring of New York Men" Had Hoped to Hamper the Loan.

Special to The New York Times.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., Oct. 25.—What Speaker Champ Clark said in an interview here yesterday was:

"A ring of New York men, spiritual descendants of the same men who in civil war times worked against Government bonds, running the price down to 50 and 40, and on one day to 39, have hoped that by their influence they would be able to hamper the success of the second Liberty Loan."

The reporter wanted to know what men were included in the "ring" of which Mr. Clark spoke, but obtained no reply.

At the Chamber of Commerce dinner Mr. Clark said:

"Gamblers are trying to hurt the second Liberty Loan campaign, hoping it will be a failure in order that they may obtain a higher rate of interest. I serve notice on these men, however, that they will be unsuccessful, for if the bonds at 4 per cent. are not sold Congress will, in December, carry on the war by direct taxation."

Subscribes After Arrest.

MANILLA, Iowa, Oct. 25.—John Brus, a resident of Aspinwall, who was arrested yesterday because of his refusal to permit the use of an assembly hall, owned by him, for a Liberty Loan campaign, pleaded with German friends today to buy Liberty bonds, and bought $500 worth himself.

The Stars and Stripes are floating over homes and business houses in Aspinwall today for the first time in the memory of the oldest inhabitant.

WILSON MAY RESTRICT OUTPUT OF LUXURIES

Considers Limiting Manufacture of Articles Not Essential to the War.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—Restriction of production of commodities not essential to the war is under serious consideration by President Wilson, and action may be taken soon. Although there has been no intimation of the exact nature of any steps contemplated by the President, two courses have been generally discussed.

Under one the War Industries Board would enter into voluntary agreements with specific manufacturers of non-essentials to reduce their output gradually. Under the other, the President would issue a general request to manufacturers, and rely on their patriotism to follow the suggestion.

The power behind both plans would be the Government's authority to hold up coal shipments to recalcitrant producers and to control transportation through the priority director of the War Industries Board.

Agitation for some measures to stop the use of many kinds of materials required for war purposes in production of luxuries or other articles not contributing to war needs has been strong among many Government officials. The problem involves many difficulties, particularly in determining just what commodities are to be considered non-essential.

About Dreamland and Rockaway

WHEN Hylan talks about "the useless purchase of Dreamland," he shows he doesn't know how much fun the public have down there.

On hot summer days they come by hundreds of thousands—the sand is thick with them—mothers and children—hosts of little boys and girls wading and swimming in the surf.

Already great numbers of children are being treated and cured of bone tuberculosis out there in the fresh, invigorating sea air.

During the hot days last summer thousands of mothers and children practically covered the sands of Dreamland and Rockaway in an effort to get away from the stifling heat of the big city.

These two parks promise to be not only the most popular, but the most valuable shore parks that New York City has ever owned.

Hylan calls that a waste of money!

Here are the facts about both matters.

Dreamland came on the market after it was swept bare by fire in 1911. That made it a good time to buy—no buildings to pay for and tear down.

The Fusion majority in the Board of Estimate agreed and ordered Mayor Gaynor's Corporation Counsel to get the property by condemnation.

The condemnation price set by the court was too high. Mitchel contested it through the higher courts successfully and had the award thrown out. A hearing is now going on. Not one cent has yet been paid for Dreamland.

By contesting the award, Mitchel will probably save the city half a million dollars when the city finally acquires the property.

As to Rockaway, that again is a case where Mitchel and Prendergast had nothing to do with the cost except to protect the city by getting an advance option.

The purchase was first authorized when McClellan was Mayor and the Tammany Board of Estimate was unanimous for it.

The condemnation was in the hands of Gaynor's Corporation Counsel and the courts, and the matter was all settled and complete before Mitchel became Mayor.

Mitchel has challenged Hylan to debate this or any other question before the public. Has Hylan accepted? No.

He's afraid, because he knows he's not telling the truth.

Do you want a man like Hylan for Mayor? If not, vote and work for Mitchel and Fusion.

TANKS A BIG FACTOR IN AISNE VICTORY

MORE MOBILE THAN BRITISH

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

WITH THE FRENCH ARMY ON THE AISNE, Wednesday, Oct. 24, (delayed.)—Yesterday's victory developed considerably in the course of the afternoon and evening. It had been a thick, black night for the end of the preparation. Hour after hour, while dim files of heavily laden poilus passed up to the inferno of the front trenches, I watched the hell fires bursting, splashing and fluttering over the hills, overwhelmed by the horror of it all. As the luminous haze heralding daybreak appeared, colored signals began to call out the needs of the firing lines, and then, from the sudden outburst of barrages, we knew that the men were over the parapets.

Up to this time the German artillery fire had been very light; you might have supposed that, being none too well supplied with ammunition, the enemy was economizing for the moment of most urgency. That was not the reason, or, at least, not the chief one. The trick of withholding fire has increasing importance in battle, and is practiced all the more by the enemy just because of the superiority of French artillery work. If the German batteries had been kept busy during the night they would have inflicted certain losses upon the French; but their emplacements would have been spotted almost immediately, would have been treated with gas and explosive shells and largely destroyed. As it was, these came into action later in the day.

On the French side a much larger and more effective use was made of this expedient, so that when the troops of assault got beyond the protective range of the batteries first employed, there was a new line of guns, much further forward, which had hitherto been silent, but was now ready to cover them with a curtain of fire.

Preparation Well Executed.

It immediately appeared that the destruction of the German defenses had been accomplished with as much success as could be hoped for in so difficult a country. By 7:30 A. M. we learned by carrier pigeon and other means that the Château de la Motte, on the French left near Allemant, had been carried, and that at the centre Malmaison Fort was taken. At 8:45 Allemant village had been occupied, the prisoners numbered a thousand, and the French assault troops were advancing across the central plateau toward Vaudesson and Mont Parnasse Quarry. At 10:30 the news was that they were at the north of Hill 173, the further spur of Malmaison Plateau, and in a quarry 220 yards west of the fort. By 2:45 P. M. the villages of Chavignon and Vaudesson, with several neighboring quarries lying on the northern edge of the Aisne hills, had been occupied. Chavignon was the furthest point contemplated in the plan and represented an advance of one and one-half miles made in the face of the best remaining troops of the German Empire.

Up to the early forenoon of yesterday the weather remained misty but dry. For the next three hours heavy rain fell, and then there was an interval of bright sunshine.

It was in a heavy downpour that I watched a column of nearly a thousand prisoners filing down to the first quiet resting place they had seen for long and bitter days. Many were youngsters, but were on the whole a fit-looking lot. Some were visibly happy to be out of the hurly-burly.

On the right the offensive encountered the greatest difficulties from the outset. In spite of the very heavy preparation, many fortified posts had not been destroyed, and beyond the Panthéon, Royettes and Royal farms, although these lie on the northern edge of the Chemin des Dames crest, the enemy put up a most obstinate resistance. It was perhaps because of the closeness of the lines in this sector and the fall of ground, making it difficult to use the heavy artillery barrages which elsewhere proved so valuable, that the least progress was made here.

Tanks Did Good Service.

The French tanks were engaged, and did good service. Like the British, they work on caterpillar wheels, but are smaller and have somewhat greater manoeuvring power than the early British models. Each carries a field gun, in addition to several machine guns, and experience has led not only to improvements of structure and armament, but to a clearer idea of the most advantageous method of using such war cars. On the right a ruined farm on the way to Filain held up the attack, and it was mainly due to several tanks that it was captured.

All the caves and tunnels in the two plateaus that have been won were found to have been more or less smashed in by the French big guns. The Mont Parnasse quarry had galleries two-thirds of a mile long and 300 yards wide in places. They might have held a whole division, and if they had done so the roll of prisoners would have been still larger; it already exceeds 8,000.

In one quarry a large group of Germans were sheltering, and when the French came up they did not wish to emerge, their officers having told them that the French massacred their prisoners. There happened to be among them a native of Malmedy, on the Rhenish-Prussian frontier, who spoke French with a Belgian accent. After a parley he came out at the head of 400 graycoats, who were sent off to the rear.

Among the prisoners are the Colonels and staffs of three regiments. Two of these belonged to the Thirteenth Division. It appears that in addition to the six divisions it had in line the German command sent up, in the course of the day, two new divisions to compensate for its very heavy losses.

The French front now runs from Hill 157, near Vauxaillon, eastward around the Vaudesson and Malmaison plateaus and joins the old front to the north of Chevrigny Hill. The tactical importance of the victory for the future lies in the fact that the French now possess constant views over and command with their guns not only the remaining German posts on the western part of the Chemin des Dames and the Ailette Valley, but also toward the northeast into the Gap of Laon and toward the northwest in the neighborhood of Anizy-le-Château and the southern part of the forest of Coucy.

Today is the anniversary of the recapture of Douaumont. General Maistre, who was in command of yesterday's operations, and his lieutenants and men may well be satisfied with the way they celebrated the day.

PERSHING PRAISES GUNNERS.

Enthusiastic Over Their Work in the French Aisne Victory.

By The Associated Press.

ON THE FRENCH FRONT, Oct. 25.—General Pershing, who was present at the French offensive on the River Aisne with the French commanding General today, expressed enthusiasm over the thorough military preparation and brilliant execution of the French attack.

The American commander was specially interested in the advance of the French infantry, and, besides going forward to the second German line with the French commander, he remained some time with the French engineers. These men are working close behind the infantry, arranging positions and rebuilding roads.

General Pershing was particularly impressed by the zeal of the engineers in doing hard manual labor and by their indifference to enemy shells. As they worked their own artillery and machine guns kept up a terrific fire over their heads.

BAR TOWARD LAON REMOVED.

Germans' Massive Malmaison Defenses Showed Position's Importance

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—The importance of the French victory on the Aisne, as giving General Pétain's troops the key to the ridge which commands the approach to Laon, is emphasized in a statement from the French War Office, cabled today to Washington.

"The raised plateau which was dominated by the imposing mass of the mound of the ruined fort of Malmaison," says the French statement, "which formed the key to this mountainous ridge, stretches between the valley of the Aisne and the valley of the Ailette and gives a superb outlook over the western part of the Chemin des Dames and the opposite slope north of the plateau, whose hollows and dugouts had during the month of April stopped the progress of the French toward Laon.

"The Germans, who understood the necessity for holding these positions, for a long time thought that they were going to be attacked and had made on their own side most thorough preparations for resistance. On the top of Malmaison they had constructed a formidable organization, surrounding it with counterscarps of masonry, digging tunnels of communication with other organizations and rendering it, as it seemed to them, impregnable.

"Everywhere in the vicinity of the Chemin des Dames they had erected formidable fortifications. The centre of these positions was burrowed with trenches and holes which continued along the opposite slopes north of the plateau, which were covered with a network of barbed wire. On all sides were defensive works of great solidarity, held by crack troops and pierced for machine guns. The most important position, though not the only one, was that which had been constructed at the farm of La Royere. In addition the Germans had installed in front of the French lines a considerable number of batteries of all calibers and hastily massed their best troops.

"In spite of all the means of defense accumulated in the Aisne sector by the German command, in spite of very unfavorable weather, the French troops attained all their objectives, harvesting a rich booty of prisoners and guns."

NEW BRITISH RAID ON SAARBRUCKEN

31-2 TONS FOR ONE PLANT

"Considerable Damage" Inflicted on the Burbach Works, Which Received Them.

LONDON, Oct. 25.—An official statement on aerial operations, issued tonight, says:

"Last night factories and railway communications in the vicinity of Saarbrucken were attacked by our airplane squadrons with excellent results. Over three and one-half tons of explosives were dropped on the Burbach works, just west of Saarbrucken, by naval machines. The damage caused was considerable. Many fires were observed.

"Three thousand three hundred and thirty-five pounds of explosives were dropped on railway stations, junctions, and goods sidings in and around Saarbrucken by another squadron. Many direct hits were obtained, resulting in numerous explosions. One train proceeding to Saarbrucken received a direct hit from a big bomb and was destroyed. A total of five tons of explosives was dropped by us.

"The enemy's anti-aircraft defenses were strong. At first the weather conditions were good, but later became very bad, with rain, low clouds, and a strong wind, rendering the return of our machines most difficult.

"On Wednesday there was a slight improvement in the weather on the British front, though drifting clouds and a very strong west wind made observation and fighting over the enemy's lines difficult. One hundred and forty-four bombs were dropped during the day on the enemy's billets; twelve heavy bombs on an airdrome near Courtrai, and seventy-one others on German troops in trenches and in the open.

"At times the fighting was severe. Four hostile machines were downed by our airplanes, one was shot down by our infantry, and three other machines were brought down out of control. Six of our machines are missing."

STANDS BY EASTERN ALLIES.

No Peace at Russia's and Rumania's Expense, Says Cecil.

LONDON, Oct. 25.—In the House of Commons today Lord Robert Cecil, Minister of Blockade, gave a categorical denial to rumors circulated by Germany that the western powers were contemplating a separate peace at the expense of Russia and Rumania.

"The Government," he said, "is determined to abide by our Russian ally and assist her in consolidating her newfound liberty. The Government also realizes the great debt owing the Rumanian government and Army, and the Rumanian people can rest assured that this country will not desert them in the present crisis."

To Discuss Romanoff Banishment.

PETROGRAD, Oct. 25.—The Russian preliminary Parliament, according to the newspapers, will soon discuss the fate of the Romanoff family, now imprisoned near Tobolsk, Siberia. Particular attention will be paid to the question of the eventual banishment of the former Emperor and his immediate relatives.

there were many patrol engagements, which resulted in an increase in the local firing.

German Newspapers Uneasy.

AMSTERDAM, Oct. 25.—German newspapers are uneasy over the French advance northeast of Soissons. Those at Cologne say it is impossible to minimize the importance of the enemy's blow.

The Frankfurter Zeitung characterizes the battle as "painful" for Germany, but not desperate, and believes France's aim is the capture of Laon.

CHECK GERMANS NEAR YPRES.

British Report the Repulse of an Attack South of Houthulst.

LONDON Oct. 25.—Field Marshal Haig's official report of the operations in Flanders and Northern France, received today, says that a strong German counterattack south of Houthulst forest was repulsed last night and that British troops made successful raids yesterday afternoon and evening against enemy positions southeast of Arras.

The text of the statement follows:

Following on the activity of his artillery already reported, the enemy delivered another strong counterattack yesterday evening south of Houthulst forest. His troops were again completely repulsed.

Successful raids were made yesterday afternoon and early in the night by Gloucester, Worcester, and Berkshire troops against the enemy's positions between Roeux and Gavrelle. Many Germans were killed and enemy dugouts destroyed. We captured a machine gun.

The report received from British headquarters tonight reads:

A raid attempted by the enemy last night east of Loos was met with rifle and machine gun fire and failed to reach our wire. Early this morning two hostile raiding parties attacked our line north of La Bassée Canal. One party was repulsed by our fire before reaching our trenches; the other succeeded in entering our trenches, but was driven out. One of our men is missing.

We captured a few prisoners during the night in patrol encounters east of Poelcappelle. Our artillery has been active during the day on the battlefront.

BERLIN, Oct. 25, (via London.)—Army Headquarters reports an increase yesterday in the British artillery activity, on the Flanders front, increasing to drumfire intensity last evening from Houthulst Wood to Passchendaele.

The text of the report follows:

Front of Crown Prince Rupprecht—In Flanders a stronger fire was directed throughout the day on the fighting zone between the coast and Blankaart Lake. From there to the Lys the enemy in some sectors directed waves of fire, which increased toward evening to a most violent drumfire, from Houthulst Wood to Passchendaele. No large attacks ensued.

In Artois and near St. Quentin there were forefield engagements favorable to us.

The trades committees reported yesterday a gain of $45,000,000, making a total of $213,000,000. The committees representing the 120 trades have set $520,000,000 as their goal, and they are just as confident as ever that they will succeed in raising that amount before the banks close tomorrow night. Thus far the hardware, metals, and allied trades lead all the rest with a total of more than $25,000,000. The shipping, import, and export trades have supplied about $22,000,000, and the chemical and drug trades somewhat over $21,000,000.

The hotels of this city have already subscribed to more than $2,000,000, many of them having greatly increased their earlier applications. The Plaza Hotel has advanced its subscription to $250,000, and the same amount has been applied for jointly by the Biltmore, Manhattan, and Ansonia hotels, and by the McAlpine and Claridge hotels jointly. The Belmont and Murray Hill have taken $150,000, and the Waldorf, Ritz-Carlton, and the Marseilles have each subscribed to $100,000.

The Faculty and students of New York University, it was announced last night, had subscribed to $126,150 in a three days' drive.

Otto H. Kahn Issues Appeal.

At the request of the Liberty Loan Committee, Otto H. Kahn of Kuhn, Loeb & Co. and Chairman of the Board of Directors of the Metropolitan Opera House, has prepared the following statement:

A solemn call has gone out to all Americans to buy Liberty bonds. To respond to the utmost of his ability is the privilege and duty of every American. It is doubly the duty of those who have come here from foreign lands, whom America has generously welcomed, and for whom it has given freedom and opportunities such as never were theirs before. Now is our chance to demonstrate by acts our loyalty, our gratitude, and our genuine Americanism. Let Americans of foreign extraction put forth their efforts to the very limit, so that they may be on the roll of honor of those who have best served their country in the hour of its need.

In addition to the duty of all Americans, it is their self-interest to subscribe to Liberty bonds to their utmost capacity. A triumphant success of the Liberty Loan has the value of a great victory in battle. It will tend to shorten the war and thus reduce the sacrifice of life and treasure. It will bring nearer the day when our soldiers and sailors will return to us after the victorious accomplishment of their task. It will hearten and spur on the nations who are fighting with us. Deepen the sense of impending doom which has begun to descend upon our enemies and cause their people to press more insistently for an ending of the appalling conflict, the inevitable outcome of which must appear to them more and more manifest the more impressive is the demonstration of America's gigantic financial strength.

In addition to all other considerations it is plainly a dictate of wisdom to buy Liberty bonds, because there is no other means by which a man can so well protect and preserve his possessions against the vicissitudes of war times than by investing in Liberty bonds. Those who have put their money into the last issue of Liberty bonds are now a great deal better off than if they had put it in any other security, because Liberty bonds are now salable practically at the same price they paid for them, while substantially all other securities have undergone considerable depreciation.

The Committee on Railroads conducting the national campaign for the sale of Liberty bonds announced last night that reports from forty-two roads showed a total of $12,624,000 of subscriptions from employes.

Invest Choate Legacy in Bonds.

The students of the Fordham Law School subscribed yesterday to $15,500, and the Joseph Rodman Drake School at Hunt's Point, the Bronx, announced subscriptions to the amount of $50,000. The Legal Aid Society has invested a $10,000 legacy left by Joseph H. Choate in Liberty bonds. The students of the Jewish Theological Seminary of America have subscribed to $1,900. Attachés of the Department of Justice in the Borough of Manhattan have pledged to take $10,000. Liberty Loan subscriptions amounting to $145,000 had been obtained up to yesterday morning by the pupils of Public School 165, at 234 West 109th Street.

Supreme Court Justice Ordway signed an order directing that $4,550 attached by the Sheriff in a suit for $38,000 brought by Stein, Hirsh & Co. against Geisel & Co. be invested in Liberty bonds.

The League for Catholic Women which commenced work under the Woman's Liberty Loan Comittee a week ago Thursday, reports subscriptions amounting to $110,000. Of these $25,000 was subscribed by R. A. Touoon, $10,000 by Gladys Biefendorf, $25,000 by John Meiody, $20,000 by Burrall Hoffman, and $25,000 by A. Muir.

Caleb Bragg, the aviator, and Philip Boyer of the Liberty Loan Committee will fly to Albany today to drop Liberty Loan paper bombs on that city, Troy and Schenectady. They will leave Port Washington at 9 A. M., and will fly over the up-State cities at a height of 3,000 feet. After a stop at Troy for fuel they will return and will speak at the twenty-four rally in Times Square beginning at noon today.

Reports received yesterday at the headquarters of the Boy Scouts of America showed that the boys had obtained subscriptions for $21,230,000 Liberty bonds, with only 10 per cent. of the cities and towns heard from. Chief Scout Executive James E. West predicted that fully $100,000,000 would be raised by Saturday night the country over, compared with about $23,000,000 in the first Liberty Loan campaign.

The largest local subscription secured by a scout yesterday was of $50,000 from Harry N. Hempstead, President of the New York Baseball Club, who was writing an application to the Treasury Department for bonds when the scout appeared at his office. The application was torn up and the scout received a check for the full amount.

Between the acts at last night's performance at the Playhouse, William A. Brady offered to double the total of subscriptions of Liberty bonds which the audience might make up to $100,000. Sixty subscriptions were received at once for a total of $28,000, and Mr. Brady announced that he would subscribe $57,200 to the new war loan.

An anonymous volunteer who said that he came from Kentucky sold $7,000 worth of bonds in a few minutes yesterday afternoon at the Liberty Bond Booth in James McCreery & Co.'s by agreeing to invest $500 for every $500 worth of bonds that he sold. Others who did a big business in bonds at this booth were Mr. and Mrs. Tyrone Power and Richie Ling. Haskell Coffin, the artist, will give away hand proofs of some of his magazine cover drawings with the first fourteen sales that he makes at McCreery's today. Others on duty there will be Lynn Bogue Hunt, Francis Wilson, Arline Chase, and Hazel Dawn. Guy Empey, author of "Over the Top," will sell bonds there again tomorrow morning between 10:30 and 12 o'clock.

Forgets Troubles to Plead for Bonds.

Albert Pass of the Forty-eighth Highlanders of Toronto, who went in his kilts to Police Headquarters yesterday afternoon to report that he had been beaten and robbed, got sidetracked from his complaint into the story of his war experiences and then grew so eloquent in favor of the Liberty bonds that detectives and officials subscribed for $1,000 on the spot, leaving their contributions with Lieutenant Joseph Donovan. Pass said that three men, one in uniform, had attacked and beaten him in the Exchange Place station of the Hudson Tubes, robbing him of $20.

Plodding along the links on a hot Saturday afternoon, you revile Colonel Bogey as a heartless taskmaster. But the Colonel has his good side. When you are doing well he tells you.

It may have occurred to many that a Colonel Bogey would be good in business. With more certainty as to what "costs" ought to be, possibly there would be more afternoons off for golf.

SYSTEM, the Magazine of Business, maintains what should be named a Bogey Department. It is, however, known as the Bureau of Business Standards. Its sole work is to find out the usual, common and normal cost of doing business in important lines of trade. Its findings enable an owner to put his finger on any department that is too expensively run.

The standards established by the Bureau are published in elaborate Reports and are constantly used to verify the accuracy of articles in SYSTEM

HALF SUGAR SUPPLY FOR CONFECTIONERS

Food Administration Modifies Order Which Cut Off All Sales to Them.

SUGAR RELIEF PREDICTED

Conditions Here Near Normal 15 Days Hence, Says Rolph—Louisiana Growers Get 6.35c. a Pound.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—Confectioners and manufacturers of syrup, gum, and ice cream were partially relieved today from the drastic sugar embargo against them, the Food Administration modifying its order of a few days ago directing that no sales be made to these interests until Cuban supplies were available. The Food Administration now has instructed refiners and distributers to deliver to them sugar in such quantities as, when added to their stock on hand, will amount to 50 per cent. of their normal requirements.

The modification was announced in the following telegram sent to all refiners and distributers.

Owing to great distress to employes, confectioners and manufacturers of gum, cordials, syrups, and ice cream the Food Administration herewith modifies former instructions as follows:

First, every confectioner and manufacturer who wishes to buy sugar should disclose to you his stocks of sugar on hand and agree to reduce voluntarily his use of sugar by 50 per cent. until Jan. 1, his combined purchases and stocks not to exceed this requirement.

Second, in order to obtain 50 per cent. of his requirements now and hereafter he must not buy or attempt to buy Louisiana clarified, plantation white, or open kettle sugars at more than 7.25, less 2 per cent., Louisiana points.

Third, before selling, obtain his assurance on these points, and request your jobbing trade to do likewise.

The Food Administration expects prompt relief from the Eastern sugar shortage to follow the agreement reached for the sale of 200,000,000 pounds of Louisiana cane sugar to the American Sugar Refining Company. Representatives of the growers who made the agreement today wrote to each planter in Louisiana inviting him to participate in the sale.

It was disclosed that the exact price fixed was 6.35 cents a pound, 100,000,000 pounds to be delivered at New Orleans and the growers to pay 25 cents per hundred toward transporting the other 100,000,000 pounds to New York, Boston, and Philadelphia.

George M. Rolph, Chairman of the International Sugar Refiners' Committee of the Federal Food Administration, who had a hand in arranging the recent purchase of 100,000 tons of Louisiana sugar, said yesterday that within fifteen days sugar conditions here would be very near normal, a result in part of the movement of American beet sugar.

Mr. Rolph made this statement following a meeting of the committee at 111 Wall Street. In the same building met also the International Sugar Committee, preliminary to organization. All five members were present—Sir Joseph White Todd and John Ramsay Drake, of the British Food Commission, representing the Allies; Chairman Rolph, Earl D. Babst, of the American Sugar Refining Company, and William A. Jamison, of Arbuckle Brothers. The committee is to organize tomorrow.

Mr. Rolph said the first shipment of the 100,000 tons of Louisiana sugar would start from New Orleans in the first week in November and should reach New York by Nov. 9, and the consumer by Nov. 14, at latest.

LLOYD GEORGE LOSES VOTE.

Commons Poll Gives Technical Defeat to Government.

LONDON, Oct. 25.—Premier Lloyd George's Government suffered its first defeat in the House of Commons tonight. In the Government bill to promote the production of petroleum in the United Kingdom provision was made for a payment of a royalty of ninepence a ton. An amendment, striking this provision out, was carried, 44 to 35. The defeat of the Government is regarded as purely mechanical and will not affect the Government's tenure of office.

Herbert Samuel, former Home Secretary, who supported the amendment, said that the Government should not regard the result as in any sense tantamount to a vote of want of confidence. The House, he said, should always feel free to vote as it pleased on minor points.

'WE SHALL BE 2,000,000,' GENERAL TOLD GERMAN

American Officer Made Quick Response to Captive's Talk About 20,000 Men.

PARIS, Oct. 25.—German wounded, questioned by the Temps correspondent, have shown the usual ignorance of American intervention. The correspondent heard one of the Germans lying in a hospital say to an American General:

"Intervention by your twenty thousand men won't disturb us."

The General replied:

"Excuse me, we shall be two millions, I assure you."

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—The presence of American troops in France caused great astonishment to the crews of the Zeppelins L-49 and L-50, brought down by the French Saturday, while returning from a raid on England.

Dispatches to the State Department said that the prisoners stated that not one of them knew of the landing of any American expeditionary forces.

KHAKI AS A YELLOW PERIL.

W. C. T. U. President Warns Girls to Beware of Uniform's Fascination.

BROCKTON, Mass., Oct. 25.—A statement by Mrs. Katherine Lent Stevenson, President of the Massachusetts Woman's Christian Temperance Union, that the khaki uniform constitutes a new yellow peril in the land for the fascination it exerts on young and unpoised girls was read into the official minutes of the State convention of the organization today.

The statement had aroused protests from mothers who had boys in the army, and in order that there might be no misunderstanding, the convention voted to have Mrs. Stevenson put her remarks in writing.

'Better have HALLENBECK print it"

WHC 1856

Wynkoop Hallenbeck Crawford Co.
Printers and Binders
80 LAFAYETTE STREET, NEW YORK

Laying our case
before the Court of Public Opinion

THE general public interest is being threatened by a serious strike which now confronts the printing industry in New York City. Whether or not the strike is inaugurated depends on the vote of the individual feeders who will meet tonight in their local union.

Both the Feeders' Union (Franklin No. 23) and the Pressmen's Union (Printing Pressmen's Union No. 51) have presented demands for wage increases which, if obtained, can only result in widespread bankruptcy and universal disruption in the local printing trades.

Men agreed not to ask increase

Feeders are now receiving from $18.00 to $23.00 per week. Their demand is for a flat increase of $4.00 per week throughout the entire scale of wages. This demand is made in face of the fact that they are bound to the present scale by a contract which does not expire until October 1st, 1919.

The pressmen also are bound to their present wage-scale by a contract which does not expire until October 1st, 1919. Under this contract they are paid various scales ranging from $20.00 per week for job pressmen to $35.00 and more per week for various classes of flat-bed and web presses; the contract also provides a flat increase of $1.00 per week on all flat-bed scales on December 1, 1917. Evidently ignoring this contract the Pressmen's Union officials now demand an immediate raise of 10 per cent. flat on all scales up to $33.00.

Nobody, however, appreciates better than the employing printers the circumstances which have given rise to these demands. We are not attempting to close our eyes to the unusual conditions which make money worth so much less than it was worth a few years ago. We have every intention of doing what we can do to alleviate the hardships encountered by our feeders and pressmen in meeting the increased cost of living; but there is an absolute limit to what is physically possible for us to do in this respect; and that limit is below the demands of the unions.

We are trying to demonstrate that this is so by taking our employees individually into our confidence and laying the facts before them; and because the public at large is hardly less concerned in this matter than our employees and ourselves, we want the public also to know these facts.

Printing business run on small margin

In the first place, the printing trade has been, for time out of mind, one of those few businesses that are run on an extremely small margin of profit. Printers are so many and competition so keen that nearly every printer finds himself accepting jobs now and then for less than the actual cost of production; there is so little margin of profit to work on that without an elaborate and accurate system of cost-keeping, modern printers cannot hope to survive.

Even this margin, however, has had to be pared on account of conditions arising from the war. Buyers of printing would be surprised if they knew how much of the enormous increase in the cost of paper, inks and other raw materials is being borne by the printers; they would be amazed if they knew how many printing orders are now being accepted, not to make profits, but to keep presses running, to furnish regular employment and steady pay to our men, and to meet the unavoidable overhead costs.

Employing printers offer relief

Notwithstanding these conditions we are not insensible of our responsibility toward our men, nor are we unmoved by the urgency of their present needs. We have accordingly decided to pay a war relief for the duration of the war to members of Franklin Union No. 23, and Printing Pressmen's Union, No. 51, working for the agreed scale of less than $23.00 per week. We have planned to begin paying this relief on November 1st of this year.

The relief will vary in amount from 50 cents per week to men earning $22.50 per week up to $2.00 per week to men earning $18.00 per week. We regret that we cannot do more, but the fact is that more cannot be done with safety to ourselves or to our employees.

Less printing means unemployment

For if we did grant the present demands in full, there can be no doubt that many printing houses would be forced absolutely to shut up shop.

The increased cost of production could not be passed on entirely to the buyers of printing. They would not stand for it, for the simple reason that a great deal of printing is not actually worth more to the buyers than the prices they are now paying. Buyers, especially of printed advertising (who are one of the mainstays of the printing trades), will naturally refuse to invest in advertising material that costs more to print than results will warrant. Countless printing orders that can still be secured at present trade prices will never see the light of day if prices are forced to the limit by the unions. Less work can only mean widespread unemployment.

The result will be the same if the printer attempts to carry part of the increased cost on his own shoulders instead of passing it on entirely to his customers. To shave still finer the margin of profit on which printers are now working would be to invite bankruptcy in most cases, and to make the rewards not worth the risk for the few houses that could avoid utter financial ruin.

We trust that we have already made these matters clear to our men, and that when they assemble to-night to vote on the question of striking or not, they will not forget that less pay than they would like to have—less than we would like to see them have—is better than no work.

Let the public judge

If, however, they cannot see how their own interests are bound up inextricably in this crisis with the interests of their employers,—if, in spite of all the facts, they insist on striking for the full demands proposed by the leaders of their unions, thereby violating their solemn agreement and contracts, we can only invite the public at large to investigate the actual conditions in the printing business, and hope that an aroused public opinion will not be without its effect in staving off the disaster that threatens one of the industries most essential to modern civilization.

WIN WAR WITH HOGS, SO HOOVER SEES IT

More Fats Essential to Maintain Allies' Constancy, Food Administrator Asserts.

MUST SUPPLY WHEAT ALSO

Burden to be Shared by United States and Canada — Problem Reduces to One of Ships.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—Food Administrator Hoover said tonight that the fight against the submarine would be won if the United States and Canada could feed the Allies from this continent.

Ships, wheat, and hogs were the great needs emphasized by Mr. Hoover. He said deepest concern had been caused by the fact that in spite of high prices this country's pork consumption had increased during the war until production had been outstripped, a situation that must be changed.

"If we discontinue exports," Mr. Hoover added, "we shall move the German line from France to the Atlantic seaboard. Pork products have an influence in this present world situation wider than one would ordinarily attribute to them. The human body must have a certain amount of fats, we must increase production of hogs if we are to answer the world's craving.

"The production of fats is today a critical necessity for the preservation of these people, [the Allies,] and the maintenance of their constancy in the war. Every pound of fat is as sure a service as every bullet, and every hog is of greater value to the winning of this war than a shell."

Our Allies' Wheat Requirements.

As to wheat, the Administrator said the Allies' deficiency of production was 196,000,000 bushels, with imports of 577,700,000 bushels required to maintain normal consumption. He estimated the aggregate American, Canadian, Australian, Indian, and Argentine export surplus at 770,000,000 bushels, but pointed out that lack of shipping made it necessary for this country and Canada to bear the burden of meeting the Allies' deficit.

"The problem," he said, "is thus simply one of ships. If we can so produce economies and stimulate production in the United States and Canada as will enable us to feed the Allies absolutely from this continent and thus enable them to live without sending a ship further afield than our Atlantic seaboard, we can resist the submarine indefinitely."

Placing the United States wheat export surplus from this year's crop at 80,000,000 bushels and Canada's at 150,000,000 bushels, Mr. Hoover urged domestic economies to increase this country's surplus to 150,000,000 bushels.

"This we could do," he said, "if our people would eat one pound less of wheat flour a week and one pound of corn meal instead. The farmer who works overtime and the consumer who economizes are fighting the submarine with a positive and sure weapon."

If peace should come, Mr. Hoover continued, large numbers of ships would be released and European wheat production increased. If climatic conditions next year are right, he estimated a wheat crop in this country of 1,000,000,000 bushels. For this the food control law guarantees a minimum price of $2 a bushel.

"If the war continues this wheat will be vitally necessary," Mr. Hoover said, "but if the war should come to an end there will be no foreign market for at least 400,000,000 bushels. The Government must then take over the wheat and probably find a market for it at a very great loss. We should anticipate that the Government may lose from $300,000,000 to $500,000,000 on this wheat guaranty if peace arrives before the 1918 harvest is marketed."

A Keep-a-Pig Movement.

Turning to the meat situation, the Administrator said pork products were more vitally needed by the Allies than beef, and, therefore, it would be to the vital advantage of every farmer to raise hogs, adding:

"We need a keep-a-pig movement in this country."

By preventing undue increases in forage prices, Mr. Hoover promised that the food administration would cooperate in measures to stimulate livestock production. He said further production of sheep, both for meat and particularly for wool, extensively used in uniforms, was needed.

"Our American farmers," he added, "would be wise to realize that for a considerable period after the war there will be a very poor export market for American bread grains, whereas there will be a wide demand for animal products."

Williams Tells of Plan to Prevent Profiteering—Predicts Meatless and Wheatless Days.

Arthur Williams, newly appointed Food Administrator for New York City, explained something of the Government food conservation program at a lunch given by him to newspaper representatives yesterday in the New York Edison Building, 124 East Fifteenth Street. While Mr. Williams made a short speech, the discussion was, for the most part, entirely informal and took the shape of questions and answers flashed back and forth across the table.

Mr. Williams emphasized the need of food conservation, and added that during next week, when the campaign is on to enlist the housewives as aids to Mr. Hoover, it is the intention of those in charge of that campaign to carry the message of food conservation to the cooks in the kitchens. It is the belief of Mr. Williams that we are soon to see two meatless and two wheatless days each week.

"We have got to play the game fairly," said Mr. Williams, "and to do that the co-operation of all will be necessary. The women on the east side should know that the women on the west side are doing their share in saving the food supply of the nation. Just so must the women on the west side feel that those on the other side of he city are sharing in the responsibility and sacrifice that will be entailed."

Federal prices will be made up each day, and the newspapers are to be asked to print them. The Administration is just now working out fair prices on twenty-one basic articles of food. Already the prices of wheat and sugar have been adjusted, and the next staple that will be taken under consideration, Mr. Williams said, will be corn.

Mr. Williams dwelt upon the importance of wheat saving, the responsibility of which he said, was largely on the shoulders of the consumers. Saving should not be forced upon the people, but should be a voluntary sacrifice for patriotism and the common good of the nation. As an example of what saving can accomplish he said that the Waldorf Astoria saved 2,000 pounds of meat by having a beefless day.

Mr. Williams will outline his plan for handling New York's food supply, at a meeting to be held by the Babies Welfare Association in the Russell Sage Foundation Building, 130 East Twenty-second Street, on Tuesday at 4 P. M.

Mr. Williams was in conference yesterday with Henry Moskowitz, Commissioner of Markets, where he heard some of the views of the men in the retail business here.

CAN MILK NOT FOR BABIES.

Dr. Emerson Opposes Sale of Cheaper Product for Infants' Food.

Dr. Haven Emerson, Health Commissioner, said yesterday that no attempt would be made by his department to restrict unnecessarily the sale of loose milk at 10 cents a quart. Replying to the charge of John J. Dillon, State Commissioner of Food and Markets that the regulations of the Health Department were always, when directed toward the supervision of meats, milk, and other foods, in the interest of the big dealers and against the small ones, he said that he did not want to enter into a controversy with Mr. Dillon.

"If Commissioner Dillon will supply me with specific instances where, as he says, insanitary conditions exist, or where various grades of milk have been mixed and sold as Grade A milk, I shall be glad to prosecute the offenders," said the Health Commissioner. "I have repeatedly asked him to turn over to this department any such information which reaches him, but without response."

Dr. Emerson said he was not opposed to the sale of loose milk under good conditions, but that he was opposed to feeding such milk to babies, as it was everywhere recognized that the large decrease in infant mortality in this city in recent years was due, to a great extent, to the recognition by mothers that Grade A bottled milk is the only safe milk for infants.

Dr. Emerson added that the dangers from loose milk were far less important in the cases of adults than with children.

Commissioner Emerson expressed the opinion that the price of milk would decrease, but even at the present high price, he explained, milk was still the cheapest and best protein food, especially for children.

CITY POTATOES TODAY.

Three Cents a Pound Is Price Fixed for Consumers.

The first consignment of potatoes ordered by the New York City Food Aid Committee will be put on sale today, Henry Moskowitz, Commissioner of Markets, announced yesterday. They will be released to the retail trade with the understanding that they are to be sold for not more than 3 cents a pound. The potatoes will be sold to retailers here for $1.30 a bushel. The retailer is obliged to post a sign offering the potatoes at not more than 3 cents a pound.

AMERICAN STEAMER FIGHTS WITH U-BOAT

294 SHOTS EXCHANGED

Reaches French Port in Damaged Condition — Two Naval Gunners and Several of Crew Wounded.

A FRENCH SEAPORT, Wednesday, Oct. 24.—Escaping from a German submarine, after a bitter fight lasting nearly four hours and with seven of her crew wounded, two of them seriously, an American steamer arrived here this morning from an American port. An American destroyer which came up suddenly saved the ship from being sent to the bottom.

A few hours after the vessel had entered the danger zone a lookout sighted a submarine on the port bow, but before he had time to report its presence the U-boat fired a shot which missed the stern of the ship by a few yards. The Captain immediately sent out a wireless call for assistance, as the position of the submarine was such that escape was nearly impossible.

The gun crews of the submarine and the steamer then began to exchange shots. The chief gunner of the steamer opened fire at a range of 9,000 yards, but all the shots fell short. The submarine kept manoeuvring to keep out of range of the steamer's guns, at the same time maintaining a running fire in an effort to disable them. The merchant ship, after altering her course, started at full speed in an attempt to escape.

The stubbornness of the battle is indicated by the fact that the submarine fired 234 shots at the steamer, which responded with more than 260 shots.

After the fight had continued for about two hours and several shots had struck the ship, wounding four men, one shell hit the vessel and exploded in the engine room, putting the engines out of commission and rendering the ship helpless. The U-boat came nearer, continuing to rain shells upon the disabled craft.

The sea was running high at the time and there seemed little hope of saving the ship, when a low streak of black smoke was sighted on the horizon. It later proved to be an American destroyer coming at full speed, running right into the sea and at times nearly disappearing from view.

The destroyer had heard the calls for aid and traveled at a speed of as high as thirty knots to come to the steamer's assistance. The destroyer immediately made for the submarine, which dived and disappeared beneath the surface. The American warship circled about the spot, dropping a few depth charges, but no more signs of the U-boat were seen.

While coming to the steamer's assistance, the destroyer kept sending assuring messages, such as "Hold on!" "Stick, we are coming!"

The steamer's wireless apparatus, however, had been disabled soon after the fight began, and the messages never were received, so that the arrival of the American destroyer was quite unexpected. The submarine apparently was aware of the destroyer's presence, because she submerged before the destroyer could get within range.

A doctor and two assistants boarded the merchantman and attended to the wounded. The engineers had great difficulty in repairing the steamer's engine, and during the night the destroyer and the merchantman lost each other, but finally the steamer made port in safety.

The wounded were transferred to a hospital in this city. Two of them belong to the gun crew and five to the ship's crew.

The steamer was not hit below the waterline, but her cargo caught fire during the engagement. The amount of damage has not been ascertained.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—An announcement by the Navy Department late today revealed that the ship which fought the battle with the submarine was one of the American Luckenbach steamers, and that the fight occurred on Oct. 19. According to the navy's advices nine men were wounded, seven members of the vessel's crew and two sailors of the armed guard. Following is the department's statement:

"The Navy Department is informed that the American steamship —— Luckenbach was engaged by an enemy submarine on Oct. 19. The engagement lasted from 7:35 A. M. until 11:40 A. M., and was broken off by the arrival of an American patrol vessel. The Luckenbach was hit several times, but no serious damage was done to the ship. Seven of the crew of the Luckenbach and two members of the armed guard were wounded."

WILL SEND ITALY 25 STEEL SHIPS

Federal Board Allots 100,000 Tons to Supply Pressing Needs of Our Ally.

SOME FROM GREAT LAKES

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—The Government, through the United States Shipping Board, is to turn over within the next few weeks 100,000 tons of shipping to Italy to relieve its economic situation, which, through lack of ships, is reported serious. This will involve supplying about twenty-five steel ships.

To carry out the arrangement the Government will requisition, among others, some of the Great Lakes steamers. It is in position now to turn over half a dozen big ships, and the others will be supplied, it is expected, within a month.

Italy has borrowed ships from Great Britain, using some of them to transport wheat from India. Britain's own demands, owing to the U-boat activities, have been such that she had been obliged to recall some of the vessels loaned to her ally. This deficiency the United States will make up and, in addition, furnish more tonnage.

With the 100,000 of tonnage to be given by the United States it is said Italy will have ample shipping for all her requirements. The loan of ships will be made for the period of the war.

The Government only a few days ago announced that it was to supply at once twenty ships to France. This involves about 100,000 of tonnage. Part of it has already been supplied.

The Shipping Board finds itself confronted with the necessity of working its shipbuilding yards in continuous shifts, three a day, if it is to turn out the tonnage required for the United States and its allies. Approximately 200,000 men are at work in the Government and private shipyards, but this number, if the Government is to build ships for the increasing demand, must be increased to 500,000 men. Scarcity of workmen threatens to handicap the program of the Shipping Board.

Chairman Hurley of the Shipping Board has conferred with Administration heads with a view to supplying the deficiency in workmen and expects that the problem will be satisfactorily solved. If the Shipping Board's plan works out the shipyards will be able to turn out 5,000,000 of tonnage by the end of 1918. Of this aggregate it is expected 1,000,000 tons will be put on the ways by next March.

The problem of getting workmen for the yards is the only stumblingblock in working out the Government's gigantic scheme. It was pointed out today that skilled workers in shipbuilding are quickly developed from raw material and that the problem ought to be worked out without extreme difficulty.

SINN FEIN CONFERENCE CALLS FOR A REPUBLIC

Gathering at Dublin Adopts a Provisional Constitution, Aiming at Island's Independence.

DUBLIN, Oct. 25.—The Sinn Fein conference opened today under the Presidency of Arthur Griffith, founder of the organization. There were 700 delegates present, including many young priests.

The secretary reported that more than 1,000 clubs had been organized, with a membership of 250,000.

The conference adopted unanimously a provisional Constitution for the government of Ireland which was submitted for its consideration. This aims at obtaining international recognition of Ireland as an independent Republic, after which the Irish are to establish their own Government, which shall deny the right of Great Britain or any other foreign Government to legislate for Ireland and by any and every means to prevent England holding Ireland in subjection. It would provide also for convocation if a Constitutional Assembly, chosen by Irish constituencies as the supreme national authority.

LONDON, Oct. 25.—The seriousness of the situation in Ireland is insisted upon by a correspondent of The Daily Mail, who has been following Sinn Fein doings in Ireland for several weeks. He says the whole of West Ireland is on the verge of armed rebellion, and continues:

"The young priests in Professor De Valera's train have suddenly awakened to the danger of the spark they helped to kindle and are now trying to quench it, but I fear it has gone too far.

PLOTTERS HERE LONG KNOWN.

McArton and Mellawes Both Active in Irish Rising.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

DUBLIN, Oct. 25.—Dr. Patrick McArton, the Sinn Fein leader just arrested in Halifax in connection with the new plot to land arms in Ireland, was dispensary medical officer at Carrickmore, County Tyrone, for several years before the Easter rising. He had been identified with the Sinn Fein Volunteers from their inception. It appears from his own statements, made subsequently, that he lent his motor car for gunrunning when Ulster Carsonite Volunteers imported arms and ammunition into Ulster.

After the Easter rising he disappeared for several months. He returned to Carrickmore about the end of the year, and in February last was arrested and deported to England with numbers of others. Early in May he, with some of the others deported, left England and traveled to South Longford, where they took an active part in the election campaign on behalf of Joseph McGinness. Nothing further was known of his movements until it was announced that he had arrived in America, which he succeeded in reaching by working his passage as an ordinary seaman.

CORK, Oct. 25.—Dr. Mellawes, just arrested in New York, escaped from Cork immediately after the Easter uprising on a forged seaman's ticket. The authorities were offering a large reward for his capture, and the Sinn Feiners put out a report that he got away in a German submarine, but it is now stated that he made his way to an English port on a cross-Channel passenger vessel. He acted the drunken seaman to perfection and in this way eluded the vigilance of the authorities.

He was deported about six months before April, 1916, to England, where he was expected to report himself daily to the police station. He reported himself only once and then returned to Ireland and trained rebels in the west, whom he led at the Easter rising in Galway.

Gasoline and Tires— and The Franklin Car

SPEAKING of Heavy Operating Cost, in a daily paper, Mr. Eugene M. Travis the State Controller of New York says: "Next to the tires is the cost of gasoline and lubricating oils, which are among the heaviest in the motorists' expenditures."

Every motorist has experienced the truth of this statement.

And "the finer the car—the heavier the expense," has always been the impression of the average motorist.

Automobiles Consume Too Much Gasoline

It has been shown by analysis that automobiles use about half of all the gasoline produced in United States.

This analysis, it is acknowledged, throws light upon an enormous annual waste. This is best proved by the fact that if all automobiles were as efficient as the Franklin, the Nation's gasoline consumption would be cut 40 per cent.

There is much talk these days about saving gasoline. And it is daily drawing towards the necessity that the terrific consumption be curtailed in some manner.

The owner of the average heavy car is fully aware of the maximum mileage his car gets out of a gallon of gasoline. The only way he can cut down on the use of fuel is to use his car less. That's not very satisfactory.

But it's the only solution.

He has always been.

His car recorded economy before there was a call to National Thrift.

A timely demonstration of the general efficiency of the Franklin Car, under standard Test Rules, was held July 13th, 1917 throughout the United States. 179 Franklin Stock Cars averaged the remarkable distance of 40.3 miles to a single gallon of gasoline each. Under such a test a car shows what it's made of. If it is efficient—an economical car—the gasoline tank tells the story in miles per gallon.

The Tire Question is another problem for the average motorist. But one which presents no concern to the Franklin owner.

Recently 444 Franklin owners personally reported their tire mileage to the Franklin Company. These reports came in from every section of the country—with an average of 10,233 miles per set—and in many cases individual averages reached 12,000 to 15,000 per set.

This record was established by both Open and Enclosed Franklins.

The Franklin car, naturally, is equipped with good tires. But other makes of cars use the same tires. So the question gets back to the car itself.

Borrow and Buy—Save and Pay

Your Mind Is Made Up

Before Saturday Noon You Must ACT

LET us sum up. The United States is at war. Americans make war with all they have—every man and every dollar.

The man power of America is enlisted. The Government now asks for money to make these men effective—to help them to victory and a safe home-coming.

Bonds save lives. We do not argue, therefore, as to whether we should take bonds. The only possible question is: How many bonds?

The answer must be: As many as each man or woman can possibly subscribe for.

DELAY COSTS LIVES---THE LIVES OF OUR OWN SONS

THE UNDERSIGNED BANKS PLEDGE THEMSELVES to make loans on the 4% Government Bonds at the same rate of interest paid to you by the Government. Such loans will not interfere with any borrower's regular line of credit. We urge every bank in the United States to do likewise.

GEN. BELL TELLS WHY HE BARRED HILLQUIT

Socialists Refused to Agree That Candidate Would Not Denounce the War.

CITES THE REGULATIONS

Declares In Letter to Mayor He Will Not Modify Action He Has Taken.

In a letter to Mayor Mitchel, made public yesterday, Major Gen. J. Franklin Bell, U. S. A., Commander of Camp Upton, explained in detail his reasons for refusing permission to Morris Hillquit, the Socialist candidate for Mayor, to address the soldiers in camp. The Mayor had written to Major Gen. Bell requesting that he extend to Mr. Hillquit the same privilege as had been given the other Mayoralty candidates. Major Gen. Bell explained that Mr. Hillquit was barred not because he was a Socialist, but because his representatives refused to promise to comply with the regulations.

Major Gen. Bell explained that on Oct. 8 he gave to the press a set of regulations drawn up in seven paragraphs under which privileges in holding public meetings within the Yaphank cantonment were to be permitted. Some of these were:

Advocates of the election of particular candidates or of the passage of particular measures must limit their discussions to actual candidacies or measures.

The above privileges will not be extended to persons, however well meaning, who desire to enter into general or speculative discussions of abstract political questions.

No permits will be granted to political parties whose platforms include doctrines * * * subversive of military discipline.

On Oct. 17, General Bell said, two representatives of the Socialist Party Campaign Committee called upon him to get permission to make arrangements for Mr. Hillquit to address the soldiers. One of them, he said told him that Mr. Hillquit would confine himself to the issues of the campaign and would not discuss matters involving "opposition to war." He said he suggested that the request be put in writing.

"When the letter was finished and handed to me," said Major Gen. Bell, "I noticed that this assurance had not been incorporated therein and I remarked upon it, whereupon it was stated, in substance, that after consultation with the other member of the committee he or they had concluded that the request that their candidate be permitted 'to address the electors at Camp Upton on the issues of this municipal campaign' covered it all and that it was not necessary to say anything else.

"I then exhibited a printed copy of the 'Municipal Platform' of the Socialist Party and got it identified as correct by the committee. It contained an indorsement of 'the stand taken by the Socialist Party of the United States in opposition to war' and a pledge of 'hearty support' in its efforts 'to procure the repeal of the conscription law.'"

After considering the request, Major Gen. Bell said he wrote to the committee refusing the request. He said he had earnestly endeavored to treat all candidates alike, but he will not extend privileges prohibited by the rules. He added:

"I have never expressed or intimated to any one that I considered Mr. Hillquit's doctrine 'treasonable or unpatriotic.' In fact, I have expressed no opinion whatever on that subject. I do not consider it appropriate that I should unnecessarily permit myself to discuss such abstract political questions. The real question to which my official duty required me to address myself was whether I could rely upon Mr. Hillquit to comply in his personal addresses with the spirit of the regulations above quoted. After my interview with the committee representing him I concluded I could not. Then my duty became plain."

The Major would not comment upon the letter.

Makes Loan an Issue.

The War Committee of the Lawyers' Club last night adopted resolutions demanding "the strongest opposition" to any candidate for Mayor who refused to support the Liberty Loan. Of the candidates, Mayor Mitchel has subscribed $2,000, Judge Hylan $600, William M. Bennett "several thousand," and Morris Hillquit has refused to subscribe anything.

BENNETT WANTS AID OF PARTY MACHINE

TELLS OF HIS CONFIDENCE

Makes a Speech in Wall Street District Assailing Bankers as "Recipients of Great Charity."

In speeches delivered in Brooklyn last night William M. Bennett, the Republican nominee for Mayor, announced that he had made a formal demand on Chairman Samuel S. Koenig of the New York County Republican Committee for use of the headquarters and all the machinery of the Republican county organization in Manhattan and that he intended to make a similar demand today on Chairman John J. Knewitt of the Bronx County Republican Committee. He said that he was sure of carrying Brooklyn, Queens, and Richmond. It was said last night that Chairman Koenig was not at all unlikely to heed the demand of the Republican nominee.

Mr. Bennett's letter to Chairman Koenig is as follows:

Hon. Samuel S. Koenig, Chairman New York County Republican Committee, 105 West Fortieth Street, New York City.

My Dear Mr. Chairman: At the recent Republican primary I was nominated as the Republican candidate for Mayor of the City of New York.

As a result of a careful canvass in Brooklyn, I have absolute confidence that I shall carry Kings County by at least 25,000 votes. Careful canvasses also convince me that I shall also carry Queens and Richmond.

I feel that I should not permit Manhattan to be lost to me by neglect.

Governor Whitman, in his statement contained in the newspapers of Oct. 15, stated that I am "entitled legally and morally to the Republican name, Republican emblem, and the use of the Republican machinery."

I shall be at the headquarters of the Republican County Committee, 105 West Fortieth Street, New York City, tomorrow (Friday) afternoon at 3 o'clock, in order that the machinery of the local organization may be put back of my candidacy.

Very truly yours,

WILLIAM M. BENNETT.

Mr. Bennett went into the Wall Street district yesterday morning and spoke from an automobile in front of the office of J. P. Morgan & Co. to a big crowd. Mr. Bennett took the bankers and financial men who are supporting Mayor Mitchel to task as lacking in civic pride.

"There is one class of the recipients of great charity from the city that the Mayor is not anxious to exhibit to the public view," said Mr. Bennett. "That is the bankers of the city.

"The inauguration of the movement for reforms in the city's financial methods should have come from the bankers. Instead of taking an interest, however, in seeing that the affairs of the city were properly administered, the bankers of the city have been eager to have new bond issues floated in order that they may get their commission on the sales. They have been eager to keep the city in a condition where it has to borrow money in anticipation of taxes, in order that they—the bankers—may realize the interest on the loans. In the last ten years the city has paid $36,470,837 in interest on temporary loans, made by bankers in anticipation of the collection of taxes."

MAYOR URGES WAR UNITY.

Says Divisions in America Can Only Prolong the Conflict.

Speaking at one meeting in Brooklyn and two in Queens last night, Mayor Mitchel emphasized the issue of loyalty, which he said was not of his making, but which he couldn't dodge if he would. The Brooklyn meeting was at Fleet Street Church, 362 Bridge Street, near Myrtle Avenue, and the congregation was made up of negro citizens. The Mayor led up to the loyalty issue by asserting that the election of Judge Hylan, his Tammany opponent, would be a victory for the seditious and it would give the appearance that the city favored sedition.

At the two Queens meetings, one at Columbia Hall, Ozone Park, and the other at Firemen's Hall, Jamaica, the Mayor was enthusiastically received, and both halls were crowded. Several thousand workmen gathered at noon yesterday in the large garage of the Robert Gair Company at Front and Adams Streets, Brooklyn, hoping to hear Mayor Mitchel and Judge Hylan discuss the issues of the campaign. The Mayor appeared as he did on the previous day, and was heartily cheered. Judge Hylan was absent. While he was speaking Mayor Mitchel was interrupted with cries of "Where's Hylan?" "Why isn't Hylan here?" and "Is Hylan afraid to meet you?"

"The man who is not brave enough to come here to meet you face to face, eye to eye, and answer questions has not much title to the office of Mayor of the City of New York," the Mayor said, while the crowd roared its applause. "Judge Hylan does not dare to come here—and most of you I have no doubt are members of his party—and discuss questions as he would if he were honest and fearless."

GRANTS MOOSE PETITION.

Court Forbids Printing of New York County Nominations.

The application of John J. O'Connell for an order directing that the New York County ticket purporting to have been placed in the field by petition under the Bull Moose emblem "be not printed" on the ballots for use on Election Day was granted yesterday by Supreme Court Justice Donnelly. Ex-Postmaster Edward Morgan, who was named thereon as candidate for County Clerk, told the court that he had not consented to the use of his name. Mr. O'Connell said that his name had been used without his consent as one of a committee to represent the nominators.

As to the city ticket of the "Progressive Party," headed by Judge Hylan, Brooklyn nominators said that the party had been active enough to keep things going in that borough, and the court allowed the petition to stand.

Wants Labor Party Off Ballot.

Saul E. Rogers, an attorney who said he represented Mayor Mitchel, obtained an order from Supreme Court Justice Hendrick in Part II., Special Term, yesterday to show cause why the city ticket of the Social Labor Party should not be thrown out. Rogers said that 3,380 signatures to the petition to nominate Edmund Seidel for Mayor had been gone over and that 444 were signatures of men who had not registered, while thirty-seven signers had "repeated," or signed more than once. Justice Donnelly reserved decision after listening to arguments of counsel.

Mitchel Leads at Columbia.

The daily straw vote being taken among the students at Columbia University resulted yesterday as follows: Mitchel, 131; Hillquit, 91; Hylan, 30; Bennett, 5. The poll to date is as follows: Mitchel, 768; Hillquit, 562; Hylan, 131; Bennett, 66.

BETTING CONTINUES LIGHT.

Wagers of About $8,000, with Hylan the Favorite, Reported.

Curb bets of about $8,000 on the Mayoralty election were reported yesterday at the odds which have prevailed with fair steadiness for the last ten days at 2¼ and 2½ to 1 with Hylan the favorite to defeat Mayor Mitchel. Brokers commented on the little interest taken in betting in this campaign. Other odds quoted, but with little money showing, were 8 to 5 that Mitchel runs ahead of Hillquit, and of 1 to 5 that Hillquit is elected. The bettors have paid scant attention so far to the candidates for lesser offices.

An even money wager of $500 that Hillquit would carry the Bronx was placed yesterday with Fred Schumm, Brooklyn betting commissioner. Edgar F. Lee, a stock broker, placed a bet of $2,000 against $1,000 put up by George Spawn, another broker, that Hylan would get more votes than Mitchel. An even-money bet of $1,000 was placed with Schumm that Hylan would win by at least 50,000 plurality.

Betting in Brooklyn was light yesterday, Mitchel men demanding two to one and Hylan men holding out for odds of 10 to 6. There was little Mitchel money in sight, but some small bets were placed at the shorter odds.

Indict Republican Leader.

John D. Gunther, President of the Twelfth Assembly District Republican Club, in Brooklyn, formerly an Alderman, and now assistant clerk in the Sixth District Municipal Court, was indicted yesterday on charges of fraud in the recent Mitchel-Bennett primary contest. Gunther was arraigned before Judge Lewis L. Fawcett, pleaded not guilty, and was held in $2,500 bail.

All About Liberty Bonds

WHAT Are They?

Liberty Bonds are engraved certificates bearing the guarantee of the Government and People of the United States to repay in gold the full amount loaned, with 4% interest every year.

Liberty Bonds are as safe as the United States.

WHY Should I Buy Them?

Because we are at war. Because we must have dollars as well as men in the fight for freedom. Because every Bond you buy helps to win the war. Because they are the safest investment in the world today.

HOW Can I Buy Them?

For each $50 subscribed pay:

$1 down
$9 on November 15, 1917
$20 on December 15, 1917
$20 on January 15, 1918

If you wish, you can buy Liberty Bonds on still easier terms, only $1 down and $1 a week for each $50 Bond at many Banks, Trust Companies, Investment Houses, Stores, etc.

You don't need a bank account to buy a Liberty Bond.

WHERE Can I Buy Them?

At any Bank, Trust Company, Investment Banker or Department Store.

Every dollar you pay goes to the Government. No commissions are charged to you or paid to any one.

WHEN Shall I Buy Them?

Buy them NOW. The Loan closes tomorrow, when your opportunity ends.

Our soldiers and sailors will GIVE their lives. You are asked only to LEND your money. If YOU can't fight, your money can. A bond may save a life. A bond will help to end the war.

You Must Decide Today

Will You Buy Liberty Bonds for America, or Will You Keep Your Money for Germany?

THE SECOND LIBERTY LOAN CLOSES AT NOON TOMORROW

You have but a few hours to decide a question which you cannot evade ---a question you must answer in one way or another,

Are You For America, or Are You Against America?

You cannot answer this question by words. You must answer it by your acts. The time for talk has passed.

SO far as this country is concerned, Germany has made no attempt to conceal her plans.

The Kaiser told Ambassador Gerard, many months ago, that "America had better look out"; that he "would stand no nonsense from America."

The hope of Germany, to-day, is that she may achieve such a victory as will enable her to recoup her depleted treasury by a huge money indemnity, and secure the vast stores of food and supplies of which she stands in such desperate need.

With one exception, the countries with which Germany is at war are straining every nerve to meet their own necessities and feed their own people.

That exception is the United States. Here, and here alone, is to be found the inexhaustible treasure-house of money and material wealth upon which Germany must levy if her victory is to be actual and complete.

Germany will exert to the last ounce the tremendous power of which she is still capable; she will gladly make any imaginable sacrifice, if she can thereby visit upon America the fate under which unhappy Belgium now lies prostrate and despoiled.

Our danger is not theoretical. It is real. It is not a distant possibility. It is imminent.

Our men and money must win the war in Europe NOW.

Our men are on the way. Our money must follow promptly. To withhold the money is to tie the arms of the soldier. To delay is to tempt fate—a fate so terrible that it is unthinkable.

We all know that, if the Loan is to be a success, every one of us must bear his share; that its failure would mean dismay and discouragement for our soldiers, and new hope and courage for our enemy.

To-day is the day when you must make your personal decision ---the Loan closes at noon to-morrow.

Will you buy Liberty Bonds for the United States, or will you keep your money for Germany?

If so, you may say you "have done your full duty."

When you put money in the bank, do you say you have done your full duty to yourself and your family? Or do you save up more money, and put that in the bank too?

You may say you "can't afford to buy more bonds."

Are you sure? Have you sincerely tried to devise some way to save at least a dollar or two more a week? You could do it if you had to—won't you do it for your country?

Remember that while you are helping your country you are saving for yourself. Some time in the future you may need the money a great deal more than you do now. Your savings are safe in Liberty Bonds. They pay 4% interest, and any postoffice will cash your coupons.

HYLAN ACCUSES A TAX OFFICIAL

Charges $6,519,276 Assessment of Consolidated Gas Co. Was Cut to $2,661,500.

SAYS BOOKS WERE 'FIXED'

Tells Real Estate Men That Favors to Rockefeller Interests Have Raised the Tax Rate.

Speaking at the dinner of the Real Estate Men's League at the Biltmore last night, Judge John F. Hylan, Tammany candidate for Mayor, announced that he had filed with District Attorney Swann yesterday charges of "irregularities" against an official in the Tax Department in assessing the property of the Mutual Gas Lighting Company, a subsidiary of the Consolidated Gas Company.

"So that there may be no obstruction of justice, I shall not mention in this disclosure to you tonight the official whom I have named in the information sent to the District Attorney," said Judge Hylan.

Mr. Hylan told the real estate men that the official he had in mind, with the sworn statement of the company that buildings and equipment on which it was to be assessed were valued at $6,519,276, had fixed the valuations on the books of the Tax Department at $2,661,500. The Tammany candidate said it had been a practice in the department this year to withhold from the deputies who generally handled such matters the sworn reports of the Consolidated Gas Company as to the value of its property, and that it was only through sheer accident that the blank containing the statement of the Mutual Gas Lighting Company had gone into the regular office channels.

"So you will see the gas company saves taxes on $4,000,000, and other property owners and rent payers must bear the burden," the speaker continued. "I do not know what happened to the 'Form S' reports of other subsidiaries of the Consolidated Gas Company, but I do know that the total valuation of the property of the Consolidated, including equipment, according to their own figures, is $33,460,376. I do know that the assessed valuation of that same property, as fixed by the Mitchel Tax Commission of 1917, is only $23,456,000. I do know that the gas company through the favoritism of Mayor Mitchel's appointees has been relieved from taxation on $10,000,000 of its property, and you and I and the other property owners of this city have to make up for it.

"The records of the State Tax Commission for the first six months of this year show that of 2,039 parcels sold, the average rate of assessment was 111 per cent. of the selling price. The official records also show that the Consolidated Gas Company property was assessed at less than 70 per cent. of the value sworn to by its own officials.

"Can you now understand why the Rockefeller interests that control the Consolidated Gas Company are fighting so desperately to re-elect Mr. Mitchel, whom they also control?"

Earlier in his speech Judge Hylan recited figures to show that assessments on property belonging to ex-Senator William H. Reynolds, William M. Greve, and Frank Bailey, indicted in connection with the Rockaway Park land deal, had been reduced repeatedly by the municipal Tax Commissioners under Mayor Mitchel, and that upon one occasion some property they had purchased from the State and were preparing to sell to the city had been assessed at ten times what they paid for it, at their own request, just before the land was disposed of to the city.

Judge Hylan said that the tax budget had been increased by $29,000,000 this year and that E. P. Goodrich, Director of the Bureau of Municipal Research, had declared that "we must frankly face the increase."

"I have had some investigations made and have found that the increases in the assessed valuation of real estate are not applied to all property owners. For example, Reynolds, Greve, and Bailey, the indicted favorites of the Mayor, have had assessments decreased on three parcels of their property from $920,000 to $508,550. Specifically these decreases are as follows:

"On the Brighton Beach property, $290,500; on the Plum Beach property, $81,200; on the Tebo Basin on Gowanus Canal, $49,750.

"The Tebo Basin property is a striking example of the favoritism shown to Reynolds, Greve, and Bailey. There are two parcels of that property. In 1914 one was assessed at $250,000 and reduced to $236,000. In 1916 another reduction was made to $180,850. The second parcel was reduced in 1916 from $26,300 to $19,700. On Aug. 30 Reynolds, Bailey, and Greve sold these two parcels, and mortgages were recorded on them to the amount of $300,000, which is $100,000 more than the assessed valuation. Of course, the real value of the property was necessarily in excess of the mortgage. While Reynolds, Bailey, and Greve were favored by these reductions in assessed valuation, owners of abutting property met with silent scorn when they appealed for relief.

"But the assessed valuation of the property of Reynolds, Greve, and Bailey is not always reduced. Sometimes it benefits their pocketbooks to have it raised, and they always find officials ready to oblige.

"When this indicted trio, operating under the alias of the Neponsit Realty Company, were buying the forty-seven acres from the State, the assessed valuation of the adjoining property owned by the company was decreased; when the company was selling to the city the assessed valuation on this same land was increased—the increase on the books of the Tax Department being from $390 to $3,900 an acre. The purpose of the 1,000 per cent. increase was to bolster up the price the city would have to pay."

One of the features of the dinner was the brisk bidding for Liberty bonds. Several large purchases were made by Tammany leaders, and after the dinner, it was asserted that in the neighborhood of $350,000 worth of bonds had been taken.

Judge Hylan wound up by pleading for the re-election of District Attorney Swann. He also read a speech at a luncheon of the Broadway Merchants' Club, at Broadway and Myrtle Avenue, Brooklyn, yesterday.

HILLQUIT SAYS HYLAN SIDESTEPS THE WAR

DECLARES MAYOR IS CANDID

Asserts Wigwam Workers Tell Pacifists That the Judge Is Against War.

While Judge Hylan is saying nothing about his views on the war, Tammany workers are quietly approaching pacifists and pro-Germans with assurances that Judge Hylan is against the war, it was charged last night by Morris Hillquit, the Socialist candidate for Mayor, in his speech to a crowd of 1,200 at Terrace Garden, where a meeting was held under the auspices of the Irish Progressive League.

The Socialist candidate praised Mayor Mitchel for his explicitness in taking his stand on the war, and addressed a series of questions to Judge Hylan, in the hope of inducing the Tammany candidate to say whether he is for the war. Hillquit was received with great enthusiasm, but the cheering for him did not equal in volume or in length the booing and hissing for Mayor Mitchel. Judge Hylan was languidly hissed on several occasions. Mr. Hillquit said:

"It is to the credit of Mayor Mitchel that he has made his stand on this vital issue perfectly clear and definite. Mr. Mitchel is an ardent advocate of continuing this war until the Central Powers are crushed and until the Allies are in a position to impose upon their enemies a 'victor's terms of peace.'

"And now how does the Democratic Party, how does Judge Hylan, stand on this most vital question? The voters of New York are entitled to know it, they are entitled to a clear statement without evasion or equivocation from the mouth of a man who appeals to their support and suffrage. Heretofore Judge Hylan has attempted to satisfy the electorate of the city with the expression of vague and meaningless patriotic sentiments, while, as I know personally, his lieutenants and Tammany ward heelers have been assiduously spreading the impression among certain classes of voters, particularly the workers, that their candidate is opposed to war and to the war policies of the National Government. I ask Judge Hylan to answer categorically and definitely:

"'Does he share Mayor Mitchel's war views, or is he opposed to them?'

"'Does he favor the continuance of the war until there is a complete and decisive victory of the allied arms, or does he advocate an immediate, negotiated peace without conquests or punishments?'

"I sincerely hope that Judge Hylan will answer these questions. If he will not, the Socialists will see to it that the people of this city force him to answer or they will take judgment by default against him. This is no time for side-stepping and equivocation. Out with your colors, Judge Hylan!

"The voter knows who he is voting for if he votes for Mayor Mitchel. He is voting for militarism, for snobbishness, and for predatory interests. If he votes for Hylan, he is casting a vague, colorless, evasive, needless, and cowardly vote. If he votes for Hillquit, he votes for liberty, for justice and for peace."

Two Spoonfuls of Sugar a Day Saved by Every American Will Keep France Going

So limited is her available supply of this indispensable energy-food that the daily allowance for each person barely covers a silver dollar.

War has seriously interfered with the world's sugar production. Until the new cane crop in Cuba and other tropical countries comes into the market, the supply in the United States will be enough for our needs only by rigid economy.

Everyone must do his and her part to save sugar. Use it sparingly and do not waste it. If every American saved but two spoonfuls of sugar a day, this would be enough to give France the sugar her people need.

This Company has no surplus sugar to sell. This advertisement is simply an appeal to the public to use sugar sparingly until a new supply can be obtained.

The purpose here is to give the facts, so that the people of the New England and Atlantic Coast States may understand the exact situation and cooperate effectively with our Government in its present efforts.

Do not pay an increased retail price.

Buy A Bond and Save A Soldier

THE money you pay for your Liberty Bond goes to buy food, clothing, arms and ammunition for our Soldiers.

It will help shorten the war. It may save a precious life.

You want to see the brave lads who are now going abroad come home in safety, and victorious.

Stand by your Government. Back up the boys who fight for it. Buy all the Liberty Bonds you can.

WHERE TO BUY BONDS
Don't forget that you can buy a U. S. Government 4% Liberty Bond at any bank, trust company, bond house or department store. Don't be afraid to go into any bank and ASK. They will tell you about several easy payment plans. If you do not get service, notify

Suppose YOU Were Going Over the Top

Out into night, into the roar of shell fire, through the barbed wire and the mud, into the enemy trenches---would you stop to count the cost?

No, you would go without question because it was your duty. You would not stop to ask about the safety of the undertaking. You would not stop to argue as to the amount of glory you might earn. You would not suggest that some one else be sent in your place.

You would just go, head down through hell on earth because your country asked it.

But you are not going over the top. You are at home with your friends and your family. You are called upon by your Government simply to lend money to back up the soldiers who will go into the trenches for you in France. Your dollars will save their lives.

You will not even stop to consider that Liberty Bonds are the safest investment in the world.

You will not question the interest rate of four per cent.

You will not let others come forward with their money while yours lies idle.

You will act because it is your plain duty (your plain duty at a profit to yourself), because human lives are at stake, because lending money to the Government here today will save human agony on the fields of France, tomorrow.

You will go to your bank and put every dollar you have saved and every dollar you can borrow at work---at work saving lives and bringing those sons and husbands and brothers home, alive, victorious. Delay costs blood. THE BLOOD OF OUR SONS.

—until WE end this War

THREE years ago last August a war was declared and entered upon in Europe. Few of us looked on it as our war, nor as a war that might ever, in any spiritual or material way, affect us.

Most of us bought several newspapers a day, and there was news to read. The "scrap of paper"—the marvelous fighting spirit of little Belgium—the irresistible rush and drive of Germany's mighty war machine—artillery thundering at the gates of Paris. It was all vastly interesting.

"In three months"—some said—"the war will end."

* * * * * * *

France bled, with a smile on the lips of her men, and the light of martyrdom in the eyes of her women.

England called to her colonies, and, in Canada, in Australia, in India, men looked for the last time on their children, and answered her call.

"Six months more"—some said—"and the war will end."

* * * * * * *

To-day the war endures, and it is our war. Make no mistake about that. It will not end until we end it.

The ill effects of war touch each home in our country; they affect every man and woman and child within the boundaries of the United States. The conditions under which our lives, and our children's lives, are lived, will not again be sweet and clean, constructive and helpful, until we end this war.

Steamships loaded with food sail from our harbors toward starving Belgium. They are sunk as they sail.

Not one ship can sail a safe sea—until we end this war.

No one can know what his money will buy—until we end this war.

Our young men leave their schools and their plows and their desks, and march away to the beat of drums.

No man's son may live the life that has been lovingly planned for him —until we end this war.

The Red Cross holds out one hand to us, while with the other it soothes the agonies of those who die across the sea.
The awful need for our aid will increase—until we end this war.

* * * * * * *

The reason why we must end this war is because we are the only people who can end it.

Because this is so, all other nations are watching us; some with longing, some with hatred, some with skepticism, some with confidence. They watch, while the test of our integrity, as a Nation, is being applied.

What lies before us is a United-States-of-America kind of a job. It must be ended in the United-States-of-America way; — Ended! Finished!!—DONE!!!—with no waste of time, or money, or blood. It cannot be ended in that way without the immediate aid of every citizen of this country.

Your Government is working, as no other Government has ever worked, to end this war. It asks you to help it now by investing in some money in Liberty Bonds.

That money will be used, promptly and wisely—towards ending this war in the shortest possible time. It will bring you interest of 4 per cent., and every dollar will be returned to you.

* * * * * * *

If you wait for your neighbor to act, you delay the completion of the work.

If you say, "I don't see how I can invest in Liberty Bonds" you have no right to look unflinchingly into the eyes of your neighbor who has found a way to do so.

If the fact that you already own a Liberty Bond leads you to the false thought that you need not buy more, you have no right to say, "Good-bye, Good Luck, and God Bless you" to one of those boys who marches away towards France.

If you subscribe for a Liberty Bond to-day, you will find a way to pay for it, and you can sleep soundly to-night, because you will have helped to bring the end of this world war a little bit nearer.

TWO ORCHESTRAS OPEN THEIR SEASON

DAMROSCH SPEAKS OF WAR

Bach and Beethoven, He Says, Must Not Be Regarded as Prussians, but as Creative Artists.

The two chief orchestras of New York, the Philharmonic Society and the Symphony Society, (they are mentioned here in alphabetical order,) began their season yesterday, both in Carnegie Hall. The audiences at both concerts were large, both conductors were received with enthusiasm when they appeared, and both began the program with "The Star-Spangled Banner." The concert of the Symphony Society, which took place in the afternoon, was the first of its additional series of concerts which are to be given there, the regular series being continued in Aeolian Hall.

Mr. Damrosch made a speech before beginning his program concerning the playing of German music in this country. While we are at war with Germany, and we must strike as hard and as quickly as possible till victory is assured, the civilization of our country, he said, must not halt, and the needs of religion and of art must be met to the full. Bach, Beethoven, and Brahms are not to be looked on as Prussians, but as great creative artists contributing to the development of the world; they no longer belong to the country in which they were born, but are part of the artistic life of the civilized world. He hoped that his listeners agreed with him and that the coming concerts would be a refuge from war and a solace for its wounds.

Mr. Stransky said nothing; but his program, containing one American, two French, and two German compositions, implied similar views.

"Anthony in Wonderland" to Close.

"Anthony in Wonderland" at the Criterion Theatre, will be withdrawn after tomorrow night's performance, and "The Love Drive," a comedy by Sydney Rosenfeld, will have its first performance at that house next Tuesday. The new piece, which was originally known as "Under Pressure," will have Fred Niblo, Violet Heming, and Hilda Spong at the head of the cast.

Check Up All Exemptions.

The papers in more than 300 military exemption cases handled by New York boards were called for by the Department of Justice yesterday. It is understood that reports have been received indicating irregularities in many instances not due to lack of vigilance but to clever deception practiced by men seeking to escape service.

It was also said that the papers of all men who have been exempted, several hundred thousand, will be checked up.

CONSTANTINE HAD FEARS.

Ex-King of Greece Quoted as Preferring Suicide to Fighting Kaiser.

LONDON, Oct. 25.—A dispatch to the Exchange Telegraph from Athens says that in a debate in the Chamber of Deputies on the proposal to send the members of the late Gounaris Cabinet before the High Court on charges of not meeting their ministerial responsibilities, Premier Venizelos told of a conversation he had with former King Constantine. Replying to a suggestion that Greece join the Entente, the former King was quoted by M. Venizelos as having said:

"How can I present myself before the Emperor (meaning the German Emperor) if I go against him?"

M. Respoulies, Minister of the Interior, quoted Constantine as having said to him:

"I would prefer to commit suicide rather than go against Germany."

Copeau's Actors Freed from War.

Word was received here yesterday by the directors of the Theatre du Vieux Colombier that all of the actors engaged by Jacques Copeau abroad have been released from the trenches, and that Mr. Copeau and a company of thirty are now on their way here. The release of the men from service is said to be unprecedented in war time.

Call Fails to File a Brief.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—Emphatic denial is made today by the Post Office Department that decision in the case of The New York Call is withheld until after the Mayoralty election. Decision has been delayed because of the failure of The Call to present a brief.

THEATRICAL NOTES.

A. E. Anson, at present starring in "The Barton Mystery," which will close tomorrow night, will be Laurette Taylor's leading man in "The Wooing of Eve," her next offering at the Liberty. The final performance of "Out There" will be given on Nov. 3 and "The Wooing of Eve" will have its premiere on the night of Friday, Nov. 9.

"Good Morning, Rosamond," a play recently produced in stock by Jessie Bonstelle in Buffalo and Detroit, will soon be seen in the East. Annie Hughes will be in the cast.

Howard Kyle and Otto Kruger have been added to those who will appear at the children's matinees at the Cohan & Harris during Christmas and New Year's weeks.

A benefit performance will be given at the Astor Theatre Sunday night, the proceeds to be devoted to the dependent families of employes of the Borough President's office who are in service. Vaudeville and pictures will make up the program.

"The Star Gazer," a musical piece by Franz Lehar, Cosmo Hamilton, and Matthew C. Woodward, will begin an engagement at the Majestic Theatre, Boston, on Nov. 3. Jan Charles Thomas and Beth Lydy head the cast.

"Service," by Henri Lavedan, and "A Night at an Inn," Dunsany's one-act play, will soon be produced out of town as a double bill. Harrison Grey Fiske and Madison Corey are making the production.

Edward Childs Carpenter's new play, "The Three Bears," will be produced in Detroit next week by the Frohman company, and Ann Murdock will be seen in the leading role.

Walker Whiteside will make his first appearance in "Mr. Jubilee Drax" next Monday at Stamford. The play will be brought to New York in a few weeks.

Mrs. Oliver Harriman, President of the Junior Patriots of America, has arranged for a benefit performance at the Hippodrome on the night of Sunday, Nov. 11, the proceeds to be devoted to the families of those who lost their lives on the Antilles.

"We Should Worry," a musical comedy by A. Baldwin Sloane and Henry Blossom, had its first performance last night at the Apollo Theatre, Atlantic City.

RED CROSS PAGEANT FILLS METROPOLITAN

The National Red Cross Pageant, recently given at the Rosemary Open-Air Theatre at Huntington, L. I., was successfully repeated at the Metropolitan Opera House last night in the presence of an audience which filled the house. Secretary Daniels and Rear Admiral Usher witnessed the pageant from a box, and the list of other boxholders, patrons, and patronesses included many people of prominence. The performance was participated in by about 500 players, including more than a score of the best known actors and actresses on the American and English stages.

The advantages of the Metropolitan stage and scenery rendered the episodes which made up the first part of the program even more impressive dramatically than upon the occasion of their presentation outdoors, and "The Drawing of the Sword," much of which called for speaking, also was more effective. Prior to the second part an appeal for Liberty Loan subscriptions was made by Sir Johnston Forbes-Robertson.

Among those who took part in the performance were E. H. Sothern, Ethel Barrymore, David Bispham, Frances Starr, Maxine Elliott, Elsie Ferguson, William H. Crane, James T. Powers, Edna Wallace Hopper, Irvin S. Cobb, Mrs. Ben Ali Haggin, Kitty Gordon, Annette Kellermann, Olive Tell, Shelley Hull, Walter Hampden, and Marjorie Rambeau. Miss Rambeau also appeared as usual at the Maxine Elliott Theatre.

The performance will be repeated tonight with the same cast.

NEW YORK, FRIDAY, OCTOBER 26, 1917.

SPEAKER CLARK'S ACCUSATION.

It is the duty of the Federal District Attorney in New York to cause Speaker CHAMP CLARK to appear before him and present the evidence upon which he bases his charge that "a ring of New York financiers is "hampering the Government in its "Liberty Loan campaign, endeavoring "to make it a partial failure so that "the next Liberty Loan will bear a "higher rate of interest." This evidence should be in the hands of the District Attorney in order that he may secure the indictment and conviction of any New York financiers or other persons who may be endeavoring to hamper the Government in its efforts to secure subscriptions for the bonds of the Liberty Loan.

Mr. CLARK made this very serious charge in an interview given just before he made a Liberty Day speech at Oklahoma City. He said further:

> These men are the spiritual descendants of the ring that operated in just such an emergency during the civil war, and by their methods forced the price of war bonds to 40 and 50 and one day to 39. It is the duty of every citizen to make this loan a success in spite of these New York traitors. I positively refuse to divulge the source from which I obtained the information upon which I make this accusation.

Mr. CLARK was not speaking under Congressional privilege. Congress is not in session. He spoke as a private individual and under the same responsibility that rests upon any other individual for the truth of his words. If they are true, then there are men in this city who are guilty of a crime against the Federal Government, a crime punishable under its laws. It makes no difference that Mr. CLARK refused to divulge the source of his "information," the District Attorney can find means to put him upon his proofs. If he has no proofs, if the charge is untrue, in uttering this calumny he has committed an offense also punishable under the laws, since the very accusation obviously tends to discourage and deter intending subscribers to the Loan.

As we here in New York have watched the progress of the Liberty Loan campaign, the bankers and financiers of the city appear to have been unsparing in their efforts for promoting its success; they have offered every possible inducement to subscribers, the facilities of the banks have been marshaled in the service of the Loan, and by exhortation, appeal, example, sacrifice, and extraordinary labors, the bankers and financiers have sought to swell the daily volume of subscriptions. If there are any among them known to Speaker CLARK to have been engaged in efforts to hamper the Government, they ought to be brought to book. Speaker CLARK should be forced either to prove the truth of his words or retract them.

IF SOLDIERS CAN BUY BONDS, WHY NOT YOU?

It is an inspiring example that our soldiers in France and the army camps at home set the laggards who have not bought Liberty bonds yet. When the sun went down on Liberty Day the total of subscriptions by the boys in khaki amounted to nearly $50,000,000. General PERSHING reports that in some commands every man has come forward with his contribution for the purchase of shell and cartridges to be used in the war to save democracy.

What a grand record that is, too, from the officers' training camps, and from the camps of the National Guard and the National Army! Plattsburg planned to make the amount $547,000, a thousand dollars for every yard of the battle sight fire when the boys "go over the top." That was the Plattsburg way, and what a glorious enthusiasm to serve in the cause of human liberty it signified! But instead of raising the total in view, Plattsburg subscribed $1,750,000. The same spirit prevailed at all the camps, north, south, east, and west. It makes one's blood tingle to go through the list and see how nobly the Guard and the Draft responded. Camp after camp, all bearing the names of our military heroes, bought Liberty bonds of a value between one and two millions of dollars, putting, one regrets to say, many of our small cities and towns to the blush.

But there is still time to emulate the example of these soldiers who, in addition to risking their lives for America, are ready to give their pay to help provide the sinews of war.

A GOVERNMENT OF CRIME.

Those citizens who do not like this or that little thing about the Mitchel administration must remember that they are not only voting to put somebody out of office. They are also voting to put somebody in. They will not be voting even to put the absurd HYLAN in. They will be voting to put in the leaders of an organization which, when it was in before, was in business partnership with professional criminals and ruled New York in combination with them. They will be voting for a return to the government of criminals and their accomplices who reduced this city to the condition discovered by the Lexow Committee. In GUSTAVUS MYERS's "History of Tammany Hall" the discoveries made by that committee are summarized, and we quote a part of the summary:

> The average cost of obtaining an appointment as policeman was $300. The police functionaries recouped themselves in various ways. * * * One woman who kept a number of houses of ill-repute testified that she had paid continuously for protection an aggregate of $30,000 or more. The system reached such a perfection in detail that a ratable charge was placed upon each house according to the number of inmates, the protection prices ranging from $25 to $50 monthly. Women of the streets paid patrolmen for permission to solicit, and divided proceeds.
>
> Visitors were robbed systematically, and the plunder was divided with the police. More than 600 policy shops paid at the monthly rate of $15, while poolrooms paid $300 a month. It was noted by the committee, as a remarkable fact, that when public agitation grew very strong, a private citizen, RICHARD CROKER, secured the closing of these places practically in a single day. Every form of gambling had to pay high prices for immunity.
>
> Green goods swindlers were required to make monthly payments, to subdivide the city into districts, and, additionally, in case the victim "squealed," to give one-half of the plunder to either ward or Headquarters detectives. Saloons paid $20 monthly, according "to the established custom." The police also acted in collusion with thieves and dishonest pawnbrokers. Almost every branch of trade and commerce was forced to make monthly payments, and from every possible source tribute was wrung. The committee incorporated in its testimony the estimate of Foreman TABOR of the Grand Jury that the annual income derived from blackmailing and different sources of extortion was $7,000,000.

A vote against MITCHEL is a vote for this. It is what Tammany is fighting for.

THE TWO ATTACKS.

The German offensive in Austria is doubtless partly military and partly political. The French offensive in France is entirely military. The Germans, who have constantly based their hopes on the demoralization of first one and then another of their enemies, have now turned their eyes to Italy. They believe that sedition and social discontent there can be worked up into a condition which will take the Government's eyes off the front; they couple Italy and Russia together as countries which they hope to destroy by backfire. It is not so long since they were talking hopefully about the United States, where a German-American revolution was sure to start whenever we declared war, to say nothing of a Mexican uprising against us on the south and a Japanese invasion on the west. But repeated disillusionments do not break the German hope; they only turn it to some new quarter, and just now it is Italy.

As long as Italy continued to win victories the backfire would not start. Germany evidently argues that a defeat will start it, and undertakes to provide the defeat. Without this political reason, there is a sufficient military reason, but that reason has never availed before to send a German army to Austria, in spite of Austria's cries for help. The two things work in together now.

But General PETAIN's advance is purely military. The present fighting on the west front consists of little bounds forward. The objective is always close at hand, usually in plain sight of a man without field glasses. When General HAIG monotonously reports, "All our objectives were attained," he is speaking of a point close at hand, within easy walking distance. This has been the mode of campaigning all through the Summer and Autumn. It is not so glorious in sound as it would be to sweep irresistibly through the German lines for miles and capture a city, but attempts to do that sort of thing used to fail, and this succeeds. The Germans never push the French and British out of the positions so won, and the Allies move imperturbably forward to another. The intervals between the advances are getting shorter and shorter. Each little forward leap, short as is the distance covered, is accompanied with great German losses and consequent shaking of German morale; though it is not often that they yield such large results in that respect as this latest advance of PETAIN's.

Trench warfare, as it was known a year ago, has disappeared, and the fighting now is virtually open. The end of each battle is known in advance by Germans as well as Allies; each side knows when the barrage begins that at the end of the day another little bound will have been made by the French or British, "all their objectives" again attained, and the Germans will be further back than at dawn, even though it be only a few hundred yards, their pillboxes and shell craters taken after a preordained failure to do more than delay the enemy, and Germany poorer by many lives. The inevitability of this results from the mode of fighting. In short-distance advances like this the Allies are irresistible; and the knowledge that each day's fighting must infallibly produce the same result as that of the other days is enough to take the heart out of any German soldier.

THE LIBERTY LOAN PARADE.

The Liberty Loan parade, prevented by the malice of the weather Wednesday, was a triumphant march yesterday, along miles of stirred and patriotic citizens. Almost every business and professional and civic activity, every race of this city of nations, was represented in that procession of liberty. The shipping, hospital and surgical floats, soldiers and sailors, the British tank, machine guns scowling from its monstrous armored sides, the airplanes hovering overhead, were concrete arguments, striking to every eye, for the loan. They brought the war nearer. They visualized it. Especially the tank, waddling along like some dread gigantic scientific thunderlizard, roused the cheers of the multitudes. And the neck-stretching, boyish ardor of everybody to gaze at the airplanes emphasized the too long American neglect of an American invention, still a wonder among us.

There is a sort of communicative zeal in such a procession. The music, the marchers, the concentration of great crowds on a single patriotic purpose, produce an effect that burns into the mind and memory. It was a noble spectacle, and it came on a day when the response of the whole United States to the support of liberty was coming in mighty and ever-mightier volume.

PORTRAITS OF JUDGE HYLAN.

Judge HYLAN's portrait has been painted for him by his sponsors. He was allowed to add but one, a characteristic if borrowed, touch, a warning against "the Rockefeller press." "Of my honesty, my intelligence, my "capability, let my life and record "speak." So the official painters. Judge HYLAN in his earlier period composed a canvas which has the merit of truth to the subject. The public is familiar with that likeness, that true effigy. He has been concerned with men of known dishonesty. He has been involved in transactions that were not characterized by a high ethical or professional standard. He is at least a bad judge of the honesty of others, a fatal deficiency in a man who aspires to make appointments to office.

Of his intelligence the portrait in his earlier manner gives an unflattering picture. The Magistrate who testified before a State Commission that whisky is made of vegetable and mineral substances, who insisted that whisky ought to have been mentioned by name in the excise law, who required policemen to take the stand as experts to pronounce on distilled and rectified spirits, was either grossly unintelligent or eager to evade the enforcement of the law, or both.

Of his intelligence and capability the portrait which he has painted of himself since he became a candidate for Mayor speaks only too amply. He cannot be trusted by his managers to say more than a word for himself. He repeats mechanically the now stale falsehoods and calumnies dictated to him. He shows no knowledge of city affairs in any department. From the beginning of his campaign he has done nothing but retail at second hand exploded inventions and preposterous fables. Even Tammany accepts him with the enthusiasm of a sick man when a dose of bitter medicine is gulped down.

"Twenty years ago," the Tammany artists make him say, "I began that "fight for good government in which "I am still and always shall be en"gaged." That is a delicious piece of irony. One can hardly resist the impression that Mr. MURPHY's artists are "having fun with" both him and his candidate.

Judge HYLAN's candidacy is an insult to the public intelligence.

USING ENEMY PROPERTY IN THE WAR.

The process provided in the Trading with the Enemy act for taking over "all money and property in the United "States belonging to an enemy or ally "of enemy" and administering it for war purposes will be understood by intelligent Germans resident in this country, but from the German propaganda more or less misrepresentation may be expected. Property in the name of, or belonging to, private individuals, firms, and companies will not be confiscated outright. International law does not sanction that, and the United States is not a pirate nation. After the war, the right of ownership will be recognized, and there will be restoration of the property taken.

It may calm excited persons who come under the head of "enemy or ally of enemy" (they may be resident in this country) to know that up to the beginning of the great war there had been no case of confiscation of private property in any conflict that occurred in the nineteenth century, and until the Germans threw international law to the winds in their war with civilization. At the same time, private enemy property may be used by a belligerent in the prosecution of a war, the matter being regulated by the municipal law. With the declaration of war, commercial intercourse is interdicted. That is a fundamental principle. Legislation is, however, necessary to define what is "trading with the enemy" and to prescribe penalties. The act which became a law on Oct. 6, 1917, was an unusual piece of legislation in that the nature, conditions, and unprecedented character of the war with Germany made imperative not only absolute prevention of trading with the enemy by very precise definitions, but the acquisition of all private enemy property to be used to carry on the struggle. Every dollar counts appreciably in this greatest of all wars.

German citizens abroad and those resident here who may be proclaimed allies of the enemy under the terms of the act own property of an immense value in the United States: commodities, funds, securities, debts, patent rights, and so on. All of this is now to be turned over to the Alien Property Custodian, A. MITCHELL PALMER, by trustees as well as by others. Included are royalties on "German-owned" patents. The money or property so acquired may be invested in Government bonds. There are many "German-owned" patents which will be of great service in the prosecution of the war. After its conclusion the enemy proprietors will be compensated in all cases where the property was in good faith of private ownership and not of military character.

All business by "enemy or ally of enemy" in this country is not prohibited. For instance, enemy insurance companies may continue to do business if licensed by the President; and in certain circumstances, as when patents are believed to be infringed, the "enemy or ally of enemy" may sue in our courts.

In fact, the rights and interests of enemy owners of property are well safeguarded. When peace returns, there must be an accounting, under the direction of Congress, and in certain case by order of the President or through court of equity process. What a factor in the winning of the war this sequestration will be, may be judged from the estimate that property of a value of a billion dollars is to come into the possession of the United States.

TOPICS OF THE TIMES.

Collecting from the Wrong End.

On Nov. 2—a week from today—when the increase of letter postage goes into effect, and for some time thereafter, it is certain that great numbers of people will either be ignorant of the change or forget it. The result will be the mailing of many thousands of letters stamped at the old rate, and, whether this is done for one or the other reason, a lot of trouble and inconvenience, in and out of the Post Offices, is going to follow.

That, of course, is no argument, or at least not a sufficient argument, against the raising of needed revenue in this particular way. It is, indeed, a very good way, for the distribution of the imposed burden is about as wide and about as nearly equitable as is possible in the case of any tax. One notices, however, that the department authorities have decided to deal with the mass of underpaid mail after a fashion that at least seems to be not the best they could have devised.

For they say that, whenever they can, they are going to send these inadequately prepaid letters back to the senders, and only when that cannot be done are they going to deliver a letter to the person addressed and collect the extra penny from him. No explanation or defense of this procedure is given, and yet it is fairly evident that it will cause a wholly unnecessary delay in the delivery of the letters at their destination, besides imposing on the Post Office Department the doing of much unnecessary work. A simpler and apparently more sensible plan would be to send all such letters as addressed, and to have recourse to the writers of them in the second, instead of the first, instance. Sometimes the writer couldn't be found, presumably, but that would occur no oftener than at the other end of the transaction, and surely the receiver of a letter would pay the extra cent more cheerfully than would the sender of it, particularly as a delay of several days or a week would probably make it expedient for him to write another and somewhat different communication.

It is, indeed, the sender's fault that his letter is not fully prepaid, but his sufficient punishment will come in the shape of his correspondent's resentment at what, to him, will look more or less like an attempt to evade the new tax.

Likely to End The Trouble.

As a means of terminating at once the basely instigated and encouraged riots of public school pupils in this city, the plan adopted by the Board of Education has the merit of promising to be effective. It is to expel or suspend the pupils over 16 years of age who participate in these absurd protests against the absurdly misrepresented and calumniated duplicate system, while the younger children will be subjected to a stern enforcement of the penalties of the truancy law.

That will put the responsibility for the continuance of the disturbances, as distinguished from their origin, exactly where it belongs, and that is on the parents. They, or most of them, can make their offspring behave if they choose, and failure on their part to do it will result in serious trouble for both the parents and the children. Among the other consequences there will be one, as regards the older pupils, that has been falsely said to be imposed by the Gary plan—it will in effect condemn those expelled to lifelong manual labor by depriving them of the higher forms of education.

It is a pity that the expedient devised by the board does not reach offenders who deserve punishment more than do either the parents or the children. Far heavier guilt lies on the carefully hidden inspirers of the riots, not all of whom belong to the much-denounced class of professional politicians.

OPPOSE BARNARD'S LINCOLN

Representative Americans Declare It Unfit for Paris or London.

Thirty-three leaders in architecture, painting, literature, the professions, and business have signed a protest against the erection of replicas of George Grey Barnard's statue of Lincoln in London and Paris. The new protest against the statue will appear in the next issue of The Art World, which has contained many articles in criticism of the statue. It characterizes the statue as a "false, inadequate, and unworthy representation, and continues:

> The idea of the sculptor would seem to be that the greatness of Lincoln is to be measured by the incongruities suggested between what he accomplished and what this statue represents him to have been. Even if the physical facts about Lincoln were here truthfully given (as the testimony of contemporaries proves that they are not) it is not these facts, but Lincoln's greatness of soul upon which permanent attention should be centred—not upon his falsely asumed uncouthness and slovenliness, but upon his nobility, his wisdom, his intellectual power, his steadfastness, his breeding (love of country), and his tender heart. Of these, unfortunately, Mr. Barnard's statue has no hint.

The protestants say that no such gift should be made without the approval of the National Commission of Fine Arts, and also challenge the submission of the statue to the judgment of various art societies and clubs. The signers of the protest are:

BRADY ART UP TO $46,142.

French Statuette of a Bacchante Brings Highest Price, $530.

There was standing room only again at the fourth afternoon of the Diamond Jim Brady sale at the American Art Galleries yesterday. Ex-Governor Franklin Murphy of New Jersey, Mr. and Mrs. Emil Winter of Pittsburgh, Mrs. Joseph T. Johns of Buffalo, Arthur Hoe, the Countess de Valmond, and Mrs. P. W. Rouss were among those present. Returns for the day were $17,272, a grand total of $46,142.

A French gilt-bronze statuette of a Bacchante, signed J. L. Gérôme, a standing nude female figure, with a tiny amorino climbing a tall pole which she holds, brought the highest price of the day, going to Rudert, agent, for $530. Two paintings on ivory, "Bataille de Friedland—1807" and "Retraite de Moscou—1814," both signed Michat, in ormolu Empire frames, went to the same buyer for $350. A Japanese decorated ivory tusk vase went to Mrs. A. M. Lamport for $300. For a couple of elaborately carved ivory tusk vases, in relief and undercutting, H. J. Foster paid respectively $205 and $185. A Japanese ivory statuette, the figure of Kwannon, richly bejeweled, carrying a rosary and a luxuriant floral spray, intricately carved, signed Meido, went to H. S. Rubens for $280.

One of the interesting pieces of the collection, which went to G. C. Canfield for $525, was a French carved ivory statuette of Chrysis, the heroine of Pierre Louys's novel, as Aphrodite, standing nude on the summit of the Pharos at Alexandria. An ivory relief carving, the "Bull Fight," went to Clapp & Graham for $390.

QUEEN HAILS OUR AID.

Strength and Hope of Rumania Renewed, Says Queen Marie.

JASSY, Rumania, via Petrograd, Tuesday, Oct. 23, (via London, Oct. 25.)—Rumania will fight to the bitter end until the struggle for the freedom of the world and the restoration of the rights of small nations is achieved, Queen Marie told The Associated Press today. America's entry into the war and the aid given Rumania have renewed the strength and hope of the country.

"Never will we lay down our arms until the cause to which we have consecrated our lives is vindicated," said the Queen, her voice full of determination and emotion.

America's aid, Queen Marie said, came at the crucial hour when the need was greatest.

"Our hearts warmed with gratitude," she said, "and our hopes were reinspired by this evidence of America's generosity. I wish The Associated Press to convey my most sincere thanks to the entire American nation for the noble way in which it has come to our assistance in the hour of suffering. I am aware that millions of your people, even the most humble, made this aid possible by contributions. Therefore, I hope my voice, conveying my heartfelt gratitude, will reach every corner of the States, penetrate even the smallest home, and be heard at the humblest table around the poorest hearth.

"The mothers, children, and soldiers of Rumania bless America's great name. Each sufferer well knows that Rumania's ally overseas has come to the rescue in the time of trouble, and as their Queen I voice their gratitude to America, which is the whole-hearted expression of the eight millions of my people."

The Queen paid tribute to Charles J. Vopicka, the American Minister to Rumania, whose "efforts in the States toward securing aid for our stricken country will long be remembered."

MINERS' PRESIDENT RESIGNS

John P. White Becomes Adviser to Fuel Administrator Garfield.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Oct. 25.—John P. White resigned today as President of the United Mine Workers of America, and will leave Sunday for Washington, to assume his duties as adviser to Dr. H. A. Garfield, Fuel Administrator, dealing with labor problems. In his letter of resignation Mr. White said:

"The wage agreement reached in Washington recently is subject to the Federal Government's revision of the coal prices at the mines. I am hopeful that the Government will act favorably and that its decision will become effective Nov. 1. When this is done, it will be only a matter of form to apply corresponding increases in the anthracite fields and the outlying bituminous districts of the country."

Naval Auxiliary to Handle Comforts.

Mrs. Herbert L. Satterlee, Chairman of the Comforts Committee of the Navy League, at 509 Fifth Avenue, announced yesterday that hereafter all gifts of knitted garments for the sailors of the United States Navy would be sent through the New York Naval Auxiliary of the Red Cross. Since the difficulty between Secretary of the Navy Daniels and the Navy League, organizations affiliated with the latter body have been compelled to send their gifts through other channels, and for several weeks the finished garments sent to the Comforts Committee in this city have been forwarded in the name of Mrs. Satterlee.

WAR'S LESSON.

Beneath the crushing, brutal blow
Thine iron hand has dealt,
The fires of every nation glow:
The hearts of nations melt.

Before the furnace of thy breath
Eternal ardors rise,
And where thine hand has wielded death
Are melded loyalties.

Calm ages turned mankind apart,
Peace sowed its tares of hate;
Now, at thy word, the harvests start
That crown the ultimate.

Mankind beholds the waste of days,
The futile, empty years,
When chains of greed dragged separate ways
To end in pain and tears.

Beneath the vengeful overthrow
Of human plot and plan,
Humanity has come to know
True brotherhood of man.

TEUTONS REOPEN PEACE DISCUSSION

Welcome the Opportunity Given by Russian Council of Workmen and Soldiers.

NEW OFFER IS ADVOCATED

COPENHAGEN, Oct. 25.—The Austro-German press has eagerly seized the occasion of the statement regarding a basis of peace announced by the Russian Council of Workmen's and Soldiers' Delegates to reopen the discussion of peace, which had been declared closed after the reply to the Pope. In this the papers follow the example of their respective Governments, which Reventlow sarcastically said "rival Patti in the number of their absolutely last farewells" to peace proposals and which "miss no opportunity to attempt to open pourparlers in the hope of getting out of the war."

The pro-peace press welcomes the statement. The Norddeutsche Allgemeine Zeitung and the Fremdenblatt, though criticising it because of the indefinite character of the demands, characterize it as a plain, straightforward statement of definite peace proposals.

Vorwärts says that the points in the Russian statement which are mentioned in the semi-official replies as unacceptable, are presumably the demands for plebiscites respecting Alsace-Lorraine and the Italian enclaves, Austria wittingly ignoring the fact that the announced German program for "securities" as to Belgium is incompatible with the demand of the Workmen's and Soldiers' group for full Belgian restoration.

The Vossische Zeitung demands that Germany declare its definite solidarity with the Russian program and offer Russia definitely peace without detachments of territory, leaving the determination of the fate of Poland, the Baltic provinces, and other like territory to the Russian Republic in order to help the Russians force an acceptance of a peace conference upon the Allies and pave the way to a continental alignment against Great Britain and America, which is the aspiration of the Vossische's school of political thought.

One writer says that the all-important thing for Germany is to get the representatives of the various belligerents around a council table and the rest will take care of itself.

BUELOW'S CLASHES RECALLED.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

THE HAGUE, Oct. 25.—The Social Democratic majority organ, International Correspondenz, discussing the question of Chancellorship candidates, says that, as in the July crisis, the Pan German Conservatives are again trying to reinstate von Bülow, and appear to have forgotten the incident of the Kaiser's interview in the London Daily Telegraph when von Bülow left the Kaiser in the lurch.

The paper says that some of the Centrists favor von Bülow, but that they seem to have forgotten the Bülow-Dernberg strife in 1907. The irony of this, it continues, is that these parties are the same old "black-blue bloc," which, in July, 1909, unseated von Bülow. The paper predicts that von Bülow would certainly follow von Bethmann's policy, even if he be a finer diplomat.

Vorwärts says it is a matter of indifference to the Conservatives that von Bülow is personally antagonistic to the Kaiser.

Although no definite resolution has been taken at secret discussions of party leaders in caucus, all the majority parties, from the Social Democrats to the National Liberals, are agreed that the Chancellor must go. The Frankfurter Zeitung remarks that the factions still disagree as to who the strong man should be.

At these discussions von Payer's absence is considered significant, and it is possible he is unwilling to identify himself with the majority. It is even suggested that he may be offered the Chancellorship. A prince of the ruling house is also suggested as Chancellor.

The Morgen Post says that the civil cabinet has had discussions with the majority leaders, and that a speedy settlement may be expected. It adds that the Kaiser's decision to split the Ministry of the Interior so that Helfferich retains the Vice Chancellorship would look as if the Chancellor also stays.

The Tageblatt says today that decisions in the crisis may be expected shortly, and that Michaelis is optimistic, but that the majorities is of another opinion. Vorwärts thinks the crisis may last until December, when the Reichstag reassembles.

KAISER UPHOLDS MICHAELIS

Does Not Consider the Chancellor's Resignation Necessary.

AMSTERDAM, Oct. 25. — Dispatches from Berlin say that the German Emperor does not consider the resignation of Dr. Michaelis as Chancellor necessary and that it is therefore probable that Michaelis will remain in power.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

BERLIN, Wednesday, Oct. 24, (via London, Oct. 25.)—Prince von Bülow, former Chancellor, is still stopping at the Adlon. Yesterday he had repeated conferences with leaders of various parties in the Reichstag.

Herr von Hintze, German Minister at Christiania, has just arrived in Berlin. He is a special favorite of the Kaiser, who has great confidence in his diplomatic abilities.

DESPAIRS OF WINNING JAPAN

Vain to Expect Her to Fight America, Says German Expert.

COPENHAGEN, Oct. 25.—Captain von Salzmann, military critic and Far Eastern expert of the Vossische Zeitung of Berlin, warns his readers that they no longer have the right to count upon a future war between Japan and the United States, which has become a fixed idea with the average German and a definite element in the Government's political calculations.

This element, the Captain writes, must be eliminated for a long time, at least, and Germany instead must count upon Japan entering the Paris economic agreement and participating in an anti-German post-bellum business war.

INVITES SULTAN TO BERLIN.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

BERLIN, Wednesday, Oct. 24, (via London, Oct. 25.)—The Kaiser, before leaving Constantinople, invited the Sultan to visit Berlin. If he comes, as is expected, it will be one of the few times a Sultan has left his own dominions since the great Turkish wars of conquest ceased and the Turkish monarchs made Constantinople their headquarters. This tradition has been so strictly observed that Sultans within the last few centuries have not even traveled in their own empire, but have spent their days in tranquillity and splendor at their residences on the Bosporus. A great sensation was caused, therefore, when in 1867 Sultan Abdul Aziz visited the Paris World's Exhibition. In his company was the twelve-year-old boy who later ascended the throne as Sultan Abdul Hamid, the brother and predecessor of the present Turkish monarch.

The present Sultan, while deeply religious, has very modern ideas, and it is expected would enjoy a visit to Berlin very much.

DERNBURG ASKS QUESTIONS.

Adopting Asquith Role, He Inquires About Allies' Intentions.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

THE HAGUE, Oct. 25.—Dr. Bernhard Dernburg, former German Colonial Secretary, has made another speech on political questions, saying that what England can do Germany also can do.

"As to Asquith's questions about Belgium," he said, "Germany can also put a few questions, such as, "What do you think about the return of the German colonies, the full independence of Belgium, the French-Russian agreement, the freedom of Mesopotamia and Arabia, and the right of selection of nations? If Alsace-Lorraine is to be given back to France, what is the limit as to readjustment of former national frontiers?"

PREPARE FOR HARDSHIPS.

Germans Will Have to Wear Wooden Shoes and Eat Plenty of Turnips.

COPENHAGEN, Oct. 25. — Some of the prospects which the German people are called upon to face the coming Winter are officially announced in today's German newspapers as follows:

There is only enough shoe leather for the use of miners, fishermen, canal workers, and a few allied trades. The manufacture of leather will soon be suspended, and the rest of the population will have to get along with wooden soles and cloth uppers.

There is a big shortage in vegetables and no hope of any material improvement in the fresh vegetable supply. The turnip must again be one of the mainstays of German diet this Winter, although to a less degree than last year.

The fuel problem has not been solved, despite all the efforts, and the city populations may expect to notice the results of this fact keenly from time to time. The Coal Commissioner prophesies that the pinch will be felt here and there within the next few days.

The Railway Administration of Saxony announces that railway travel will not be allowed without special permission. Soldiers in the home camps are limited in their week-end furloughs, and Saturday and Sunday trips of mothers and sweethearts to see the boys in camp are stopped in order to cut down railway travel. The Prussian railways probably will follow suit.

Finally, after the fashion plates for Winter are out, the Government has decreed that women's skirts must be made with a reduced amount of material, which will necessitate their being made both shorter and tighter.

TURNS IRONY ON VAN AALST.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

THE HAGUE, Oct. 25.—In "An Amsterdammer's Diary," a column devoted to humor, the Amsterdam Telegraaf publishes a letter purporting to be President Wilson's answer to the open letter addressed to him recently by President Van Aalst of the Netherlands Overseas Trust. The letter of Van Aalst has been republished by every newspaper in Holland, and various Chambers of Commerce have expressed their approval of it.

The Telegraaf's imaginary letter begins in English:

"Old man, take your hands out of your pockets and put your coat on. As President of the United States, I am accustomed to talk freely in my shirt-sleeves, but I can't permit this from strangers."

The letter says that Wilson has much sympathy with the Netherlands, as his grandmother was Dutch. It continues:

"Why, old chap, has America gone to war? To make Europe an American colony and spend some of our war earnings. * * * We wage war for freedom and democracy. I hear you laugh. Our pockets are bulging with money and the war may last twenty-five years.

"Your Government has done nothing but talk of your independence and neutrality, though it has never been neutral through fear of complications. Are you independent? My dear boy, no question of it."

The letter says that America does not intend to leave Holland in its little snug corner with its war earnings, and goes on:

"Ask your dear friend Kroeller [considered the most pro-German of Dutch statesmen] when he will write an open letter to the Kaiser. Shake hands, old duffer. Yours, &c., Wilson."

The letter is intended to hit the pro-German party in Holland, against which the Telegraaf has been carrying on a vigorous campaign.

Confer with Ambassador Page—Will Address British Workers.

LONDON, Oct. 25.—Twelve American Congressmen who are making an unofficial tour of the war area conferred this morning with Ambassador Page for more than an hour. The Ambassador then invited the Congressmen to luncheon at his house. Later the visitors separated into small parties for sightseeing trips, and tonight they visited the American Officers' Club and American hospitals in London.

Tomorrow will be devoted to visits to various Red Cross hospitals, after which the Congressmen will go to the industrial centres and make speeches to workers in the munitions and shipyard districts, explaining to them the preparations that are being made in the United States for carrying on the war.

NAVAL CHIEFS CONFER.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25. — Admiral Browning of the British Navy, who is attached to the British permanent war mission here, was in conference late this afternoon, at the Navy Department, with Admiral Benson, chief of operations of the navy, and with Franklin D. Roosevelt, the acting Secretary of the Navy.

No announcement followed the conference and no disclosures were made, but it gave rise to the belief that American naval officials, on the basis of reports made by Admiral Mayo, who recently returned from England, where he studied the naval situation, have entered upon the collaboration of Anglo-American plans for naval operations this Winter and next Spring.

The British Admiralty and the Navy Department are co-operating closely in the work of keeping all the Entente nations supplied with basic and manufactured war materials through the control, distribution and protection of merchant marine tonnage.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—Estimating that there are now approximately 200,000 employes in the yards engaged on Government work, the Shipping Board holds that 300,000 more are needed to insure that between five and six millions of additional tonnage are off the ways by the end of 1918. It hopes to fill that deficiency by holding out inducements that will attract to the yards labor that ordinarily would not drift to them.

German Naval Officer Interned.

Jacob von Horn, who was one of the officers on the German cruiser Geier, which steamed into Honolulu Harbor before the United States entered the war to escape from British and Japanese warships, was picked up here last night and taken to Ellis Island for internment. It is not known how he reached this city, but is supposed to have come to the United States before this country declared war against Germany.

ARREST 2 IN PARIS AS AIDS OF GERMANY

MONEY FROM SWITZERLAND

PARIS, Oct. 25.—The arrest yesterday of Pierre Lenoir and William Desouches charged with trading with the enemy has again brought scandal to the fore in the French newspapers.

L'Action Francaise, the newspaper of Leon Daudet, who recently obtained much prominence because of charges made in connection with the Bolo Pacha case, asserts that the case of Lenoir and Desouches is more important than that of Bolo Pacha. The newspaper connects the men with Prince Hohenlohe-Oehringen, chief of the German espionage system in Switzerland.

The arrest of Lenoir and Desouches, says the Matin, kwas due to a statement made by Lenoir's former chauffeur, a man named Achilles Henri Debruyn, who asserted that one day, in the middle of July, 1915, Lenoir and Desouches received two small trunks carefully sealed. Immediately afterward Debruyn drove Lenoir to the house of a friend, Mme. D'Arlyx, to whom Lenoir made a present of 500,000 francs. The next day and on following days, according to the statement of the chauffeur, Lenoir sent Debruyn out to change a number of one thousand franc notes. These statements, says the Matin, were verified by the police, and it was further found that Desouches had deposited several million francs in the Champs Elysées branch of a big bank, whereupon the arrest of Lenoir and Desouches was ordered by the public prosecutor.

According to other newspapers, the money received by the men amounted to 10,000,000 francs, and that it came from Switzerland in such a manner that the customs authorities could not examine it. It was in old, well-thumbed French notes. Nine million francs, it is asserted, were used to buy the Journal from its original proprietor, Henri Letellier, and 1,000,000

NOT TO SEIZE FUNDS OF ALIEN RESIDENTS

LIGHT ON ENEMY TRADE ACT

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—So much confusion has arisen among business men as to the provisions of the Trading with the Enemy Act that an official interpretation of the law, bearing directly upon the issuing of licenses, was promulgated by the Bureau of Enemy Trade today for the guidance of business.

In this connection it was explained by A. Mitchell Palmer, Enemy Property Custodian, that the act did not in any way deal with enemy aliens in the United States.

Reports from Pittsburgh today informed Mr. Palmer that many foreigners in the mills of that city, fearing that the Government would confiscate their savings, had been drawing them from the banks. The act does not authorize him to seize the property or money of enemy aliens resident in the United States. Mr. Palmer emphasized that point, hoping to prevent possible runs on small banks, issuing this statement:

"Some misapprehension seems to exist relative to the status under the Trading with the Enemy Act of citizens or subjects of Germany and its allies resident within this country. Such persons are not included within the term 'enemy or ally of enemy' as employed in the act. The moneys on deposit in banks in the country belonging to such persons are not liable to seizure by the Government, and will not, therefore, be taken into the possession of the Alien Property Custodian."

The Act Explained.

In explanation of the decision of the law dealing with licenses for those who wish to engage in business with the enemy, the statement of the Bureau of Trade reads:

"First—A 'trading with the enemy license' is required when any person in the United States desires to 'trade directly or indirectly with, to, or from, or for, or on account of, or on behalf of, or for the benefit of, any other person with knowledge or reasonable cause to believe that such other person is an 'enemy' or 'ally of enemy,' or is conducting or taking part in such trade directly or indirectly, for, or on account of, or on behalf of, or for the benefit of an 'enemy' or 'ally of enemy.'

"Second—The act defines 'enemy' and 'ally of enemy' as one person, no matter of what nationality, who resides within the territory of the German Empire or the allies of that country occupied by their military forces. Even a citizen of the United States who has elected to remain within such territory is an 'enemy' or 'ally of enemy' within the provisions of the act. Further, any person residing outside of the United States, of whatever nationality and wherever he resides, who is doing business within such territory is within the statutory definition of 'enemy' or 'ally of enemy.' So, also, is any corporation created by Germany or any of its allies. So, also, is any corporation created by any other nation than the United States which is doing business within the territory of Germany or its allies or in territory occupied by the military and naval forces thereof.

"Further, for the purposes of the act, the Government of any nation with which the United States is at war, the Government of any ally of such nation, any subdivision of any such Government, and any officer, agent, or agency of such Government is an 'enemy' or 'ally of enemy,' and the act makes no restriction as to where the officer, agent or agency may be located.

President May Extend Scope.

"The President, if he shall find the safety of the United States; or the successful prosecution of the war shall require, may, by proclamation, include within the term 'enemy' or 'ally of enemy' such other individuals or body or class of individuals, other than citizens of the United States, as may be natives, citizens or subjects of any nation with which the United States is at war, or of any ally of such nation, wherever resident or wherever doing business. The President has not issued any such proclamation.

"The words 'to trade' as used in the act, are defined to mean: (a) To pay, satisfy, compromise, or give security for the payment or satisfaction of any debt or obligation. (b) To draw, accept, pay, present for acceptance or payment, or indorse any negotiable instrument or chose in action. (c) To enter into, carry on, complete, or perform any contract, agreement, or obligation. (d) Buy or sell, loan or extend credit, trade in, deal with, exchange, transmit, transfer, assign, or otherwise dispose of or receive any form of property. (e) To have any form of business of commercial communication or intercourse with.

"Third—If an application for a trading with the enemy license is made, one of the following application forms should be used:

"1. If it is desired to export an article, the exportation of which has been restricted, and the exportation in the particular case also involves trading with a person who there is reasonable cause to believe is an 'enemy' or 'ally of enemy,' or is acting in such transaction on behalf or for the benefit of an 'enemy' or 'ally of enemy,' application for license to export and trade with the enemy should be made on application form A6.

"2. If the export of the article has not been restricted, but the exportation involves such 'trading with the enemy,' application for license to 'trade with the enemy' by exportation should be made on application form ET2.

"3. If it is desired to import merchandise, the importation of which is not restricted under Secton 11 of the Trading with the Enemy Act, and the importation involves trading with a person who there is reasonable cause to believe is an 'enemy' or 'ally of enemy,' or is acting in the transaction on behalf of or for the benefit of an 'enemy' or 'ally of enemy,' an applicaiton for a license should be made on application form ET3.

"4. If it is desired to engage in any form of financial transaction involving trade with a person who there is reasonable cause to believe is an 'enemy' or 'ally of enemy,' or acting in the transaction on behalf of or for the benefit of an 'enemy' or 'ally of enemy,' application should be made on application form ET4.

"Such a general license, if granted, will cover the series of transactions described in the application.

"6. If it is desired to obtain leave not merely to export or import goods in transactions which involve trading with the 'enemy' or 'ally of enemy,' but at the same time to secure permission for a particular method of making or receiving payments for the same, it will be necessary for the applicant to make use of and to forward, physically attached to each other, an application on form A-6, or ET-2, or ET-3, as the case may be, and an application on form ET-1.

Thirty Days' Grace.

"Four—Any 'enemy' or 'ally of enemy' who is doing business within the United States, through branch houses or otherwise, may continue to do business within the United States for thirty days after Oct. 6, 1917. If such 'enemy' or 'ally or enemy' desires to further continue to do business in the United States, it must prior to the expiration of such thirty days, make application for license to so continue, and during pendency of that application it may continue to do business. During this time all persons in the United States may deal with such 'enemy' or 'ally of enemy' in the United States without applying for license. If no license is granted it becomes unlawful for the 'enemy' or 'ally of enemy' to continue to do business and for any person in the United States to have any commercial relations with him or with anyone acting on his behalf or for his benefit, without a license.

"5. Citizens or subjects of enemy or ally of enemy nations resident in the United States are not 'enemies' or 'allies of enemies' merely by reason of their citizenship, and all persons in the United States may continue their commercial relations with such subjects of Germany and its allies without applying for or securing licenses, unless there are other facts than citizenship present which bring them within the definition of 'enemy' or 'ally of enemy' set forth above, or unless the President should exercise the power granted to him by statute to extend the definition of 'enemy' and 'ally of enemy' by proclamation to include such persons.

"This is also true of 'enemy' or 'ally of enemy' subjects resident outside the United States, who are not resident in the territory of the enemy or ally of enemy nations or doing business within such territory. The act, however, makes it unlawful not only to trade with a person with reasonable cause to believe that he is an 'enemy,' or 'ally of enemy,' but equally with any person with reasonable cause to believe that such person is conducting or taking part in such trading, directly or indirectly, for or on behalf of an 'enemy' or 'ally of enemy,' and it is immaterial what the citizenship, nationality, or residence of such person may be."

LOYAL PRESS SAFE, BURLESON ASSERTS

Postmaster General Says Only Those Who Print Sedition or Treason Need Fear.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—The scope of the Espionage and Trading with the Enemy acts, in so far as they affect the Postal Service, and how they are to be enforced against disloyal publications are explained at length in a letter to publishers made public today by Postmaster General Burleson.

The laws were made necessary, Mr. Burleson said, by a nation-wide propaganda, intended in every possible way to interfere with the successful prosecution of the war. He added that no publisher who was at heart loyal to his country should have any apprehension of embarrassment or inconvenience from their administration.

"No one connected with the Government," said the letter, "from the President down, seeks by reason of these laws to avoid criticism, or even attack, but no publication containing matter which falls within the prohibition of the law will be permitted to circulate."

As interpreted by the Post Office Department, the acts make it unlawful for any person, firm, corporation, or association to mail, or to transport, or carry, or otherwise publish or distribute during the war any printed or other matter:

1. Advocating or urging treason, insurrection, or forcible resistance to any law of the United States.

2. Conveying false reports or false statements intended to interfere with the operation or success of the military or naval forces of the United States or to promote the success of its enemies.

3. Intended to cause insubordination, disloyalty, mutiny, or refusal of duty in the military or naval forces of the United States.

4. Intended to obstruct the recruiting or enlistment service of the United States to the injury of the services of the United States.

5. The circulation or publication of which involves the violation of any of the numerous other criminal provisions of the Espionage act, but which are not of special interest to publishers.

6. Printed in a foreign language containing any news item, editorial, or other printed matter respecting the Government of the United States, or of any nation engaged in the present war, its policies, international relations, the State or conduct of war, or any matter relating thereto, unless the publisher or distributer thereof, on or before offering the same for mailing, or in any manner distributing it to the public, has filed with the Postmaster at the place of publication a true, complete translation of the article.

7. Referred to in the preceding paragraph for which publishers have received a permit to circulate, free of restrictions named therein, but which does not bear at the head thereof in the English language the fact that such a permit has been granted.

MISS ELSIE SALTUS WEDS J. T. MUNDS

MISS WOOLLEY A BRIDE

Daughter of Mrs. Cornell F. Woolley Marries John H. Acheson in Chapel of St. George's.

The wedding of J. Theus Munds of this city, a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. J. Dickson Munds of Wilmington, N. C., and Miss Elsie Welsh Saltus, niece of Miss Josephine Chandler Smith of this city, was celebrated at 4:30 yesterday afternoon in St. Thomas's Church, by the rector, the Rev. Dr. Ernest M. Stires, assisted by the Rev. Dr. S. De Lancey Townsend, rector of All Angels' Church. The decorations were shaded pale pink dahlias combined with Autumn leaves that inclosed the chancel, and ropes of smilax instead of ribbons were used along the nave aisle.

The bride, who walked to the altar with her cousin, Russell Perkins, wore a gown of point lace over satin, the lace flounces being bordered with pearls to match the pearls falling over her coiffure from her rose point-bordered tulle veil. The court train, which fell from the shoulders, was chiffon lined and trimmed with orange blossoms. She wore a rope of Oriental pearls and a diamond corsage ornament, the gift of the bridegroom, and carried orange blossoms and white orchids combined and pale pink roses.

The bridesmaids were the Misses Rosalie G. Boodgood, Elizabeth Van Antwerp Manning, Genevieve Clendenin, Alice R. Lawrence, Ruth R. Marden, Florence E. Gilbert, Grace Sands Montgomery, and Sarah Schuyler Butler. Their chiffon frocks ran the gamut of shades in pale rose and orchid blue over flesh-colored satin, and the draperies were edged with silver. Their brown velvet hats were faced with pink and trimmed with orchid and blue ostrich tips and pink ostrich flues to match bordered the apron drapery of their gowns. Blue lotus, yellow orchids, purple pansies, and flame rosebuds with maidenhair fern made up their bouquets.

Mr. Munds's best man was Lyman B. Kendall, and the ushers were Henry Coster Steers, H. Pendleton Rogers, Maury H. B. Paul, Louis de l'Aigle Munds, Henry Rogers Benjamin, Donald W. Lamb, C. R. Coster Steers, Sidney Dillon Ripley, Karrick M. Castle, and the Vicomte Fal de Saint Phalle. One of the ushers in the army khaki and another in the blue uniform of the navy broke the usual monotony of the ushers' dress.

The ceremony was followed by a large reception at Sherry's, the tapestry suite and banqueting room being used. After their honeymoon Mr. and Mrs. Munds will live at 470 Park Avenue.

Acheson-Woolley.

The wedding of Cornelia D. Woolley, daughter of Mrs. Cornell Farwell Woolley of 830 Park Avenue, to John Huyler Acheson was celebrated at noon yesterday in the Centennial Chapel of St. George's Church, Stuyvesant Square. The Rev. Dr. Karl Reiland, the rector of St. George's, performed the ceremony.

Miss Marguerite St. George Smith was the maid of honor and only attendant. Howard Acheson acted as best man, and the ushers were W. Acheson Smith, William Picken, Jr., C. Fay Mackey, and Edson P. Pfohl. Following the ceremony a small reception was held at the home of the bride's mother. The couple left later for a short honeymoon trip, as Mr. Acheson expects to be detailed for Government service soon.

Miss Flora Franklin Weds.

Miss Flora Franklin, daughter of Morris Franklin, and Charles Benjamin Warner were married at 6 o'clock last evening in the south ballroom of the Hotel Ansonia, the ceremony being performed by the Rev. Rudolph Wilson.

Bride of Emerson Bigelow.

The marriage of Miss Marian Thatcher Feustman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leoen P. Feustman, and Emerson Bigelow of the Naval Reserve, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Bigelow of Norfolk, Conn., took place yesterday afternoon at the home of the bride's parents, 111 West Eighty-sixth Street.

Florence Weinberg, Artist, to Wed.

Mr. and Mrs. Akiba Weinberg of 47 East Seventy-fifth Street have announced the engagement of their daughter, Miss Florence Weinberg, to Willis Gates Barnet of New York and Albany. Miss Weinberg is a member of the Art Students' League and the Society of Independent Artists, and has been a frequent exhibitor at art exhibitions held in this city. Mr. Barnet belongs to Adelphi and Albany Clubs. The wedding is to take place in January.

Miss La Farge to Wed W. H. Osborn

Mr. and Mrs. C. Grant La Farge of 124 East Twenty-second Street have announced the engagement of their daughter, Miss Margaret La Farge, to William H. Osborn, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Church Osborn of 40 East Thirty-sixth Street.

Soldier Carries 18 Pounds of Metal.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—A table showing that more than eighteen pounds of metal enters into the composition of articles required for the equipment of each infantryman has been prepared by the Ordnance Bureau of the War Department. The metal equipment carried by each infantry soldier weighs 294.65 ounces, and an additional weight of 114.7 ounces is added by equipment of cotton, wool, leather, and wood.

The Ordnance Bureau, therefore, supplies each soldier with approximately twenty-five pounds of equipment, this being exclusive of that supplied by the Quartermaster Corps.

'Get-Rich-Quick' Woman Sentenced.

Mrs. Ida Levine of 95 East 116th Street, who is said to have promised 50 per cent. profit to women investors in her get-rick-quick schemes, was sentenced to six months and not more than three years by Judge Crain in General Sessions yesterday. It was alleged by the prosecution that Mrs. Levine had obtained $50,000 from Jewish women of small means. Mrs. Levine worked on the credulity of the women by telling them that she had the confidence of the wives of wealthy men, who in order to get money to invest in Wall Street sold their jewelry to her

Asks President to Check Suffragists.

Everett P. Wheeler, Chairman of the Association Opposed to Political Suffrage for Women, has written a letter to President Wilson, complaining that Mrs. Anna Howard Shaw and Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, members of the Women's Advisory Committee of the Council of National Defense, are taking part in the campaign for women's suffrage in this State. Mr. Wheeler urges that an executive order be made by the President warning those engaged in public service to keep out of politics.

B. F. Goodrich Co. to Issue Notes.

The B. F. Goodrich Company, manufacturer of rubber goods, has decided to issue soon $15,000,000 6 per cent. notes in order to consolidate the floating debt. The bonds will be retired in blocks every three months, with the entire amount falling due within two years, and they will be available to banks for rediscounting at the Federal Reserve Bank. The notes will be taken by the Central Trust Company, the Chase Securities Corporation, Goldman, Sachs & Co., and Lehman Bros.

SCHOOLING FOR DRAFT MEN.

Those Subject to Second Call May Prepare for the Signal Corps.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—Men subject to the second call to the national army are to have an opportunity to study for work in the Army Signal Corps. The new Federal Board for Vocational Education announced today that, in co-operation with the War Department, it had planned to use every school in the country that could be equipped for this work and any selected men who so desired would be assigned to schools in their towns or districts.

Radio and telegraphing will be taught in night courses. A call has been sent to all citizens properly qualified to serve as teachers and it is hoped to have the schools in operation in the near future. The first call is for the training of 150,000 operators.

Officials of the Vocational Board intimated that the mobilization of the schools for the training of men in this class of work was only the first step in a nation-wide scheme of vocational training designed to meet the urgent war needs of both the army and of industry.

Draft Foes Plead Guilty.

ARDMORE, Okla., Oct. 25.—Pleas of guilty were entered in the Federal Court today by sixty-three defendants accused of draft resistance. The cases against twenty-six others were dismissed. Sentence will be passed tomorrow on those who pleaded guilty.

Lieutenant James B. Griswold.

Lieutenant James Brown Griswold, U. S. M. R. C., who was a physician of Morristown, N. J., before the war, died from pneumonia at his home there while on sick leave from Camp Dix, Wrightstown, N. J., where he was stationed. He was 47 years old and chief sanitary officer of the camp. Lieutenant Griswold was born at Lyme, Conn., a member of a distinguished Connecticut family, two of his ancestors having been Governors of that State. A brother, who was a Major in the army, was killed in the Philippines and another brother is a Lieutenant in the Coast Artillery. Lieutenant Griswold volunteered the day after war was declared and was commissioned May 21. He was a member of the staffs of the Morristown Hospital of Morristown, N. J., and Bellevue Hospital here.

MILLER HUGGINS TO DIRECT DESTINIES OF YANKEES IN PLACE OF BILL DONOVAN

HUGGINS SIGNED AS MANAGER OF YANKS

VETERAN OF BIG LEAGUES

Ninth Man to Handle Destinies of New York American League Club.

Miller J. Huggins, who for the past five years has managed the St. Louis Cardinals, yesterday was signed as manager of the Yankees to succeed Bill Donovan, who has piloted the New York club for the past three seasons. Huggins's appointment did not come as a surprise, as his name has been associated with the position since he had several conferences last Summer with Jacob Ruppert, President of the Yankees, and Ban Johnson, President of the American League. Huggins's contract is for two years.

The New Yankee leader is considered one of the smartest managers in the game and was able to lift the Cardinals from their lowly position to a place in the sunny first division. Huggins knows the game thoroughly and was rated one of the brainiest second basemen of baseball when he played with Cincinnati and St. Louis. He said yesterday, after signing his contract, that his playing days were over, as his throwing arm has not been right for the past few seasons.

Huggins is the ninth in the long list of Yankee managers. First there was Clark Griffith, and in succession came Norman Elberfeld, George Stallings, Hal Chase, Harry Wolverton, Frank Chance, Roger Peckinpaugh, and Bill Donovan. Elberfeld and Peckinpaugh were only managers pro tem and filled in a few weeks when other managers were dropped.

Huggins will bring to New York with him his scout, Tom Connery, who has uncovered several stars in the past few seasons, including Roger Hornsby, Horstman, and Goodwin, the last two being young pitchers of great promise.

Donovan's Plans Unsettled.

Huggins will also retain Bob Gilkes and Joe Kelley as scouts, and President Ruppert stated, when announcing Huggins's appointment, that the Yankees would make every effort next season to give New York an American League pennant winner. Colonel Ruppert asserted that it was with regret that he was forced to part with Wild Bill Donovan, for he holds a high personal regard for the retiring manager. He stated that Donovan had been handicapped through injured players and has endeavored many times to make Donovan's plans are unsettled. Before coming to the Yankees he managed the Providence club of the International League and won a pennant in his first year there.

Huggins for years was the smallest player in the major leagues. He was a great base runner. In 1911 he stole 37 bases and in 1912, 35 bases. In 1912 he finished the season with a batting average of .304. Huggins was born in Cincinnati in 1880 and began his baseball career in 1898 with a semi-professional club in Wapakoneta, Ohio. In 1899, he played with the Mansfield Ohio, club of the Interstate League and in the following year played on the Fleischmanns Catskill semi-professional club. Up to this stage of his career Huggins was a shortsop, but when he signed with the St. Paul Club of the Western League, in 1901, he played second base, and was in that position thereafter during his baseball career.

Huggins was signed by Cincinnati in 1904, and played second base for the Reds until 1909, when he went to St. Louis in a trade for Beebe and Stork. Huggins played there during 1910, 1911 and 1912, when he succeeded Roger Bresnahan as manager of the Cardinals. Huggins has shown himself to be an aggressive, capable manager in St. Louis, and President Tener of the National League said yesterday that he regretted his departure from the league and wished him all success in his new position.

May Remold Yankees.

Huggins's wide knowledge of the managerial end of the game and his skill at developing young players should be a big factor in steering the Yankees to success next season. Huggins is a successful disciplinarian and has the faculty of getting the best work out of his players. He has a strong personality, and there is no reason to believe that he will not be an excellent choice as the leader of the Yankees.

Huggins stated yesterday after signing his contract at the Yankee offices that he would move to this city in a few weeks and begin work on the club's Spring training plans. The club will train again at Macon, Ga. The new manager is enthusiastic about his new place, and although he knows little about the Yankee players he believes that he will have a good club to start work with when the players report in Georgia next March.

Huggins has a fairly good record in the interclub series in St. Louis. In the Spring series, while he was in that city, the Cardinals defeated the Browns in every one except that of 1913, which resulted in a tie. In the post season series, the Cardinals have won two and lost two of the series.

EMERICK LEADS GOLFERS.

Has Best Net and Best Gross Scores in Yale Club Tourneys.

S. P. Emerick, one of the leading golfers of the Hudson River Country Club, led a field of almost fifty Yale Club enthusiasts in the annual golf tournament of that organization held at the Siwanoy Golf Club yesterday. Emerick accounted for the prizes offered by turning in the best gross and best net for thirty-six holes and the best net for the morning round. He began the double journey with an 81, 4—77, and came back in the afternoon with 89, 4—85, which gave him 170, 8—162 for the day. C. S. Hart refused to see all the prizes go to the Hudson River expert, and did well enough in the afternoon to win the net for that eighteen holes with 98, 12—86.

The second low gross for the thirty-six holes was made by W. M. Sherrill, who had 180, 22—158, which also gave him second net laurels. Others who scored well in the double round were H. B. Miller with 190, 18—172; Dixon Boardman with 198, 22—176; C. V. Benton with 182, 6—176; George S. Chappelle with 220, 44—176, and J. P. Adrian with 204, 28—176.

RISLEY HAS BEST CARD.

Strong Wind Causes High Score in Atlantic City Tourney.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Oct. 25.—Nearly a hundred golfers appeared on the links of the Country Club of Atlantic City today in the annual Fall invitation tournament, and Maurice Risley of the home club was the only one able to return a card under 80. Risley, with a 78, led the next man, H. Davidson Herron of Princeton, by five strokes. A strong wind blew over the course, and the high scores are directly traceable to this.

Qualifying among the leaders was L. A. Spindler, the Fox Hills champion, who returned a score of 85, after going out in 39. Several others from the Metropolitan district got in the first division, the limit score being 91, which both R. C. Maxwell and Chester Maxwell of Trenton made. Pierre Proal, an erstwhile Harvard golfer, now playing from Deal, missed the first flight by a stroke.

REACH FINALS ON COURT.

Junior and Boys' Metropolitan Titles at Stake Today.

Play in both the junior and boys' metropolitan tennis championships at the West Side Tennis Club at Forest Hills advanced to the final round in singles yesterday. In the junior event the two who came through were Walter Hanion and the Yonkers expert, Harold Taylor. Hanion had rather an easy time of it in defeating Louis Davidson with the score 6—1, 6—1. Taylor, however, was hard pressed before earning the decision over G. B. Emerson, Jr., three spirited sets, all of which were carried to deuce, being necessary to determine the victor. Taylor won at 8—10, 7—5, 10—8.

In the metropolitan boys' championship those who came through to the final round were Cecil Donaldson, the youthful Brooklyn expert, and Vincent Richards, the national boys' champion. In neither case were the victors hard pressed. Donaldson had a particularly easy time in defeating Harold Maddocks by the score of 6—1, 6—0. Richards earned his victory over R. M. Walsh, and while the latter was able to take three games in the opening set he never seriously threatened his rival. In the last set Richards was working smoothly and Walsh could interpose only feeble opposition to the superlative game which was at the command of the national titleholder.

The doubles tournament, which is a combination of both junior and boys' teams sailing under the title of metropolitan doubles championship, has been held up somewhat. Only one match was played yesterday, this advancing Abraham Bassford, 8d., and Vincent Richards, a team from the boys' division, to the final round. They triumphed over R. M. Walsh and E. S. Dawson in a brilliantly played contest at 6—3, 6—4. In the lower half a second round match is still to be played.

Richards and Bassford played a doubles game in which the individual efforts were well co-ordinated. Both men pressed the attack at the barrier in each set of the match against Walsh and Dawson, and the accurate picking of the openings, and the hard playing through when they were discovered, was an attack that proved far too strong for the rival pair.

The real surprise in the junior singles was the vanquishing of Louis Davidson, who was heralded as the dark horse of the tournament and promised to live up to the glowing predictions which were made. Walter Hanion, however, with a well balanced game that kept Davidson away from the barrier, where he has shown pronounced ability in previous matches, was able to record an astonishingly one-sided victory.

BROWN HAS A HARD DRILL.

Strenuous Afternoon's Work Puts Finishing Touches for Colgate.

Special to The New York Times.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Oct. 25.—The Brown football squad had a hard afternoon's practice at Andrew's Field today in preparation for the Colgate battle Saturday afternoon. Two touchdowns in the formal scrimmage were scored by the 'Varsity over the scrubs, while many more touchdowns were pushed over by the determined first-string backs later in the informal scrimmage.

Injuries to Shaw and Albright were not allowed to shadow this last real workout before the game with the Hamiltonians. With the regular line and Brooks in the backfield, the Brown eleven looked better than at any time since the Boston College victory.

Coach Robinson is careful to prevent injuries or any chance of them, and when Brooks, Weeks, Nichols, and Grabb, half back, end, tackle, and guard respectively, developed limps they were sent to the showers for treatment by Trainer Huggins.

FORDHAM LOSES DEMPSEY.

Full Back Enlists in Army and Leaves Maroon Team.

Andy Dempsey, the Fordham full back, joined the Quartermaster's Department of the army yesterday and severed his connection with the Maroon team. The Newark boy decided to enlist two weeks ago, when it leaked out that he was going to enter the Naval Reserve.

Although Fordham lost Dempsey the Maroon gained an experienced player in Walter Crovat, the former Hamilton Institute star, and last year a freshman at Colgate. Coach McCaffery shifted Brennan from quarter to full back and tried out Crovat at quarter. It is more than likely that the newcomer will start in tomorrow's game against Rutgers.

Fordham had its final hard workout for the Rutgers clash. Coach McCaffery ordered a long signal and defensive drill and a short scrimmage. The regulars had a long spell at breaking up forward passes hurled by the scrubs.

The Maroon back field for the Rutgers game will likely be the same as faced the scrub yesterday, with Crovat at quarter, Erwig and Frisch as half backs, and Brennan as full back. Colletti is sure to break in at some stage of the game.

MRS. BARLOW GOLF VICTOR.

Defeats Mrs. Fox 1 Up in Memorial Cup Tourney.

Special to The New York Times.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 25.—In the semi-final rounds of the Belle Steelman Bumm Memorial Cup golf tournament Mrs. Ronald H. Barlow of Merion defeated Mrs. Caleb Fox, Philadelphia, district champion, 1 up, and Mrs. G. Henry Stetson, Huntingdon Valley, defeated Miss Mildred Caverly of the Philadelphia Cricket Club, 3 and 2.

The match between Mrs. Barlow and Mrs. Fox was exciting. Mrs. Fox was nervous, for at times she played well and at others poorly. Her putting was weak. At the first hole she missed a putt for a win in 4, and on the second hole she over approached, and had to be content with a half in 5.

Mrs. Stetson played steady golf against Miss Caverly and deserved her victory. She was square at the turn, and put the result beyond doubt by winning the next four holes.

FINANCIAL MARKETS

After a display of strength in the forenoon the stock market gave way suddenly and a number of issues closed the day off from 1 to 5 points. The list closed with price changes irregular, but nearly all of them were on the losing side. Some of the rail issues were conspicuous in the decline despite the hope held out by the Interstate Commerce Commission for early action in the direction of higher rates.

An interesting development in the trading was a sharp break in both the Marine issues upon the publication of what purported to be a digest of a plan under advisement for paying off the company's accumulation of back dividends, amounting to 88 per cent. According to this story, the company may pay 15 per cent. of the $88 in cash, 35 per cent. in 6 per cent. notes, and 50 per cent. in common stock. When traders reduced the marketable value of the proposed notes and common stock to dollars they began to sell both the Marine issues. At the close the preferred was off 3¼ points at 89¾, and the common off 1⅝ at 26½. The plan reported to be favored has not received serious consideration by the management, according to one of the Directors.

The board yesterday named a committee of three to suggest action looking towards the payment or reduction of the accumulated back dividends, and it is expected that some action to this end will be decided upon at an early date.

A report that a considerable amount of stocks held in German names had been thrown on the market as a result of the appointment of an administrator to take charge of German funds in this country was accepted in some quarters as a satisfactory explanation of the renewed weakness in the market. The report may have been due in part to the pronounced slump in Canadian Pacific, one of the issues which featured the selling for German account prior to the beginning of the war. Canadian Pacific closed yesterday at 144, off 5¼ points. Delaware & Hudson lost 2 points, Pullman Palace Car 3 1-3, Texas Company 2⅝, St. Paul 1⅝, and International Harvester 3. New Haven responded to the vote of the stockholders to place $45,000,000 of new preferred stock ahead of the common by selling off 2¼.

The excellent prospect for a very large oversubscription to the Liberty Loan did not succeed in dispelling a fresh outbreak of pessimism over the future course of security prices in a market where more or less uncertain dividend yields must compete with the certain 4 per cent. paid by the new Government bonds. It will take some time yet for the market to readjust itself to the conditions under which business is now being conducted.

LONDON MARKET IS FIRM.

Irregularity in Foreign Issues is Notable Again.

LONDON, Oct. 25.—While the tone of the stock market was generally firm today there was some irregularity in foreign issues, which were affected by exchange fluctuations. The chief business was in speculative shares like Kaffirs, oils and rubbers at improving prices. There were also large investment purchases of war stocks. Argentine rails were weak on the passing of the Central Argentine interim dividend.

Money was in better demand for repayment to the Bank of England. Discount rates were quiet.

Trading Quiet on Paris Bourse.

PARIS, Oct. 25.—Trading was quiet on the Bourse today. Three per cent. rentes 62 francs for cash. Exchange on London 27 francs 18 centimes. Five per cent. loan 88 francs 65 centimes.

RATE HEARINGS ON NOV. 5.

Eastern Roads' Case to be Disposed Of Before Year Ends.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—Informal hearings upon the railroads' application to increase transcontinental rates and to adjust rates to intermediate points will be held by Attorney Examiner Thurtell of the Interstate Commerce Commission beginning Nov. 5, in New York. Other hearings announced today are Nov. 12 at Chicago and Nov. 21 at Portland, Ore.

The hearings will be held, the commission announced, "in order that the commission may determine whether or not the rates proposed are in compliance with the order of the commission dated June 30 last and to receive evidence upon the reasonableness and propriety of the increased rates proposed."

Numerous protests have been filed with the commission by Pacific Coast civic and commercial organizations and others, and the hearings will be held largely with a view to enabling the protestants to state their attitude in detail.

Application of the Eastern railroads to the Interstate Commerce Commission for financial relief, it was stated authoritatively today, will be disposed of before the first of the year. First hearings have been set by the commission for Nov. 5.

More Banks to Join Reserve System.

The German-American Bank voted yesterday to apply for admission to the Federal Reserve system, and the City Bank of Syracuse filed its application for membership in the system. The Metropolitan Trust Company has been admitted as a Federal Reserve member.

Interborough's Net Income Drops.

The monthly report of earnings of the Interborough Rapid Transit Company for September shows gross operating revenues of $3,073,471, an increase over the previous year of $66,363, of which upward of $36,000 represented increase in passenger revenue. Operating expenses, however, showed an increase of $244,175, so that the net monthly income of the company fell off by $164,374 to $455,207.

THE COTTON MARKET

General List Sells Off 27 to 45 Points on Government Ginning Report.

With October contracts off the books, and with a Government ginning report somewhat larger than had been expected, the local cotton market yesterday experienced a somewhat half-hearted reaction from the high prices of the earlier part of the week. Realizing prevailed on a rather feeble market. December contracts, now the future leader, sagged off to 27.60c, climbed back up to 28.12c, broke back to 27.50c, and closed at 27.63c, with the general list selling off from 27 to 45 points net.

The market opened at an advance of 4 points to a decline of 2 points, and sold about 25 to 32 points net lower, during the early trading. It seemed that a good many Southern selling orders had accumulated over the half-holiday, and recent local buyers appeared to be disappointed by the showing of the census report. But while the ginning of 5,571,624 bales to Oct. 15 may have been slightly larger than indicated by recent private returns, it caused no material change in crop estimates, and trade interests were good buyers on the early break. This steadied the market, and rallies followed on the continued bad weather. December was relatively firm, selling up to 28.12c, a new high record for the season, and 22 points net higher, while later months showed net advances of 3 to 8 points. Demand tapered off on this advance, which met increased offerings, with the late break extending to 26.79c for January, or about 40 to 50 points net lower on active months. Closing prices showed moderate rallies on covering.

It was pointed out around the ring that ginning to Oct. 18 for the last ten or twelve years had averaged about 50 per cent. of the crop, on which basis the figures published this morning would seem about in line with crop estimates of 11,000,000 bales, excluding linters. During a number of seasons the ginning to Oct. 18 has fallen short of 50 per cent., and the present crop is a late one, but the bullish view is that development has been cut short by the cold weather of the last two or three weeks. Southern spot markets, as officially reported, were 35 points lower, to 25 points higher. Exports for the day were 15,994 bales.

Central Leather Earnings Decline.

The Central Leather Company reported yesterday total earnings of $3,462,105 in the quarter ended Sept. 30, a decline of $1,196,285 from the amount for the same period last year. The report covered earnings left after excess profits and other taxes had been deducted. Excess profits taxes did not figure in 1916. The net income of $1,913,984 was $1,233,651 below the record a year before. In the nine months ended Sept. 30 gross earnings were $17,504,350, against $13,221,222, and the net of $12,766,372 was about $3,900,000 greater than in the corresponding period of 1916.

COMMODITIES MARKETS

WHEAT.

Mills are apparently getting more wheat to grind and are consequently in a better position to offer flour. The importations of Canadian wheat are expected to be quite liberal, and, as the movement at Western points is increasing somewhat, the situation at large in regard to the distribution of wheat is more favorable. Advices from the Winter wheat belt continue to show a very favorable outlook, with only a few exceptions, and the wheat will go into the Winter under unusually promising conditions.

RYE.—Market easy; No. 2 Western, $1.88, cost, insurance, and freight New York.

CORN.

The corn trade as a whole believes that the recent action on the part of the Chicago Board of Trade, placing further restrictions on operations in November and December contracts, was in a way an admission of a very strong technical position and also pretty strong evidence that leading authorities are not inclined to anticipate any great accumulation of corn during the present calender year. At any rate, there was a sharp covering movement in yesterday's market and prices advanced sharply, closing with net gains of 2¼@3¼c. The December position in Chicago sold at $1.20, touching this level for the first time since Oct. 8. In the local cash market old No. 2 yellow corn was quoted at $2.11 and No. 2 mixed at $2.09, cost, insurance, and freight New York.

OATS.

The oats market was only moderately active, but prices were steadier in sympathy with corn, closing ¾c to ⅞c net higher. Country offers were said to be moderate, and the cash demand was fair, with recent sales of about a million bushels to the Government. Exporters were fair buyers, and sales were estimated at 400,000 bushels. The local cash market was firmer; standard quoted at 67@67¼c; No. 2 white, 67¼c; No. 3 white, 66¼@66¾c; No. 4 white, 66@66¼c; fancy clipped white, 68@68c; ordinary clipped white, 67@68c, all elevator.

PROVISIONS.

The provision market was firmer, with less disposition to sell and a fair outside demand. The buying was stimulated by the firmer tone to the hog market, and also by the sharp upturn in corn. Receipts of hogs at Chicago were 15,000; estimated for Friday, 13,000; Kansas City received 9,000 and Omaha 3,200 hogs.

COTTONSEED OIL.

Traders in the cottonseed oil market were more disposed to even-up contracts and consequently the volume of business was somewhat larger than of late, total sales aggregating 16,400 barrels. Price changes were somewhat feverish early, but on the whole the undertone was firmer owing to the advance in lard and in corn and final quotations were 5 points net lower to 25 points higher. COFFEE.

Early advances in the coffee market were attributed to reports of a firmer ocean freight situation and scarcity of tonnage. Later the market turned easier under a renewal of scattering liquidation or a little trade selling in the late months, with the close 2 points lower to 1 point higher. September eased off from 7.85c to 7.90c and closed at 7.85c bid. The local spot market was quiet at 8c for Rio 7s and 9½c for Santos 4s. Range of prices:

SUGAR.

Sales have been concluded recently of Philippine sugar, afloat by steamer and in transit from San Francisco by rail, aggregating about 10,000 tons, due to arrive the first week in November, at 6.90c, basis 96 degree and 5.75c basis 88 degree, delivered at the refinery. Holders of Cuban sugars were not disposed to meet the refiners' maximum price of 5½c cost and freight basis, consequently no fresh business was done. It was reported that Louisiana planters had agreed to supply the Food Administration with about 100,000 tons of raw sugar. A heavy demand continues for refined sugar, but practically no orders are being accepted by local refiners. Spot raw sugars were quoted as follows: Centrifugal, 6.90c; molasses, 6.02c; cost and freight, 5½c.

BUTTER AND EGG MARKET.

BUTTER.—Receipts yesterday, 7,197 packages. There is a shortage of high grades of fresh creamery and prices were further advanced, with a firm feeling at the close. Medium qualities, however, are in ample supply and do not show much improvement. A little more doing in held creamery and feeling firm. Renovated quiet. Ladles selling very slowly and prices weaker. Packing stock also easier. EGGS.—Receipts, 9,676 cases. The scarcity of new laid qualities is increasing and the market for fairly fresh gathered, showing a good to large proportion of whites, is tending slightly in sellers' favor. Medium and lower grades still quiet and freely offered at irregular prices and there have been some clearing sales of undergrade accumulation at very low figures. Storage eggs have had rather a better demand and the tone of the market is steadier. Nearby white eggs continue in light supply and fancy new laid qualities are so scarce that receivers can obtain extreme prices for them. Mixed and lower qualities still very irregular. Fresh gathered, extras, per dozen, 45@46c; extra firsts, 43@44½c; firsts, 39@42c; seconds, 37@38½c; thirds and poorer, 30@36c; fresh gathered, dirties, No. 1, 34@34½c; No. 2 and poorer, 30@33½c; fresh gathered, checks, good to choice, dry, 32@33c; undergrades, 30@31c; refrigerator, special marks, fancy, storage and insurance paid, 35½@36c; firsts, storage and insurance paid, 34½c; seconds, storage and insurance paid, 33@34c; lower grades, storage and insurance paid, 30@32½c; refrigerator nearby whites, 41@45c; State, Pennsylvania, and nearby Western, hennery whites, fine to fancy, 68@72c; ordinary to good, 50@65c; gathered whites, ordinary to fine, 48@68c; State, Pennsylvania, and nearby whites, pullets, 42@50c; Western and Southern, gathered whites, 42@52c; State, Pennsylvania, and nearby, henmery browns, 39@57c; gathered brown and mixed colors, 42@46c.

URGES PUBLIC TO AID ROADS IN RATE FIGHT

$2,500,000,000 INVESTED

Capital Behind Railroads Represents the Savings of About 40,000,000 Persons.

Describing the railroads as the basic line of communication of this country with its battlefront and as the security behind nearly $2,500,000,000 of the savings of about 40,000,000 persons in this country, President William A. Day of the Equitable Life Assurance Society, in a statement yesterday, urged all Americans to take an interest in the application of the railroads for a 15 per cent. increase in freight rates.

Mr. Day says that no panicky action by security holders is called for, but that it would be folly to speak softly of the danger to the railroads or to minimize it for any reason. Describing the gigantic task of the railroads in the last three years, in the face of soaring costs of labor and materials, Mr. Day points out that, while the railroads have failed to secure an advance in rates to meet the situation, the shipper get war prices. While the carrier gets peace prices and in many cases a reduction in peace profits, he says, the following commodities have since 1914 increased in the following percentages, according to the present Government-fixed prices: Pig iron, 143; wheat, 175 cotton, 108, and copper, 77. Mr. Day continues:

"The published reports show that for the first six months of this year the net earnings of all railroads were 19 million dollars less than for the same period last year. The net income of the Eastern roads, (which have the greatest traffic burdens,) for the same period has declined 40 million dollars. Two of the largest Eastern systems—the Pennsylvania and the New York Central —show a decline in the net earnings for the first eight months of this year of nearly 35 million dollars.

"The market value of the stock of nineteen of the largest roads of the country has depreciated nearly one billion dollars since 1916. The market value of even our high grade railroad bonds has also very greatly declined as a result of the conditions described and owing to the fact that Government war bonds—foreign and domestic—have now blanketed the railroad bond market.

"If it is a wise policy as a war measure for our Government to set advanced prices of 100 per cent. for staple commodities and to give financial aid to contractors whose services aid in prosecuting the war; if it is right for the Government to loan money to Russia, Belgium, Serbia, and other unfortunate nations to bring early victory in the war, surely it cannot be wrong for the Government to give prompt and effective relief in the form of rate advances to the organizations which are operating its own basic line of communication to the battlefront. Without such support the physical and financial situation of our railroads must inevitably grow worse.

"Every citizen who is anxious for early victory in the war, and especially every savings bank depositor, and life insurance policyholder and others whose savings are directly or indirectly invested in railroad securities, should take an active and intelligent part in solving this problem. The welfare of the nation and justice to the vast number of owners and creditors of the roads demand that there shall be no further temporizing with this question."

WELLS FARGO HAS BIG YEAR.

Gross Earnings Reach $50,387,016, a Gain of $8,553,099.

Wells Fargo & Co. report gross earnings from the express business amounting to $50,387,016 in the year ended Dec. 30, a gain of $8,553,099 over the preceding fiscal period. The net operating revenue was $3,122,967, a gain of $702,395, and income from investments totaled $1,166,772, an increase of $133,542. Both sources of revenue taken together made a return equal to $17.89 a share of stock, compared with $14.40 the year before.

The annual statement issued yesterday said that as the fiscal year had been changed to end with the calendar year instead of June 30, the first six months of 1917 would be reported upon and the figures showed operating revenue amounting to $13,312,418 after the railroads had been paid for transportation charges. This was $2,383,023 more than in the same period of 1916. A heavy increase in operating expenses caused a decline of $706,659 in net income from express operations, with a total of $496,441. The profit from all sources amounted to $924,406, less than half as much as in the half year in 1916.

MANY NEW RULINGS ON WAR TAX LAW

All Liquors Not Withdrawn from Bond Prior to Oct. 4 Must Pay the Full Tax.

FLOOR IMPOSTS DEFINED

Race Track Subscriptions Taxable Regardless of Attendance at Meet—Exemptions of Minors.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—Important rulings on the application of the new war tax law were announced today by the Commissioner General of Internal Revenue.

The most important, possibly, is that which rules that the date of withdrawal of spirits from bond controls as to tax liability, and that all stocks not withdrawn prior to Oct. 4 must pay the full tax. Several decisions are made construing floor taxes, about which great confusion exists. It is held that where manufacturers shipped goods to wholesalers or retailers retaining any form of title, such goods are subject to the manufacturer's tax and not to floor tax.

Returns of sales must be made regularly in such cases. All goods sold and shipped prior to Oct. 4 are the property of the consignee and liable to the tax. Alcohol, used as an ingredient in proprietary medicines, is subject to the floor tax unless it was in process of manufacture and had been made unfit for beverage purposes on or before the passage of the act.

It is held that the exemption from income tax on account if minor children holds good in both taxes, that of the act of Sept. 8, 1916, and that of Oct. 3, 1917.

Racetrack association taxes apply whether the subscriber attends a meet or not. Excise taxes apply to goods sold for export notwithstanding the constitutional prohibition of export taxes. Discounts on goods are allowed on computing returns for taxation purposes. Goods sold subject to approval are withheld from returns until the completion of the sale.

The texts of the decisions follow:

Admissions and Dues.

"The tax imposed by Section 700 attached upon subscriptions to racing associations regardless of whether or not the subscriber attends any of the meets.

"The association itself may pay the tax due for persons admitted free. The provision of the section which allows 'a bona fide employes' to be admitted tax free applies only to actual employes of the association and not to employes of the owners of racing horses, &c.

"2. The word 'proceeds' as used in Section 700 means 'gross' receipts, less payments of proper expenses, or, in other words, 'net proceeds.' If the net proceeds 'inure exclusively to the benefit of religious, educational ,or charitable institutions, societies, or organizations,' no tax is collectible on the admissions.

Distilled Spirits Tax.

"The date of withdrawal by distillers controls and since the spirits were not withdrawn prior to the inception of the new legislation they can not now lawfully be withdrawn until the full tax under the law is paid.

Exemptions for Children.

"An additional exemption of $200 provided for by the act for each child applies to the normal tax of 2 per cent. imposed by the act of Sept. 8, 1916, and to the additional normal tax of 2 per cent. imposed by the act of Oct. 3, 1917.

Floor Tax.

"1. Alcohol held on Oct. 3, 1917, by manufacturers of proprietary medicines for use in manufacture as an ingredient in the manufacture of medicines is subject to the floor tax, unless on the day the act took effect it was in process of manufacture and had been rendered unfit for beverage purposes.

"2. Where a corporation operates one or more retail stores and under the same name, but separately as far as bookkeeping and stock taking are concerned, the corporation's inventory return of stock on hand should include only that in the wholesale department. Where the bookkeeping and stock keeping of the wholesale and retail departments of establishments are kept separate, they will be regarded as if they were separate and distinct departments, and the retail stock will not be subject to the floor tax.

"3. Goods shipped and invoiced prior to Oct. 4 are the property of the consignee, and if shipped to a wholesaler are subject to the floor tax. If, however, title is reserved in the manufacturer he is subject to the manufacturer's tax, and the wholesaler is relieved from the floor tax. The time when title passes depends upon the intention of the parties. In the absence of an intention to the contrary, title is assumed to pass from the seller to the buyer upon the delivery of the goods to the carrier.

"4. Where a manufacturer consigns his entire product to a retailer, retaining ownership in the same until disposed of by the retailer, the manufacturer is required to make return, under oath, of all goods sold to the retailer from and after Oct. 4, and to enable him to do so he must secure monthly returns from the retailer of the goods sold.

"The war revenue taxes on distilled spirits, fermented liquors and wines, removed from the place of production or storage in bond take effect 'on and after the passage of this act.' This means on and after the morning of Oct. 4, 1917.

"1. Are goods manufactured in the United States and sold to persons in foreign countries subject to the tax?

"There is no exemption in favor of goods which are to be exported. The United States Supreme Court in numerous cases has held that such a tax does not constitute a tax on exports, or on articles exported, within the meaning of the Constitution. 'A general tax, laid on all property alike and not levied on goods in course of exportation, nor because of their intended exportation is not within the constitutional prohibition.'

"2. In computing the price at which goods are sold may the usual trade discounts be deducted from the price thereof for the purpose of ascertaining the tax?

"The amount of tax is determined by the price at which the goods are actually sold by the manufacturer, producer, or importer. Hence discounts would be deducted from the list price.

"3. Are net or gross sales to be reported? That is, may there be deducted from the sales of each month merchandise which has been sold in a previous month and which is returned during the month in which the report is made?

"The merchandise becomes taxable when the manufacturer parts with his title in it, and all taxable goods actually sold should be reported. However, goods which are delivered to the buyer subject to his approval or to other conditions, and the property right to them is reserved to the seller, are not to be reported until the completion of the sale.

"4. In the case of parts of golf clubs sold to golf professionals in the rough, that is, iron heads, wooden heads, leather straps for handles and shafts, and these separate parts are assembled by the professional and the completed club sold by him, who is the manufacturer of the golf club and what is this tax payable?

"'Iron heads, wooden heads,' &c., are not golf clubs, neither are they parts of games within the meaning of the statute. The one who produces the finished product is the manufacturer and is charged with the tax.

"5. A manufacturing company disposes of a portion of its output through a selling corporation of which it owns all the capital stock. Is the transfer by the parent company to the subsidiary a sale within the meaning of the act subjecting the parent company to the tax?

"The transfer from the manufacturing corporation to the selling corporation is a sale provided the price at which the article is sold or charged to the distributing corporation is no less than is charged to the independent outside distributors under similar conditions. The selling corporation is liable to the floor tax on all articles subject to such tax which have been charged or delivered to it prior to Oct. 4, 1917, and thereafter the manufacturing company should pay tax upon delivery of all articles to the selling corporation as upon sales, the price fixed in no case to be less than the price at which the taxable article is sold to independent distributors under similar conditions.

"Sections 400, 401, and 404 take effect on the thirtieth day after Oct. 3, viz: Nov. 2, 1917.

Foreign Corporation Tax.

"Paying agents of interest on bonds of domestic corporations owned by foreign corporations not engaged in business in the United States, and having no office or place of business therein, are required to deduct and withhold the tax of 6 per cent. on and after Oct. 4, 1917."

UNITED STATES GOVT. BONDS

Inasmuch as the bulk of the business in United States Government bonds is done over the counter, and not on the Stock Exchange, THE TIMES gives the following quotations, obtained from bond dealers:

CONSOLIDATED EXCHANGE

After an irregular movement Consolidated Stock Exchange issues closed heavy and generally at net losses. The first part of the session was at moderately higher levels than the preceding finals, the leaders being the steels and the marines. The railroads showed some strength at the beginning, but were the first to soften. The weakness in the market appeared around midday. Union Pacific led the declines in the rails with a 2 point drop to 116⅞. The Atchison report for September, and the quarterly statement of the Central Leather Company were regarded adversely.

REAL ESTATE FIELD

An important west side residence deal near Riverside Drive was closed yesterday in the purchase by a client of Pease & Elliman for occupancy of the four-story dwelling at 334 West Seventy-second Street, between Riverside Drive and West End Avenue. The house covers a plot 20 by 100. It was sold for Lillie V. Kohn, who has occupied the residence since its erection in 1890 by C. W. Luyster, one of the largest private house builders in that period. It is near the Chatsworth apartment house.

District Attorney Swann's New Home

Horace S. Ely & Co. were the brokers in the recent purchase by District Attorney Swann of the three-story dwelling at 22 East Eleventh Street, 25 by 94.9, between Fifth Avenue and University Place. It was purchased from the Norlin Realty Company. District Attorney Swann recently sold his former residence at 39 West Eleventh Street.

Private Dwelling Sales.

Cammann, Voorhees & Floyd have sold for the Lawyers Mortgage Company 238 East Thirty-fourth Street, a four-story house on lot 18.3 by 98.9, between Second and Third Avenues.

Caroline Baumert sold the dwelling, 17 by 99.11, at 249 West 136th Street, between Seventh and Eighth Avenues, to a Mr. Donaldson.

Herbert A. Sherman has sold for the New York House and School of Industry the house at 352 East 124th Street, between First and Second Avenues.

University Club Gets One-Inch Sliver

The University Club has taken title from William M. Allen Starr of a sliver of land 1 inch wide by 100.5, on the north side of Fifty-fourth Street, 174.11 feet west of Fifth Avenue. The small slip adjoins the lot at 3 West Fifty-fourth Street purchased a short time ago to enlarge the clubhouse on the northwest corner of that street and Fifth Avenue, and it has been acquired to round out the legal ownership of what was a twenty-five-foot lot.

Tenement Sales.

Margaret Hellmana sold to Lena Vogeler 530 East Eighteenth Street, a six-story tenement on a plot 43.9 by 92.

Lawrence Cioffi purchased for a client the frame building, 30.6 by 94, at 329 Pleasant Avenue, near 118th Street, together with an interior parcel. Title to the property is in the name of Mary C. Wood.

Bronx Sales.

Julius Muller sold to the Stanza Realty Company 573 Union Avenue, a four-story tenement on a lot 21 by 80.

The Frisby Realty Company sold the two houses on the west side of Washington Avenue, 673.4 feet north of Frisby Avenue, 51.8 by 97.6 by irregular, to Adolph S. Hummel and John R. Egner, respectively.

The A. Kane Company resold to M. McCoy 1,034 and 1,036 Summit Avenue, a three-story dwelling on a plot 50 by 100 located near 153th Street. The sellers acquired the property last week in a trade.

The Church of St. Anthony of Padua, at the southwest corner of Prospect Avenue and 160th Street, has purchased an interior lot at the rear of property from the Anthenian Realty Company, and leased from the same company a strip measuring five by six feet for ten years, to preserve the light of the church.

Brooklyn.

The Alco Building Company, associated with the Realty Trust, sold the one-family semi-detached brick houses at 2,064 Sixty-fifth Street to Dr. Alexander Stein, and 2,066 Sixty-fifth Street to Dr. B. Stattman, in the Mapleton Park district.

Queens Borough Sales.

J. McMahon purchased from the Kew Gardens Corporation the dwelling and plot, 100 by 100 feet, on the southwest corner of Queens Boulevard and Agate Street, Kew Gardens.

W. H. Hitchcock sold to M. Neusch the dwelling and plot, 40 by 100 feet, on the northeast corner of Pitkin Place and Grant Avenue, Richmond Hill.

Minor L. Pratt sold for Wemyss G. Mowat, in an out of town client, the four-story brick apartment dwelling 146 First Avenue, Long Island City, for investment.

Long Island Sale.

Daniel M. Gerard has sold the property of H. J. Waters, consisting of sixteen acres, with buildings, on the Mahpage Road, leading to Lake Ronkonkonna, to George Clark of New York City.

$20,000 Sale at Mountain Lakes, N. J.

William Berliner of Manhattan has purchased, for $20,000, a residence at Mountain Lakes, N. J. The property is located on Town Hill Road, overlooking the lakes.

New Jersey.

The Ideal Studios on Hudson Heights, N. J., have been sold by William Bumsted to Herbert Breum for a price reported at $250,000. The property includes studio buildings and two and one half acres of land.

Westchester County.

Kenneth Ives & Co. sold for John L. Thurston of the Hildreth Varnish Company his country place at Tarrytown-on-Hudson to Paul C. Debry. The property contains about eight acres, residence and outbuildings, situated on White Plains Road near Broadway, and was held at $50,000.

The Scarsdale Estates, Robert E. Farley, President, sold a plot of two acres on Palmer Road, in the Murray Hill section of Scarsdale, to J. Alexander Dingwall, Jr. of New York City. The purchaser will erect a residence for his own occupancy.

Banking Lease on Madison Avenue.

It was reported that a large Madison Avenue lease has been practically closed by a banking firm, which has taken on a long term the store floor, basement, and first loft in the new sixteen-story office building recently completed by August Heckscher on the southwest corner of Madison Avenue and Thirty-eighth Street, formerly the site of the Theodore Havemeyer home. It is said that the aggregate lease will represent about $500,000.

Commercial Leases.

Hell & Stern leased for Voss & Stern in the building 71 Fifth Avenue, southeast corner of Fifteenth Street, the eighth and ninth floors, comprising 25,000 feet of space, to S. Golde & Sons, clothing manufacturers. The lease is for a long term of years at a total rental of $75,000.

McDowell & McMahon leased to Lucy Mendelsohn for a term of years the corner store in the southwest corner of 174th Street and St. Nicholas Avenue.

James A. Dowd leased for George E. Coleman the building 102 West Fifty-second Street to the Elite Headwaiters' Association of America, Inc.

Garage Property in Demand.

A. A. Hageman leased the building 156-158 East 105th Street for a term of twenty-one years at an aggregate rental of $75,000 to Max Waldman, who will alter the premises into a garage at a cost of $25,000.

Samuel H. Martin sublet for Frank E. Campbell the entire three-story and basement garage at 213 West Sixty-ninth Street to H. F. Farrell.

BROADWAY SUBWAY MAY BE DELAYED

WHITNEY IS MORE HOPEFUL

Bases Optimism on Possible Speeding Up of Equipment—Opposes Change in Time Square Plans.

There is no possibility that the traffic congestion in the subways during the coming holiday shopping season will be relieved by the operation of the new Broadway subway, according to Colonel Timothy S. Williams, President of the Brooklyn Rapid Transit Company, which will operate the line.

Colonel Williams said yesterday that the earliest day on which the subway could be in operation was, in his opinion, Jan. 15, and that conditions existed which might delay operation until considerably later. Public Service Commissioner Travis H. Whitney said yesterday that there was still hope that this important line of the new subways would be running in time to help carry passenger traffic when it is at its maximum, just before Christmas. In discussing the situation Colonel Williams said:

"We will be ready to run the new Broadway subway by Jan. 15, provided that no delay is occasioned by two contingencies which are outside of our control. In the first place, we will require between two and three months to equip the subways, after the contractors have completed their construction. That means that the subways would be turned over to us about Nov. 1, if we are to have them ready for operation by Jan. 15. If the contractors are not through until later, so much time will be lost in operating the subways.

"The other possible source of delay is in connection with the supply of power. At the request of the Public Service Commission, we are to operate on power supplied by the new power house of the Interborough, which is being constructed in Nineteenth Street. This is not completed yet, and I have not been informed how soon it will be ready."

Commissioner Whitney said yesterday that there were possibilities of further delay, but also strong reason to hope that shoppers could use the new Broadway subways by Christmas.

"It is possible that the Interborough will not have its power house ready by Jan. 15," he said, "but I do not think there is much reason to anticipate delay on this account. I believe that it will take less than two or three months to make the subways ready for operation, if the equipment is speeded up."

Commissioner Whitney asserted that the new Forty-second Street station of the Broadway subway would have sufficient facilities to take care of the crowd when completed, and charged that civic organizations were being used by contractors in the effort to have changes in construction made which would benefit the contractor more than any one else.

RED CROSS TO GET SUNDAY SCHOOL AID

Co-operation with American Society Will Be Like That of Public School Children.

At the second day's session of the American Executive Committee of the World Sunday School Association, held yesterday at the offices of the association in the Metropolitan Tower, it was decided that Sunday schools henceforth will give the American Red Cross Society the same co-operation which the public schools are now giving. It is hoped by the association that a fund of $1,000,000 will be raised before Christmas in the Sunday schools of America to help the suffering children of Armenia and Syria.

H. J. Heinz of Pittsburgh, who presided at the meeting, announced that the American Red Cross in Washington would in a few weeks establish a special Sunday school department, and that this department would reach many millions of Sunday school children through the following religious bodies: The Sunday School Council of the Evangelical Church of North America in Philadelphia, the International Sunday School Association of Chicago and the World's Sunday School Association. Sunday school pupils thus reached, he said, would collect money to relieve war suffering and assist the Red Cross in other ways as the public school children now do.

"The Sunday school is the greatest living force for righteousness in the world today," said H. J. Heinz. "Our organization represents 35,000,000 Sunday school children. The Sunday school is the greatest single factor in the world in the building of character; and character will be the greatest need at the close of the present war."

The association's committee on Moslem work decided to invest $5,000 of its $12,000 fund in Liberty Loan bonds. It was also decided to appoint a special World's Sunday School Commission composed of twenty-five American leaders, to consider how the Sunday schools of America can best serve the world in the present war crisis.

The Sunday school work which the British Sunday School Association has had to give up in China will be taken up and developed by the American branch at a cost of $15,000 a year.

The association has already sent 1,300,000 New Testaments to soldiers on the fighting line, it was announced. One of these Testaments, it was said, recently saved a French soldier's life when the Testament, which was in his breast pocket, stopped a bullet.

The meeting was attended by Sunday school leaders from all part of the United States, representing 350,000 schools. Telegrams of greeting were sent by John Wanamaker of Philadelphia, E. K. Warren of Three Oaks, Mich., and W. N. Hartshorn of Boston.

'Spy' Scare at Fusion Headquarters.

The Mitchel-Fusion campaign headquarters in the Manhattan Hotel had a "spy" scare yesterday. For some time papers and documents have been missing from the desks of the managers, and detectives were hired to investigate. Yesterday a man was wandering about the rooms, and when questioned said he was employed there. When arrested he had a package under his arm which the detectives opened and found to contain a brick. The prisoner, who gave his name as Peter D. Lyons of 162 West 116th Street, said he found the brick on the street and intended taking it to his home to sharpen knives. When arraigned before Magistrate Marsh in the Yorkville Court he was held in $1,000 bail for examination today.

Queens to Buy Coal in a Pool.

Borough President Connolly has organized a coal committee, through which he plans to obtain 100,000 tons of coal for sale to the people of Queens at cost price. The Long Island Railroad has offered to haul this shipment, and several prominent business men have volunteered to underwrite the transaction just as soon as the coal is available. At the present time not a ton of coal is for sale in the entire borough. This committee will work in conjunction with George J. Ryan, Coal Administrator of Queens, who will open his office in the Plaza Court Building, at Long Island City, today.

Hope to Avert Bakers' Strike.

Henry Moskowitz, Commissioner of Public Markets, has written a letter, at the request of Mayor Mitchel, to the Secretaries of the Master Bakers' Association and the Bakers' Union of Brooklyn, where there is a threatened strike of the bakers, inviting the heads of the organizations to meet the Mayor at the City Hall today to consider the situation, in the hope of adjusting the difficulties. "Even a temporary paralysis in the baking of bread, which may deprive consumers of so essential a commodity, is a matter of grave public concern," says the letter.

SWIFT PUNISHMENT ENDS SCHOOL STRIKE

POLICE STOP DISTURBERS

Pupils' "Disciplinary Squad," Composed of Athletes, Rout Rioters.

Several hours after an official investigation into the causes that led to the strike of boys in the De Witt Clinton High School, Tenth Avenue and Fifty-ninth Street, was inaugurated yesterday by Acting City Superintendent of Schools Gustave Straubenmuller, seven students were suspended for indefinite periods. The suspension of the students reached the ears of their comrades who had gone out on strike, and quite a number of the boys later signified their intention of returning quietly to school this morning. The swift punishment of the students found guilty of leaving school without reason followed the passage of a resolution by the Board of Education authorizing the Superintendent of Schools to suspend or dismiss from school those students over 16 years old found to be guilty of causing disturbances. The guilty ones under 18 will be dealth with by the truant officers.

Dr. Straubenmuller visited the De Witt Clinton School yesterday, and in the office of the Principal, Dr. Francis J. Paul, questioned fourteen students of those who went on strike. Half of them were promptly suspended, and Dr. Straubenmuller was unable to say last night how long the suspensions would last.

Dr. John L. Tildsley, Associate Superintendent in Charge of High Schools, formerly Principal of De Witt Clinton, who is thoroughly familiar with conditions in the school, will examine students tomorrow in an endeavor to place the responsibility for the recent disturbances when several hundred boys went on strike in protest against the lengthened school day in spite of the fact that their leaders promised the Board of Education last Monday that they would take no action until some arrangement was made by the Committee on High Schools.

A disturbance in which 500 De Witt Clinton boys engaged occurred in the vicinity of the school yesterday. Fifty patrolmen under Captain Kelly of the West Sixty-eighth Street Station and a large force of truant officers were at the school building when several hundred strikers approached, yelling and hooting in an attempt to urge their comrades to leave. The policemen and truant officers dispersed the mob, but the students ran down to Columbus Circle and, exhorted by their leaders, began the march back to the school. This time a small group of husky athletes from the school, known as "The Botany Disciplinary Squad," taking their name from Dr. Aaron Dotey, a teacher in the school, sailed into the larger crowd and by the latest "flying wedge tactics," separated the mob into smaller units which were easily dispersed.

Magistrate Esterbrook, in the Domestic Relations Court, Brooklyn, yesterday fined two parents of strikers against the Gary system in the elementary schools $5 each. They were Abraham Goldstein, 944 Christopher Avenue, and Abraham Deinstein, 425 New Jersey Avenue. He warned youthful strikers that a repetition of the disturbances would land them in the Truant School.

John Spargo, a leading Socialist who left the party because of its attitude on the war, made a statement yesterday through the Committee on Public Education in favor of the Gary system. He said it was the most notable advance that public education has made in the last generation.

Boat Owners Give Flag for Battery.

The New York Boatowners' Association, which gave to the city a topmast for the flagpole on the Battery near the sea wall two months ago, gave the city a flag yesterday to fly from it. Mayor Mitchel received the flag and made a brief speech of thanks.

France Gets Another $20,000,000.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—Another loan of $20,000,000 was made to France today, bringing the total credits extended by the United States to allied nations to $2,828,400,000.

PRESIDENT PUTS SUFFRAGE TO FORE

"I feel, therefore, that I am standing upon the firmest foundations of the age in bidding godspeed to the cause which you represent and in expressing the ardent hope that the people of New York may realize the great occasion which faces them on Election Day and may respond to it in noble fashion."

Mrs. Whitehouse in her address to the President said in part:

"May we not take this occasion to tell you that our organization has pledged its support to you in this war against Germany, and that all its resources are at the disposal of our country whatever way they may be of use. And, furthermore, may we not express to you our personal appreciation of all you are doing for the cause of world democracy, which is being fought out on the European battlefields.

"We realize the enormous responsibilities which rest upon you at the present time, and we are certain that you would not allow yourself to be distracted from the consideration of our grave national and international war problems, except for a measure which you recognize as of pressing importance—such as the question of woman suffrage.

"While the war has brought suffrage to the women of Canada and Russia, the assurance of it to the women of Great Britain, and the promise of it to the women of France, here in America it is used by our opponents as a reason for still longer withholding suffrage from us. While the change of sentiment in favor of woman suffrage in our State is very marked, the issue even now, less than two weeks before election, is overshadowed by the public interest in the multitudinous details of our entering the war. In consequence many men who are heartily in favor of woman suffrage do not yet realize that they are to have an opportunity to vote upon it on Election Day.

"Mr. President, we have come to you as the leader of our country's struggle for democracy, as the leader of this Government founded on the principles of democracy, on principles which do not fulfill their meaning so long as women are excluded from the franchise. We have come to you to ask you to send to the voters of New York State a message so urgent and so clear that they, on Election Day, cannot fail as patriotic men to place the women of their State on an equal footing with the women of the allied countries, and thus to advance the cause of democracy at home, as they are ready to fight for it abroad."

Mrs. Dexter P. Rimsey, Buffalo; Mrs. F. H. Bethel, Scarsdale; Mrs. William Belknap, Oscawana; Mrs. Frederick Edey, Bellport; Mrs. E. J. Tone, Buffalo; Miss Lillian Huffcut, Binghamton; Mrs. William Pitkin, Rochester; Miss Leila Stott, Albany; Mrs. Mary Hyde Andrews, Syracuse; Miss Lucy Watson, Utica; Mrs. George Bacon, St. James, and Mrs. Luther Mott, Oswego.

ONE FRENCH SHIP SUNK.

Last Week's Victim of U-Boats Was Under 1,600 Tons.

PARIS, Oct. 25.—Only one French vessel was sunk by a submarine or mine during the week ended Oct. 21. The vessel lost measured under 1,600 tons.

NATION TO BUY BIG SITE.

Newark Land Will Be Utilized for $7,500,000 Storage Buildings.

Expressing the belief that it would be unwise for the Government to erect buildings at a cost of $7,500,000 on leased land at Port Newark Terminal, Francis L. Stuart of the Council of National Defense and Major Evan Shelby, legal representative of the Quartermaster Corps, informed officials of Newark yesterday of a desire to purchase the land. When members of the Board of Street and Water Commission showed hesitancy about selling the property Major Shelby informed them it was a question of either selling or having condemnation proceedings instituted. The Commissioners then decided to accept the Government's offer, and a price will be fixed at a conference to be held Saturday. The buildings are to be used as storage houses for goods to be shipped abroad.

Walking in winter weather isn't half as pleasant as riding in this handsome Studebaker Tour-sedan! It is a closed car of genuine comfort, style and convenience—and at a price surprisingly low for a closed car.

This is the car for winter driving—a closed car that shuts the winter outside and keeps the comfort inside—a fine closed car for a woman's driving—stylish—light in weight—economical. And most convenient!

The plate glass panels can be easily removed when the mercury goes up, and the car can be converted into an open touring car.

The interior is handsomely trimmed in gray whipcord and buffed leather, with the refinement and comfort found only in closed cars

There is room—there is good looks—there is convenience—there is style—but most of all, there is comfort. Why not have the comforts of the closed car for winter driving—when you can get it at such a low price?

This Is Overcoat Time

Here, especially, it is Overcoat Time. Thousands of Overcoats have been brought together in a "Fine Overcoat" Exhibit—to make Overcoat Time the time for more men than ever to come to us for Overcoats—particularly YOU.

The best way to see the pains we've taken to have ready the Overcoat you want is to visit some one of our stores—preferably to-day.

Hart Schaffner & Marx Overcoats

The picture we'd like to paint of it is best shown in the rich original all-wool fabrics, tailored to fit. Here in infinite variety. We invite your early selection.

It's time. Cold weather isn't original to this mid-autumn. It's as usual as our Overcoat Values are Unusual now, when most things—from milk to motors—are going up.

Prices begin at $20. No end of Overcoats at $25, $28 and $30. From $35 to $85 for the world's finest products. $50 to $75 for fine fur-trimmed coats.
